INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE OF AUSTIN FARRER TO BE HELD AT PRINCETON SEMINARY

PRINCETON, N.J. — The second international conference on the writings of British philosopher-theologian Austin Farrer will be held at Princeton Theological Seminary, January 29-31. A select group of philosophers and theologians from Australia, Canada, England and the United States will meet to listen to and discuss 10 papers on Farrer's thought. The first such conference was held at Cambridge University in 1977.

Two of the lectures during this conference will be open to the public. Both will be held in the Main Lounge of the Campus Center.

The first, on Thursday, January 29 at 7 p.m. will be given by the American expert on Austin Farrer, Professor Julian Hartt, who was formerly Professor of Philosophical Theology at Yale University and is now Professor of Religious Studies at the University of Virginia. Dr. Hartt is the author of eight books, of which the best known is A Christian Critique of American Culture. His most recent work is Theological Method and Imagination.

On Friday, January 30, at 7 p.m. Professor Basil G. Mitchell, Nolloth Professor of the Philosophy of the Christian Religion at Oxford University, will speak. Professor Mitchell was a long-time associate and friend of Farrer in Britain. He was the Gifford Lecturer at Edinburgh University 1974-76 and has been the editor of Faith and Logic. Among his books are Law, Morality and Religion in a Secular Society and The Justification of Religious Belief.

Austin Farrer, who lived from 1904-68, was chaplain of Trinity College, Oxford University, and was, at the time of his death, Warden of Keble College at Oxford. He was the leading Anglican theologian of his day, author of major books in philosophical theology and philosophy of religion.

His influence and interest went far beyond these subjects, as he wrote five books on Biblical interpretation and was responsible for the stress on images as the medium of divine revelation in Scripture. Because he was known as an outstanding preacher, several volumes of his sermons were published posthumously. In 1957 he was the Gifford Lecturer at Edinburgh University. These lectures were published as The Freedom of the Will.

Co-chairman of this conference are Dr. Jeffrey Eaton, Chaplain, Hamilton College, Clinton, New York, and Dr. Diogenes Allen, Professor of Philosophy, Princeton Theological Seminary.

DUKE DIVINITY SCHOOL TO SPONSOR 1ST PRE-SEMINARY FORUM

The Duke University Divinity School will sponsor its first annual Pre-Seminary Forum, February 11-12 at the school for people who, at a later stage in their life, may be interested in becoming ministers.

The Office of Black Church Affairs, the Black Seminarians' Union and the Black Student Alliance is sponsoring the forum.

Dr. Lawrence E. Johnson, director of Black Church Affairs, said that people interested in the forum must have a bachelor's degree.

Those attending will hear various lectures and have a chance to visit classes and discuss roles and opportunities in ministry with teachers, students and practicing ministers from various churches and institutions.

Dr. James H. Cone, Charles A. Briggs, professor of systematic theology at Union Theological Seminary, New York, will be guest lecturer, delivering a keynote address Wednesday, February 11 at 8:15 p.m. in Page Auditorium and other lectures at 9:10 a.m. and 1:45 p.m. Thursday, February 12 in York Chapel.

Cone is the author of Black Theology and Black Power, Liberation: A Black Theology, The Spirituals and the Blues and God of the Oppressed. He is co-author of a history of black theology, Black Theology: Documentary, 1966-79.

He received B.D., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Garrett Theological Seminary at Northwestern University.

The formal sessions of the forum will open at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, February 11 in the school with a panel discussion of the forum theme, The Challenges of Ministry in the Black Church in the 80s. The Rev. Hector Grant, director of the Division of Ordained Ministry of the United Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn., will lead the panel.

Further details can be obtained from Johnson at 684-6795.

I LOOKED AND I SAW

True Love Reveals Positive Action
By Rev. C. R. Stone

To whom can the peoples of this earth consult when seemingly effective solutions cannot be obtained for our problems? Those among us who may possess some key solutions are not compassionate enough to share. Compared with other animals, man is top-rated in not getting along well with those of his kind. On the other hand, man was made to excel in the capacity to think beyond the reasoning of other animals.

Man has a tendency to talk about love as an instrument of harmony whereas other animals reveal their love in actual deeds. Indications are clear to peoples far and near that we too often misrepresent God with too many negative actions toward our brethren. The word love as a virtue is the most overemphasized word among God's children. The seeds of true love originating in God reap more than the sown content involving true believers. Love in the right perspective has the power to give more to others than it anticipates receiving for future reference. True love has the divine power to stand alone as its own justification.

It is a living truth that no man on this earth is perfect to reveal love in the first degree. However, man should, because of his created ability in intelligence be God's instrument of love. It matters not how much so-called love may surface in quantity, it must be the quality that binds our minds, hearts and souls.

He who hath ears to hear, let him hear.

To our many friends and neighbors who so generously gave of their time, food, flowers and personal services at the passing of our brother, Frank Jones of Washington, D. C. and our nephew, James "Bill" Cannady, we want to express our deepest gratitude.

Due to ill health it is impossible to contact each one personally. May God bless you all.
