Black Press To Enshrine Publishers

WASHINGTON, D.C. (NNPA) — Two distinguished black newspaper publishers will be enshrined here in the Black Press Archives and Gallery at Howard University by the National Newspaper Publishers Association (NNPA) on Friday, March 20. They are Mrs. Daisy L. Bates, publisher of the Arkansas State Press, and William Monroe Trotter, publisher of the Guardian, Boston, Massachusetts. The ceremony will be held in the National Press Club Ballroom during a Black Press Week luncheon. The guest speaker will be Vice President George Bush. During the ceremony at the National Press Club, William O. Walker, editor and publisher of the Cleveland Call and Post and dean of the black press, will present the enshrinement plaques of the honorees to Dr. Michael R. Winston, director of the Moorland-Spingarn Research Center at Howard where the archives have been established. Joseph R. Slevin, editor of the Washington Band Report and president of the National Press Club will preside. A reception will follow at the Archives. The enshrinement of Mrs. Bates and Trotter will bring to seventeen, the number enshrined in the Black Press Gallery since its inception in 1977.
