

BROOKSTOWN/WE-ST DURHAM PIONEER
— Since George W. Stephens, Sr.'s picture could not be found in the public library and others were mentioned at the Brookstown reunion, it is noted that he was a pioneer merchant, humanitarian, holder of real estate and one of the founders of Mechanics & Farmers Bank and Lincoln Hospital.

Sisters Visit Hometown

After attending the National Medical Association Convention in Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Mattie Burton Meyers, a former Durhamite now residing in Fresno, California, joined her sister, Mrs. Clara Burton Browning and husband, Claude, from Washington, D.C., to enjoy a homecoming weekend in Durham, July 23-25.

Among those they visited were Mr. and Mrs. Booth Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hayes, Attorney and Mrs. Conrad Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. James Tedder and Ms. Margaret Burton.

Mrs. Meyers, a cum laude graduate of N.C. Central University and California State University at Fresno, has been active in the civic and political life of Fresno. She is currently a mathematics/multiculture specialist with the Fresno Unified School District.

Mrs. Browning is a former student at N.C. Central University and is employed with the federal government in Washington, D.C.

Elizabeth City State Announces School Opening Activities

ELIZABETH CITY — At Elizabeth City State University, two weeks after a successful eight-week summer school session, it's a scene of paint brushes and planning pads; beeping computer terminals; and humming air conditioners as officials prepare for the 1981-82 academic year, set to begin on Monday, August 17. That's the date of the Orientation Check-In for first-time freshmen students, at 8:30 a.m., in the Ridley University Center. It also marks the beginning of a three-day Faculty and Staff Fall Conference.

Freshmen orientation continues through Tuesday and includes a series of testing, counseling, and guidance sessions to assure effective placement prior to registration. A general orientation assembly has been scheduled for Wednesday, August 29, at 2:30 p.m., in Moore Hall auditorium.

All first-time transfer students are urged to contact Mrs. Vivian Armstrong, Transfer Student Advisor, division of General Studies, Room 209 Johnson Hall. She can also be reached by calling (919) 335-3464 or 335-3329.

The Faculty and Staff

Conference, August 17-19, features daily general sessions, at 9 a.m. in Moore Hall auditorium, with morning and afternoon concurrent sessions in Johnson Hall. A luncheon for the new and returning staffers is scheduled for noon, August 17, in the Bedell Cafeteria.

Registration for returning and new students is set for August 20-21. A special registration for Extended Day Students who take evening courses will be held on Saturday, August 22, from 9 a.m. until noon, in Moore Hall.

While bricks are rapidly being added to construction of the Graduate Center at Elizabeth State University, courses have been added to the fall schedule of the graduate program, which moves into its second year. Construction of the $2-million facility is nearly fifty percent complete.

"Specifically, the additional courses are being provided to meet the advanced needs of the 47 students who began pursuit of graduate studies here last year, and of interested area in-service teachers in general," Dr. Louis Nadeau, Assistant Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, stressed.

The graduate program in Special Education, provided by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, resumes on August 27 and 28. Registration for the course, "Management of the Learning Environments," to be taught by Dr. Grace Lane, is set for August 27, at 6 p.m., in Room 107 of the new Early Childhood Education Building. On the following day, registration for the course, "Teaching the Handicapped Child," is scheduled. To be taught by Dr. David Little, class sessions will be held every other week, on Fridays and Saturdays, in Room 122, Dixon Hall. UNC officials encourage pre-registration for the courses in Special Education.

The North Carolina State University graduate program in Occupational Education provides one course, "Evaluation in Occupational Education." To be taught by Dr. John Coster, the first class session is set for September 3, in Room 228, Dixon Hall.

The program in Elementary Education, offered by East Carolina University, provides three graduate-level courses and an extension course for in-service teachers. Registration for the course, "Introduction to Research," is set for August 31, at 6 p.m., in Room 122, Dixon Hall.

