COMMUNITY NIGHT - JANUARY 17

Community Night will be held Saturday, February 10 when the Eagles host Virginia Union University, defending Division II National Champions. "Unlimited Long-Distance Telephone Service" Too Good To Be True?

For a first month non-refundable processing fee of $50 and a monthly fee of $65 for residences and $125-up for businesses, you can have "unlimited long-distance dialing service." Does this sound "too good to be true?" (The TRIANGLE CITIES BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU thinks so, because they have heard it before!) According to Joseph C. Bowling, Jr., Executive Director of the Bureau, a report compiled by the BBB of South Florida claims that the above service is being advertised by Hart Industries, 3101 N. Federal Highway, Suite 200, Fort Lauderdale, Fla 33306. The company is a proprietorship of Harry Hart, III and it began operations in April 1980. The BBB of South Florida has received hundreds of inquiries on the company throughout the U. S.

Companies offering domestic interstate public telephone services, according to the Federal Communications Commission, must be certified by the FCC. The process can take a period of months before such service can commence. The Council of BBB was informed on January 12, 1981 by the FCC that as of that date Hart Industries had not been certified. Under these circumstances prospective purchasers should bear in mind that until such time as Hart Industries has been certified by the FCC, the company cannot begin services as it has advertised, and that any payments made in advance would be for services to be rendered at a presently unknown future date.

Ironically, Bowling says, there was a Raleigh firm—CompTel, Inc.—which began a similar operation in April 1980! The Triangle Cities BBB had a barrage of inquiries beginning in July from businesses around the country. The Bureau prepared a Standard Business Questionnaire on the firm on July 14, 1980. The information garnered at that time appeared to be positive. However, as early as the first week in August, the Bureau Staff became suspicious of CompTel's ability to provide the advertised services after receiving the firm's brochure (from the Denver Colorado BBB!)

REPORTS

(Continued From Page 1) disagrees. "It's very hard to move up. Engineers face the same stumbling blocks in their job arena as any other black person in America," she says adding, "The system can be dealt with and the technically skilled have a little more bargaining power. We can always find another job." Another black engineer feels that the technical fields are discrimination-proof. "Demands are so high for some kinds of expertise that color barriers have to come down. Look at all the yellow, brown, and black engineers and scientists that have been imported from other countries. The U.S. has got to keep up technological advances on par with its French and German competition."
