

Essence FBI Story Awards Winner

NEW YORK, N.Y. — ESSENCE magazine was a recipient of the Lincoln University Awards in Media for an article entitled, "The FBI Plot Against Black Leaders," which appeared in the October 1978 issue. The award, which was entered in the investigative reporting division was presented to the writer, Ms. Iris L. Washington, at an Awards Banquet held in Jefferson City, Missouri recently.

Ms. Washington, who hails from Edison, New Jersey and is a journalism student at Columbia University in New York said, "It took nearly a year to piece together information the government wasn't willing to divulge, but I'm thrilled to know that the public responded to the message."

Winners were selected from print and electronic media, among them Time and Newsweek magazines, the Chicago Sun-Times, WNBC-TV's Carl Stokes and Melba Tolliver.

The Unity Awards in Media are given annually by Lincoln University to print and broadcast media that have demonstrated excellence in creating public understanding of the problems facing the nation's minorities and disadvantaged.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON PROPOSED DESIGN FOR I-40 FROM RESEARCH TRIANGLE TO I-85 NEAR HILLSBOROUGH AND THE PROPOSED ADDITION OF TWO LANES TO NC 54 FROM THE END OF THE PRESENT FOUR LANE SECTION (DURHAM — ORANGE COUNTY LINE) TO I-40

Project 8.1475201
1-9
F.A. Project 1-40-4(5)(268)
Durham — Orange Counties

The above public hearing will be held on June 5, 1979, at 7:30 p.m. in the Rogers-Herr Junior High School Auditorium, hearing is to allow citizen input into the design process of the North Carolina Department of Transportation.

The hearing will consist of an explanation of the proposed design, right-of-way requirements and procedures, relocation advisory assistance and State — Federal relationship. The hearing will be open to those present for statements, questions, comments and/or submission of material pertaining to the proposed design. Additional material may be submitted for a period of ten days from the date of the hearing to Mr. George E. Wells, P.E., Manager of Highway Design, N.C. Department of Transportation, Division of Highways, P.O. Box 25201, Raleigh, N.C. 27611.

The proposed design for I-40 consists of a four lane divided freeway. The right-of-way will be variable in width with full control of access. Egress and ingress will be by the following interchanges: I-85, SR 1009, SR 1723, NC 86, US 15-501, NC 54, NC 751, SR 1118, NC 55, North — South Freeway. Other major routes will be separated without contact or relocated to stay in service. The approved location is alternate 1B revised.

The NC 54 connector consists of adding two lanes to the existing two lanes with a 30 foot grassed median. The right-of-way will be that needed for this type section and will be open access. The connector will be approximately 1.3 miles in length.

for small business May 15 in Raleigh at the Jane S. McKimmon Center.

"At the conference, operators of small business can receive advice on management, financing, or selling to government and can talk with government buyers," said Al Calloway of the N.C. Department of Commerce.

Businessmen can attend workshops on Financing a Small Business; Set-Aside Program with the U.S. Government; Selling or Contracting to the Government; Construction and Bonding; Exporting; Managerial and/or Technical Services; and Franchising Opportunities.

The workshops will start at 9:30 a.m. and be repeated in the afternoon.

When the businessmen aren't attending workshops, they can meet with government agency buyers, who will set up booths at the conference. Almost all major military installations; the General Services Administration; and N.C. Division of Purchase and Contract will be among those with buyers at the conference.

Guest speakers at a luncheon will be Governor James B. Hunt and Senator Robert Morgan.

Registration is $8. For additional information contact Al Calloway or Jerry Dodson of the North Carolina Department of Commerce in Raleigh. The conference is co-sponsored by several state and federal agencies.

UTILITIES

crease, fuel adjustment costs will be going up this summer, and if all this weren't enough, the customers of Duke Power, VEPCO and CP&L will be directly paying for the cost of new generating plants through CWIP (Construction Works in Progress). This makes the ratepayers risk-takers without receiving the financial rewards. The closing of the plant up in Pennsylvania and the possibility of other shutdowns indicate that nuclear plants are less than a smart investment, one that a buyers of stocks would think twice about. Under CWIP, we ratepayers don't have the luxury of a choice and this is blatantly unfair."

League Director Joins In Youth Jobs Appeal

Alan Beale, executive director of the League of Cities and the U.S. Conference of Mayors, has joined the nationwide appeal to "Help Our Youth" launched by Rev. Leon Sullivan, founder-chairman of the OIC Self-Help Movement.

In a letter to the mayors of 200 cities, Beale urged them to support the effort to find one million jobs for unemployed youth and appeal to the President and Congress for more funds for summer youth employment, he said.

"I know that you are aware of the dangerously high rate of unemployment among our youth and especially minority youth, and you are as concerned as I about the serious nature of the crisis we face if we fail to solve this problem.

Our city governments are already strapped with a plethora of problems and cannot solve them alone. Cooperation with the private sector and community-based organizations is a sound approach, and the OIC, a national community-based organization, has recently launched a campaign under the leadership of Reverend Leon Sullivan to help solve the problem. I feel that cooperation with OIC when they call upon you would be of great benefit."

Rev. Sullivan, announcing that proclamations hailing the kick-off youth rally dates as OIC "Help

Our Youth" Week were issued by many of the mayors in 150 cities where OIC operates its job-training, job-creation programs, said:

"We are working towards a genuine partnership with our mayors. The National Employment and Training system can work effectively if the business and industry leaders and the grass-roots community-based organizations like OIC cooperate with the mayors and help them help the youth. Federal funds for the cities' summer youth programs are an important key to unlock the doors to permanent job opportunity. This support of the League of Cities director is good news and we welcome the opportunity to build bridges of cooperation city by city across the nation."

Mayors of Philadelphia, Atlanta, New York, Detroit, Washington, D.C., and Los Angeles are setting the pace in this campaign for youth jobs, according to the Black Philadelphia founder of OIC (Opportunities Industrialization Centers). "We expect a united effort by 200 mayors by the time our 15th Annual Convocation convenes in the nation's capital and to deliver one million petitions to the President and Congress," he said.

Last LWV Breakfast To Be Held Monday

The last in a series of three public forums designed to give area citizens an opportunity to meet with their elected representatives to the North Carolina General Assembly will be held from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. on Monday, May 7 in the cafeteria of the North Carolina Mutual Building. The public is invited to select a Dutch Treat breakfast and visit informally with area legislators or ask them questions.

"We should all be concerned about the future because we will have to spend the rest of our lives there."

Getting old is sometimes hard to accept. Even though you don't like to think about it, it's a fact of life. But how you will live in your "golden years" is your own choice. And yours alone. Soaring inflation has made retirement for many people a time they dread. Statistics show that pension income and social security benefits combined are often less than half the income a person has been accustomed to making. For many, it's not enough. And every year your dollar buys less and less. It's a scary situation.

At The Northwestern Bank, we think tomorrow should be better than today. But the decision to start saving now is yours. We're here to help make your retirement years more comfortable and worry-free. Because after all, they should be the best years of your life.
