

Carrington Is Bulldogs' Big Leader

By B. Dawson
Durham High School Bulldogs, under new head basketball coach Jimmy Graves, are off to an excellent roundball season.

The experienced Bulldog team has won its last five ballgames — two in overtime. Durham High has defeated Greensboro's Dudley, Raleigh's Millbrook and Broughton, Wilson's Fike, and Burlington's Cummings.

Coach Graves credits his team's successful start to hard, aggressive defensive play and a screening offense led by 5-10 senior guard Kip Leathers and 6-5 freshman center Bryan Carrington. Already Leathers is averaging 11.0 points per game. Carrington is averaging nine.

Carrington is definitely the player Durham High will look to throughout the season, Coach Graves said. Carrington's shot blocking and rebounding ability may cause inside problems for some Bulldog opponents later in the season.

Graves believes the Bulldogs must shoot better and continue to play tough defense to come into Durham's Holiday Tournament at 7-1. That tournament is scheduled for Dec. 28, 29, 30 at Durham High.

By the way...

By Joe Black

"The ultimate measure of a man is not where he stands in moments of comfort and convenience, but where he stands at time of challenge and controversy. The true neighbor will risk his position, his prestige, and even his life for the welfare of others." Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. made that statement many years ago, but I dare venture the opinion that it is apropos in 1981 because this is truly a time of controversy and challenge.

The national administration is advocating actions that many interpret as being negative toward the Black, the poor, and the elderly. Yes, as I travel about these United States I have heard the Black, the poor, the elderly muttering "woe is me" because President Reagan's projected budget cuts have had a negative effect upon their lifestyle. But when Blacks look about for help and/or guidance, it seems as though Black leaders labeling the President insensitive and racist is the only encouragement or empathy that they receive. It is my belief that rhetoric like that is an excellent tool to manifest emotionalism in their followers, but it does very little for those who harbor a real fear of experiencing days or nights without food.

We have arrived at the time when our leaders must change their rhetoric. The Black, the poor, the elderly already know why they have the feelings of anxiety about their futures. So our leaders are challenged to provide hope and encouragement for those who can only envision a future of suffering and pain.

One suggestion to our leaders is that they should remind Black Americans that we can survive and overcome if we will take the time to remember that the Lord helps those who help themselves. In other words, make them understand that we can survive without the government taking care of us.

The Lady Hornets

Hillside High School Lady Hornets Make A Change

By B. Dawson

Coach Tony Ford of the Hillside High School Lady Hornets basketball team changed high-powered forward Lisa Chalmers back to a post position this week. He had been hoping to use Chalmers at a wing position, but now believes she will provide more punch and points at the post position — a position she played throughout last season. The Lady Hornets who stand 2-3 in non-conference play went against Eastern Wayne and Raleigh Millbrook earlier this week.

So far this season, Yolanda Langston leads the girls team in scoring with an average of 12.0 points per game and 8.5 rebounds. Chalmers is second at 11.3 average ppg and leads the rebounding column at 10.0 a contest.

Ford emphasized that his team must eliminate the bad passes and turnovers which have cost the Lady Hornets three defeats. He admits Eastern Wayne and Broughton were two of the toughest teams Hillside will face this season other than the Chapel Hill Tigers (Jan. 28).

The Hornets' first Big Six conference game is January 18 at home against crosstown rival Durham High Bulldogs. Coach Ford predicts that the game will be tough, but HHS should come out on top.

NCCU's Indoor Track Team Is Ready For Meets

By B. Dawson

N.C. Central University's head indoor track coach Mark Adams is busily preparing the Eagle team for the CIAA

Indoor Championship meet. Central has two regular season meets scheduled: January 7, Mid-Atlantic Championship in Philadelphia, Pa.

and January 22, Philadelphia Track Classic.

The Eagle team consists of four cross country runners, senior David Martin, Junior Falcum McDougal, sophomore Ronnie Watson and freshman Travis Coston. Freshman Eric Cuffee is the only cross country team member not participating in indoor track and field.

The five-member cross country team participated in four meets this fall. They placed fourth in the October 10 Capital Classic at the Meadowland Country Club in Garner and defeated Shaw University in a dual meet at Meadowlands course October 17.

On October 25, the cross country men outlasted NCA&T and Shaw in a Triangle meet. The Eagles placed fifth in the CIAA conference meet November 7 held at Norfolk State's 9,000 meter course (5.1 miles) in Virginia.

Members of NCCU's football team make up the rest of the 17-member indoor track squad.

Participating in the field for the Jan. 7 Mid-Atlantic championship will be Charles Bush, Josh Page, Charles Saunders, Sam Washington, Ronnie Watson, Clifton Kersey and Ashley Elder.

In the sprinting lineup, Walter Bonds, Lee Perry, Allen Pierce, Andrew Riddick and David Riley will try to crack some CIAA records.

Anthony Heath is the only mid-long distance runner on the indoor team who did not compete in cross country.

Millions of our young people are away from home serving their country...and USO is there with them, 40,000 volunteers strong, serving as their friend and reminder that 'back home' hasn't forgotten them.

ADELL McNAIR (No. 25) seems to be having trouble getting control of the ball in Hillside's loss to Broughton High girls on Friday night in the Hornets' gym. Other Hornets in picture are Deloris Powell (No. 23), Kim Davis (No. 12) and Yolanda Langston (No. 31).
