The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau Debuts January on WTBS

"The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau", one of television's most highly acclaimed documentary series, makes its SuperStation WTBS debut Saturday January 30 from 9:05-10:05 p.m. WTBS will air 36 episodes of the award-winning program on a weekly basis until Fall, 1982.

Narrated by Rod Serling and filmed on location, "The Undersea World Of Jacques Cousteau" follows the captain and crew of the famed ship, "Calypso", on scientific expeditions that explore the earth's many oceans and examine the fascinating animal life indigenous to each. Cousteau, the gentle Frenchman, brings beauty, adventure and dangers of the deep together with scientific knowledge to create a program that has become a favorite among audiences of all ages.

Critically acclaimed for both its educational and entertainment qualities, as well as its production values, "The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau" has been the recipient of eight Emmy Awards, a Saturday Review award for Distinguished Achievement in the Public Interest, and the Society of Technical Writers and Producers first television award, in recognition of the series' superb humanization of scientific research. The program is recommended by the National Education Association for viewing by students.

"The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau" replaces "Football Saturday" on TBS in the 9:05-10:05 p.m. time slot, which goes on hiatus following the Super Bowl which concludes this year's professional football season.

WTBS also has acquired exclusive rights to the most recent produced by Cousteau and his crew. These brand new specials will premiere early in 1982. The first of the new films will focus on U.S.-Canadian subjects, including the Great Lakes and Maritime provinces.
