Give Clothes "Once-Over" Before You Decide To Buy

As you slide an outfit on, take a look at it in the dressing room mirror. Besides asking yourself if it fits, consider a garment's construction before you buy, advises Judith Mock, extension clothing specialist, North Carolina State University. Construction not only affects how a garment looks when you wear it, but how long it will wear, she adds. As a top-to-bottom guide, start with the facings. They should lie flat and not peak out beyond the seams. Also check to make sure the under-collar doesn't show. Darts should be smooth, without puckers at the ends. Inspect buttonholes to see if they're firmly and evenly stitched, without any loose threads. Scrutinize those hemlines. On knits, hemming should be invisible. Pulls and puckers are signs of poor construction. Overall, see if plaids or prints match. Are there any loose threads hanging out of the seams? Look inside the garment. See if seams have been finished to prevent raveling, especially in woven fabrics. Good construction gives you a better return for your clothing dollar, the specialist concludes.

"I think all three girls will be tremendous additions to our winning program," said Virginia State women's coach Leon Wright Bey. "Ellen Pinnock is a very versatile player; Judy Douglas could be one of the best ever to come here; and Barbara McMillian is a diamond-in-the-rough." Last year, Virginia State finished with an 18-15 overall record which included marks of 10-6 in the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA) and 10-2 in the NAIA. The team won the Hartford (CT) Christmas Classic and reached the semifinal round of the CIAA post-season tournament.

Virginia State won both the District 19 and Region 4 NAIA playoffs, qualifying the Trojanettes for the national tournament. In Kansas City, the Trojanettes dropped an 83-58 quarterfinal decision to Texas Southern. No one graduated from the team which will have only one senior this season.

Authorities generally agree that the original home of the peach was China.

Extra strength relieves problem itching.
 It's called BICOZENE® and it has 20% more anesthetic than Lanacane®. BICOZENE's extra strength anesthetic safely cools all kinds of problem itching virtually on contact. And BICOZENE's antibacterial action speeds healing of itchy genital or anal areas. Look for BICOZENE Creme in the purple box at your pharmacy. Or ask for "By-Co-Zeen." Extra strength. Use only as directed. BICOZENE

All Star

For his efforts, Stefero received the game MVP Award.

Stefero echoed the sentiments of many players when he said it was exciting to play in this kind of All-Star game. "Here we're in Class A ball and we're on national TV," he said grinning.

Northern Manager Grady Little praised the city of Durham for its efforts to put forth a first rate show. "The people of Durham are great. They really can be proud of what they did tonight," he said.

Al Gallagher, clearly disappointed in defeat, said, "When we got that far behind early, it was just difficult to catch up against a good hitting team like the North".

Gallagher had this to say when asked if minor league ball will be helped by the strike in the majors. "People are discovering that minor league ball is exciting. They come out and see these young kids really trying. The fans can better identify with the average salaries in minor league ball as opposed to the $400,000 salaries in the majors".

The strike seems to be boosting interest in the minors. Recently, west coast papers in Fresno and Oakland, California began carrying Carolina League standings and various television stations which normally carry the majors (including SuperStation Channel 17) have recently begun to broadcast Triple-A games.

There's a chance that the Bulls may appear on the SuperStation if the strike continues into August.

As a hazy red moon drifted across the summer sky and the fans departed the 1981 Carolina League All-Star Game, Durham could indeed be proud that it had presented it's citizens a show that was worthy of national attention.

That's why Meharry Medical College needs your help. Since 1876, Meharry has educated more black doctors than any other college in the world. Today, 43% of all practicing black physicians and dentists — plus thousands of other health professionals — are Meharry graduates. Meharry doctors help those who need it most: 3 out of 4 practice in central cities and rural areas where health care is hard to find. Three out of 5 become "family doctors" — the kind these neighborhoods need most. Half of all Meharry students are themselves from low-income families, and 90% need financial aid. To continue all it is doing for the health and life of the black American community, Meharry must have contributions — for scholarships, faculty, research. Because of Meharry's service to the nation, many are already giving. Much more is needed. Every dollar counts. We need your support, too.
