R.N. Harris School Highlights

Thirty-one children are enrolled in the After School program. They participate in arts and crafts, movement, creative dramatics, storytelling, as well as doing their homework for the next day. This program began August 27, 1979 and will continue throughout the school year.

More than 130 parents celebrated National School Lunch Week by eating with their child Thursday, October 18.

Teachers have participated in a ten hour Reality Therapy workshop in an effort to find alternative ways of handling behavior problems.

Parents and grandparents are making a tremendous contribution by working directly with children, setting up a science room, serving as libraryhelper as well as comforter. Some of the volunteers are Mesdames Betty Hammond, Earlean Breton, Antia Davis, Evelyn Parker, Janet Hewitt, and William Hammond. Other volunteers are from D.T.I., NCCU, Duke University, and R.S.V.P.

PTA Officers are: Ronald Daye, president, Mrs. Charlotte Barrier, vice president, Herbert Graham, treasurer, Ms. Shelia Blackley, secretary.

the East-West Expressway. However, Mrs. Keller states that her opposition to the expressway is unique in that she feels that the expressway extension will become I-40 once it is completed.

The transportation problem in Durham was another much discussed issue. Both Joan Burton and Paul Bland expressed a need for better transportation. Ms. Burton stated that school pupils handicapped persons or the elderly can not rely on Durham's poor transportation system to get to their destinations.

West, candidate for Ward 4, feel that there should be negotiation with Duke Power to improve transportation. Ms. Burton expressed a need for a mass transit system.

Again during the questioning and answering period, Mr. Rodenhizer became visibly angered when someone from the audience inquired as to whether or not he had paid taxes on his property. In a strained voice, Mr. Rodenhizer gave a lengthy statement of how his taxes had been misconstrued. Another question to Mr. Rodenhizer inquired as to why blacks considered him to be a racist since he had served on the Durham Human Relations Commission. Mr. Rodenhizer answered that he "had trouble with some of Durham's black leaders." He did not clarify whether or not by "trouble" he meant he had doubts about his leadership or that he had conflict with black leadership.

The general election will be held Tuesday, November 6, 1979 when voters will choose a new mayor for Durham city, and councilmen for three at-large seats and three ward seats for the Durham City.

NCCU Faculty Members Begin Drive

Members of the North Carolina Central University faculty have initiated a campaign to create a Marjorie Lee Browne Scholarship Fund in memory of the late Dr. Browne, the distinguished mathematician who was for thirty years a member of the faculty of the North Carolina Central University Department of Mathematics.

Contributions to the fund may be made to the North Carolina Central University Foundation, designed for the M.L. Browne Scholarship Fund.

Dr. Browne retired from the NCCU faculty in May, and was found dead in her home on Fayetteville Street Saturday, October 20.

She held the master's degree and the Ph.D degree in mathematics from the University of Michigan and had done research as a post-doctoral fellow at Cambridge University, the University of California at Los Angeles, the University of California at Berkeley, and Stanford University.

She joined the NCCU faculty in 1949 and had served as chairman of the department of mathematics. The current chairman of the department, Dr. William T. Fletcher, was one of Dr. Brown's student and is coordinating the organization of the scholarship fund.

"Seeing someone laugh is worth a hundred times the effort," says Gill. "For me, the job of bringing happiness to others is the beauty of clowning."
