Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. My brother, sister, and I each help pay for my mother's support. Can any or all of us claim her as a dependent?

A. If none of you contribute more than 50 percent of your mother's support, one of you who individually contributes more than ten percent may claim the exemption. Each of the others must file a written statement that he or she will not claim the exemption for that year and these statements must be filed with the income tax return of the person claiming the exemption. Form 2120 may be obtained for this purpose from your Internal Revenue office.

Of course, the person who claims your mother as a dependent must meet all the other dependency tests and, together, all of you must have contributed more than half of your mother's total support. For more details, see IRS Publication 501, "Your Exemption and Exemptions for Dependents." It's available free from your nearest IRS office.

Q. I'm going to school under the G.I. Bill to take some courses I need for my job. I know I can deduct my educational expenses, but do I have to reduce my deduction by the tax-free amounts the VA pays me for tuition and books?

A. No. You are not required to reduce your deductible education expenses by the amount of tax-exempt educational benefits received from the VA.

Q. I'm ready to settle on a new house, but I haven't been able to sell my old home. I'm thinking of taking out a loan to settle on the new home and pledging the proceeds of the sale of the old house as security for the loan. Would this arrangement have any effect on whether or not I can take advantage of the provisions of the tax law postponing tax on the profit from the sale of a residence?

A. No. This loan arrangement would have no effect on your ability to postpone tax on the gain from the sale of your old house, if within one year before or one year after the sale you buy and occupy another residence whose cost equals or exceeds the "adjusted sales price" of the old residence. (In general, the "adjusted sales price" is your actual selling price minus selling expenses and fixing up expenses.) For more information, see IRS Publication 523, "Tax Information on Selling Your Home." It's available free from your nearest Internal Revenue office.

Rx for your child's safety

Life preservers aren't always found aboard ships.

During this summer's swimming fun, a child's best life preserver can be his parents, said Dr. Albert H. Domm, child safety specialist and medical director of the Prudential Insurance Company.

Parents can safeguard their children against serious swimming accidents by teaching them water safety rules.

Dr. Albert H. Domm

To prevent summer fun from being cut short, Dr. Domm suggests parents check to see that they and their children remember these water safety rules:

1. Beginners should swim near the shallow end of the pool.
2. Swimmers should have adequate supervision in the water.
3. Children should be taught to respect water, not fear it; fear leads to panic, respect dictates caution.
4. Don't swim around or underneath the diving board.
5. Look before diving, be alert for shallow water and obstacles.

RIGSBEE TIRE SALES

We taught this tire everything we know!

HERCULES Ultrapreme "78"

Because this is one of our finest passenger tires, we've given it every feature to make it superior. Two Polyester plies, two Fiberglass belts, low-slung "78" construction to help it hug the road and ride better. Even a specially engineered shoulder and tread design to surpress noise and give a stable, easy ride. the belted construction adds an ease of steering you'll notice at once, and an increase in mileage which you'll notice thousands of miles after ordinary tires would have worn out. Can you afford this much tire? Come in and enjoy a pleasant surprise!

Something better in a tire . . . and a man who stands behind it!
