

Fayetteville Happenings

By Mrs. T.H. Kinney

We join the mourners around the world in loss of the "Man of Peace" Anwar Sadat, 1918-1981. Perhaps one day we can all have a better understanding of things that seem and things that are done.

Happy Birthday anniversary to Ms. Eliza Mallett, Ms. Jamie V. Hayes, Ms. O. Murchison and Mrs. Margaret Hannah.

Mrs. Mildred Jones was named "Woman of the Year" at her church on Sunday. She is a teacher who works and works and works. . . We congratulate her.

The Shaw University Club met Saturday to work on plans for the year.

Dr. Dolly Desselle Adams, of McLean, Virginia, was the speaker at the Annual Women's Day Celebration at St. Luke AME Church on Sunday morning. The theme was "Women United For Church Expansion."

Dr. Adams' educational and professional experiences span eight states and the District of Columbia. She is a native of Marksville, La. She has done several publications and has received many certificates and awards. She presently is a free lance consultant and holds memberships in Links, Jack and Jill, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Women's Society, NAACP, Phi Delta Kappa and Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society. She received her B.A. degree from Louisiana Southern University, M.A., University of Michigan and the Ed.D. at Baylor University in Texas. She is the wife of Bishop John Hurst Adams and the mother of three daughters.

"Fiddler On The Roof" can be enjoyed at the Bordeaux Dinner Theater through November 22.

William T. Brown, associate superintendent of Fayetteville City Schools, was the 52nd Annual Men's Day speaker at First Baptist Church on Sunday morning. The evening play was directed by Mrs. Laura Hill.

Sgt. Carlton Tearry, a graduate of E.E. Smith, has been named "Soldier of the Week." He enjoys doing things with his hands. He is a Fayetteville native. He comes from a family who built their own homes. His uncles are plumbers, masons and electricians. He enjoys poetry after a hard day of work. He has received the Department of the Army Certificate of Achievement and the Army Commendation medal. We salute him.

Thousands enjoyed the 49th Cape Fear Fair here this week past. Bright skies and warm weather prevailed the whole week, whereas last year's fair was rain-soaked and lightly attended. Many children and other fair-goers really celebrated this year.
