nah State, was chosen in the 10th by Seattle. Tuskegee is NCAA Division II, and Savannah is Division III.

Independent Tennessee State, the only historically black institution playing football on the Division I-A level, had quarterback Joe "747" Adams drafted in the 12th round by San Francisco, and independent Morgan State (Division II) saw WR Mike Holston go to Houston way up in the third.

Other Division I-AA players selected were Big Sky performers David Hughes, RB from Boise to Seattle in the second round; Eric Sanders, OT from Nevada-Reno to Atlanta in the fifth; Greg Gerken, LB from Northern Arizona to Baltimore in the tenth; and Frank Hawkins, RB from Nevada-Reno to Oakland in the tenth. Jim Jenson, a QB from the Yankee Conference's Boston University, was chosen by Miami in the 11th.

Independent Portland State had three players taken: Neil Lomax (QB) to St. Louis in the second; Ron Seawell (LB) to Los Angeles in the ninth; and Clint Didier (WR) to Washington in the 12th. Phil Nelson, a TE from independent University of Delaware, was the last player selected in the draft; going to world champion Oakland.
