

Nature Study To Be Held At Roan Mountain

The North Carolina Botanical Garden will conduct a week-long series of nature study activities in the high mountains of Western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee early this summer. Participants from all over the state, will spend the week of June 22-29 at Roan Mountain State Park in eastern Tennessee with staff from the N.C. Botanical Garden and naturalists from the Roan Mountain area.

During daily field trips a wide range of topics will be covered including plants, animals and ecology of many interesting habitats in the mountains and valleys.

Several days will be spent on Roan Mountain with Ed Schell, well known naturalist at Roan Mountain Naturalist rallies, to explore the strange plant associations and to speculate on the origin and existence of the balds.

The group will study many species of herbs, trees and shrubs with Dr. C. Ritchie Bell, director of the N.C. Botanical Garden, and Ken Moore, superintendent of the Garden; and ferns with Wallace Coffey, author of a book on the ferns of the mountains. Fungi of the Cloud Forest will be taught by Dr. John Bond of Appalachian State University.

Participants will see the famous rhododendrons of Roan at their peak bloom, and take early morning birdwalks at high and low elevations, in open areas, and cove forests to observe a wide range of bird species. Day trips to other unique areas of the Appalachians will provide a comparative study of a wider range of habitats. There will also be scheduled free time for individual pursuits, exploring, craft hunting, or just leisurely enjoyment of the mountain atmosphere. Optional early evening programs will include nature slide programs and entertainment from the area.

Groups of six participants (two per room) will be housed in new, completely furnished cabins. In addition to complete eating facilities in each cabin, participants may choose to use the nearby restaurant for morning or evening meals. The group members will have their own sack lunches in the field.

Fee for this program is $95 for members of the Botanical Garden Foundation and $110 for the general public. Fee covers housing, all instruction and programmed activities.

Transportation and meals are the responsibility of each participant. Call the Botanical Garden (919) 967-2246 for more information and to register for this enjoyable week of learning and leisure.

To check an electric cord: disconnect it, then pull the length of the cord around your finger, watching for cracks, worn spots or a point where it bends too easily, indicating a broken wire.

Lauch Henry helped find the missing ingredient to educate minority engineers. Money.

Lauchland Henry is a teacher. And a scientist. And an engineer. He's genuinely concerned about other people. And he has expressed some of that concern in his participation with the National Fund for Minority Engineering Students.

The fund is a non-profit organization attempting to increase the number of Blacks, Puerto Ricans, Chicanos, Mexican-Americans and American Indians enrolled in engineering schools.

These under-represented minorities constitute a rich untapped resource to help fill the growing need for engineers, a need that is expected to continue through the mid-1980's.

IBM's social leave program enabled Dr. Henry to take a year's leave to assist the fund. And IBM continued to pay him his full salary.

The National Fund for Minority Engineering Students is a very worthwhile program. We think so. Lauchland Henry thinks so. But most important of all, lots of minority engineering students enrolled at colleges and universities all over the country think so.
