Atlantic Artists In Twenty Major Media Appearances

NEW YORK, N.Y. — During the month of April, the first official month of operation for Atlantic Records' newly-formed television promotion department, Atlantic-affiliated artists made twenty major television appearances. Thirteen different artists were included in this activity, encompassing major network, syndicated and cable performances. In late-March of this year, Atlantic announced the formation of a special television promotion division within the label's Artist Relations/Development Department.

Leading the television performance list for April was Sister Sledge, who appeared on six different national programs during the month, including: Tomorrow Coast to Coast, Good Morning America, The John Davidson Show, American Bandstand, American Top Ten, and Solid Gold. Also of particular note was the PBS Soundstage special starring Roberta Flack in concert, plus Tomorrow Coast to Coast appearances by Phoebe Snow and Leon Redbone.

In addition to the artists noted above, these Atlantic-affiliated performers also garnered television exposure during April: Bette Midler, The Rolling Stones, ABBA, the Spinners, Stacy Lattisaw, Kleer, Badfinger, and Ben

E. King. Several programs also aired video clips from the Concerts for the People of Kampuchea.
