

Delegation of Black Publishers Visiting Soviet Union as Guests

A delegation of the Afro-American National Newspaper Publishers Association is currently in the Soviet Union at the invitation of the USSR Journalists' Union. Members of the delegation include Frances Murphy, P.L. Inman, Garth Reeves, John Sengstacke, Lenore Carter, Howard Woods, Robert Thomas and Carlton Goodlett.

Having visited Moscow and Leningrad the delegation left for Uzbekistan—one of the fifteen Soviet republics. Prior to the Great October Socialist Revolution children study in 9,000 secondary schools. (The republic has a population of 12.9 million).

After visiting a school in Tashkent, the capital of Uzbekistan, Carlton Goodlett, head of the delegation, said, "For the first time we have seen national education in action and we are delighted with it." He stressed that the Afro-American publishers had arrived in Uzbekistan specifically to view the Soviet successes scored by the people of the former colonial region of tsarist Russia. The delegation members, Goodlett said, were particularly impressed by the fact that children, receiving a well-rounded education, are brought up not only in the spirit of national pride, but also in the spirit of internationalism.

Having gone sightseeing in the city and having met the residents of Tashkent, the guests from the United States visited the Malek (star of the steppes) State Farm in the Hungry steppe.

The head of the delegation said that they were particularly interested in visiting the farm because they had long wanted to study the activities and the structure of a Soviet farm. The malek farm was set up a year after the end of the Second World War in the Hungry steppe, which was then an unirrigated, desert area. Over the decades the Soviet state has earmarked huge funds to develop the Hungry steppe; today it is a blossoming land. The farm is multibranch, but cotton is its main crop. The work is 82% mechanized; but almost 1,500 people of 34 different nationalities work there.

As part of their tour of the farm, the American guests visited a kindergarten, an elementary school, a music school, and a specialized secondary school, where skilled specialists in agriculture are trained.

Sharing his impressions of the visit to the farm, Garth Reeves stressed that the achievements of the Uzbek people were of special value for Afro-Americans. The managers of the Malek farm gave a dinner in honor of the guest during which Howard Woods stated that the delegation members—representing 26 million Afro-Americans strive, like the Soviet people, for the attainment of peace. The guests from the USA, Howard Woods, pointed out, were very pleased to see that Uzbek, Russian, Ukrainian and Azerbaijan children do not know the race hatred and animosity that poisons childhood for rising generations of Afro-Americans. announced plans to contribute an assortment of toys to Homer G. Phillips Hospital, St. Louis, and Martin Luther King Memorial Hospital, Los Angeles.

The toys being donated to the two predominately Black hospitals are produced and marketed by Shindana Toys of Los Angeles, a Black-owned and operated firm.

Homer G. Phillips Hospital's pediatrics ward has an average daily census of 45 youngsters in addition to an outpatient clinic where a significant number of young patients come for treatment daily.

Martin Luther King Memorial Hospital reports an average daily census in pediatrics of 25 to 35 young boys and girls. In addition, the hospital operates an indoor and outdoor child care center which has an average daily attendance of 50 youngsters.

The scheduled contribution is being made by the Dial soap group of Atlanta, Ga. This activity is the second program which Dial has initiated with Shindana Toys within recent months.

Currently, Dial soap is offering Shindana's "Flip Wilson/Geraldine" doll and "Baby Nancy" as self-liquidating premiums in several selected major markets. Shindana Toys are also sold in several Post House gift shops located in bus terminals operated by Greyhound Lines, Inc., also a wholly-owned subsidiary of The Greyhound Corporation.

The scheduled contribution to the two major hospitals and the tie-in promotion follow a highly successful Dial soap "Back-to-School Shopping Spree" conducted on a selected market basis during late July and early August.

These programs are consistent with the Greyhound commitment to corporate social responsibility, and are implemented by the corporate level Special Markets department.

ROSALIE SCOTT, STAFF ASSISTANT

Some recipes become almost a tradition. So it is with Five Minute Fudge. This ever popular recipe combines creamy velvety evaporated milk, miniature marshmallows and chocolate chips for a smooth candy that melts in your mouth. It's a super Christmas treat.

FIVE MINUTE FUDGE

(Makes about 2 pounds)

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup (small can) undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups (4 ounces) miniature marshmallows
- 1 1/2 cups (one and one-half 6-ounce packages) chocolate pieces
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Combine butter, evaporated milk, sugar and salt in saucepan over medium heat. Bring to boil. Cook 4 to 5 minutes, stirring constantly. (Start timing when mixture starts to "bubble" around edges of pan.) Remove from heat. Stir in marshmallows, chocolate, vanilla and nuts. Stir vigorously for 1 minute (until marshmallows melt and blend). Pour into 8 or 9-inch square buttered pan. Cool. Cut in squares.
