VEHICLE TITLE — This newly-revised form will be used by a person, firm or corporation applying for a vehicle title for the first time.

A space has been provided on the form for the accurate odometer reading at the time of transfer. On old title documents the correct odometer reading will be written in a blank space next to the initials "O.R. (Odometer Reading)."

The inclusion of odometer readings on title and application forms is designed to protect the investment of the consumer. Officials at the Division of Motor Vehicles in the Department of Transportation explain this action is in response to previous incidents of altering odometer readings and "laundering" automobile titles. In the past North Carolina has not required documented statements of a car's mileage. This new ruling of requiring odometer readings on titles and applications forms will become mandatory January 1, 1982.

WRAL-TV Honored For 'Wednesday's Child'

Charlie Gaddy, anchorman for WRAL-TV, and Ms. Chrystal Harris, reporter for WRAL-TV, have recently accepted three awards from the State Department of Human Resources for "Wednesday's Child", a weekly segment on Action News 5. Ms. Harris also accepted an award from the North Carolina Coalition on Adoptable Children for "Wednesday's Child".

Produced by Charlie Gaddy and Ms. Harris, "Wednesday's Child" introduces adoptable children from North Carolina to the viewers each week. And, with the continuing support of the North Carolina Department of Human Resources and many county social services departments, each segment highlights the children's personalities and special family needs.

"These childen have had a profound effect on me," said Gaddy, "and it is a privilege to work with them. I honestly feel that "Wednesday's Child is the most important thing that I do."

Ms. Chrystal Harris id, "When we began 'Wednesday's Child' in April, our goal was to see one child adopted.

. .one child who had been waiting for a family of his or her own. And, of the 39 children featured, 21 have been placed. We're very excited about the community response to this special project."

John Greene, general manager of WRAL-TV, said, ""Wednesday's Child' is a vital part of Action News 5 and our commitment to active community service. We are very proud of the small part we have had in building so many new North Carolina families."

Earlier this year "Wednesday's Child" was also awarded the 1981 Outstanding Community Services Award by the Region IV Adoption Resource Center.
