Chapel Hill-Carrboro Notes

By J. ROLAND

942-6184

Three local youths were first place winners in the Chapel-Carrboro Pacers' first competitive track and field meet held Saturday, April 21, at the Chapel Hill Senior High School.

Rosalind Pendergraft came in first in the 100 meter dash for her age group; Leslie Roland captured first place in the 440 meter sprint for 12-13 year olds, and Lisa Roland finished first in the 100 meter dash for nine and under girls.

The club travels to Raleigh this weekend (April 28) to compete in the Junior Striders Relay Carnival.

Basic activities continue at Hargraves Community Center. Activities coming up in May include a volleyball tournament and baton twirling classes for girls 6-12 years of age. This class begins on Saturday, May 12 at 2 p.m. New activities will be posted in this column in the weeks to come.

Black faculty, staff and students representing the Health Sciences Division at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill traveled to Atlanta on April 15 on a recruiting mission. Black students from all over the country were presenting scientific papers while attending the Seventh Annual Minority Biomedical Support Symposium sponsored by the National Institutes of Health. Many North Carolina institutions were represented, including North Carolina Central University, Winston-Salem State University, J.C. Smith University and others.

Those persons making the trip and the departments each represented were: School of Dentistry—Tony Morrison, Joe Gatewood and Suzette Stines-Powell; School of Nursing—Joyce Roland; School of Medicine—Marion Phillips, Curtis Harper and Otis Speight; School of Pharmacy—Moses Carey; School of Public Health—William Small, and Carol Williams representing the Vice Chancellor's office.

Lewis Roland of Overland Drive, served as speaker-participant at the Second Annual Conference of AEEE (Association for Equality and Excellence in Education) held in San Juan, Puerto Rico this past week. He spoke on "The Social Change Process." Roland is new to the community having recently been appointed Assistant to the Chairman, Department of Maternal-Child Health, School of Public Health, UNC-CH. He comes to this post after having served several years as educator and administrator in the public and private schools of New Jersey.

News items of community interest are greatly appreciated.

The origin of the word "salute" was the greeting of one friendly ship to another during the early days of fleet warfare when one ship would discharge all its guns to indicate it was disarmed—at least temporarily.