"Investigations in the Teaching of Reading," under Dr. Vincent Mikkelsen, begins on September 2, at 6 p.m., in Room 122, Dixon Hall, followed by registration, the next evening, for the course, "Socials Studies in the Elementary School," to be taught by Dr. Douglas R. Jones. In addition, ECU is making available an extension course, "Foundation and Curriculum Development," with registration set for September 3, at 6 p.m., in Room 135, Johnson Hall.

Registration and tuition fees must be paid during the first class session of each course, at which time textbooks will also be sold. Persons desiring additional information on the Graduate Program at ECU should contact Dr. Nadeau, Room 122, Lane Hall.

Business as Usual at St. Aug's

Business majors at Saint Augustine's College are spending their summer working in the accounting office, gaining experience as they earn. L-R: Mrs. Elizabeth T. Jiles, chief accountant; Ms. Pamela Twitty, a junior accounting major from Raleigh; and Ms. Darlene Wright, a junior, business administration major from Ridgeland, South Carolina. A checklist of registration schedules is the focus of this work session.

Elects National Alumni Officers

The National Alumni officers of Saint Augustine's College for 1981-83 were installed recently during an alumni executive committee meeting held in Hampton, Va.

These elected officers include Lawrence E. Wray, president, Raleigh; Ms. Betty Smith, executive vice president and national chairman, alumni giving, Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Sarah Sanders, recording secretary, New York; Mrs. Marion Latham, corresponding secretary, New York; and Adam Shaw, treasurer, Washington, D.C.

Region II served as host for the alumni summer workshop and executive committee meeting. This region consists of Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, and Tennessee. Dr. George Brown, regional vice president, presided over the activities.

"Developing Strategies for the 80's — The Future of St. Augustine's College Is In The Pocketbook of Its Alumni," was the theme of the alumni conference held in the Chamberlain Hotel. Dr. Prezell Robinson, alumnus and president of St. Augustine's College, spoke on "The Role of Alumni In the Long Range Interests Of St. Augustine's College." James Burt, coordinator of Alumni Affairs, talked about long and short range goal setting.

The Robert R. Moton Memorial Institute staff conducted the two-day planned workshop. This dealt with effective tools used in strengthening alumni programs.

Dr. John Eppes, outgoing president, National Alumni Association, bade farewell as he presided over his final alumni executive committee meeting.

St. Augustine's Career Library In Use

Mrs. Mary Isler, career counselor, recommends using the career library to Ms. Tamara MacLean, a junior Business Administration major from Rocky Mount, attending St. Augustine's College. Mrs. Isler is explaining the philosophy and objectives of the career library providing students, faculty, staff and alumni with reliable occupational and educational information essential to choosing a career and making plans for training and employment.

Gears Up For Phoenix Festival '81

The West End Community Action Group (WEAG) and the Sallam Cultural Center are proud to present "PHOENIX FESTIVAL '81" this Saturday, August 15, (raindate August 22), from 12 noon till 8 p.m. along Carroll Street (between W. Chapel Hill and Jackson Street).

This annual summer celebration is called the Phoenix Festival because of our knowledge of the mythical Phoenix bird which arose from ashes to a new birth. As was that bird, so is the West End community.

"We now have many participants in a wide variety of community programs," said Ms. Selma Smith of WEAG. "There is a self help housing rehab project, a summer youth program called the 'Clean Up Squad', a food buying club; a winterization program and lots more. All these programs in one way or another improve our community and the Phoenix Festival is our way of inviting others to see and participate in what's happening on the West End."

Phoenix Festival '81 promises to be a fun-filled day for both young and old! Activities planned include: music by Brother Yusuf and Friends, the Gospel Miracles, Tom Chordas and Fred Baker, Sound Illusions II, and others; a disco dance contest; face painting, sidewalk chalk drawing, new games, informative displays by community organizations such as North Central Legal Assistance and Lincoln Community Health Center.
