CHURCH GIFTS DURING VOLUNTEER WEEK

Windfall gifts of $782 apiece during Volunteer Week gratified the five congregations in Walltown: Mount Olive AME Zion Church, North Side Baptist Church, St. James Baptist Church, St. John Baptist Church and Walltown Holiness Church.

The gifts represent the male and redistribution within the neighborhood of property derived from the neighborhood since the 1940s for service to local children by the Walltown Charitable Community Center, Incorporated. The legal Dissolution of the Corporation was read in each church, and the check presented, by Hendrick A. van Dijk, Sr., Vice President, was accompanied by Admire Jones, Secretary. The Rev. P. Henderson Amey, President, and William H. Roberts, longtime Trustee, were unable to attend.

Founder and moving spirit of the old Center, the late J. L. Alexander (1906-1972), is honored among the Duke University scholarships by the Jay Lynn Alexander Memorial Fund, for which contributions may still be addressed to the Office of Gift Records.

Rock Baptist Church on Redwood Road, Sunday, May 6 at 11 a.m. Mrs. Ludie B. Green, of Pine Grove Baptist Church in Creedmoor, will deliver the special message.
