Chapel Hill-Carrboro Deltas To Hold May Week Observance

CHAPEL HILL — The Chapel Hill-Carrboro Area Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority will sponsor its May Week Observance on Saturday and Sunday, May 1-2, at Hargraves Recreation Center in Chapel Hill.

From 1-2:20 p.m., on Saturday, the film, "Last Grave at Dim-baza", will be shown which will be followed by a discussion led by Dr. Beverly Grier of the UNC Political Science Department and special guests from South Africa. According to Dr. Grier, the film portrays the apartheid regime, but deals specifically with economic and social implications of apartheid on black family life.

The May Week Observance ends on Sunday, May 2, with a program honoring outstanding graduating seniors from Chapel Hill and Orange High Schools who have excelled in leadership, academic achievement, extracurricular participation and creativity. Hayden B. Renwick, associate dean, college of arts and sciences, UNC, will address the theme, "Invest in Education: Key to Survival".

A reception will follow both programs. May Week, a traditional activity of Delta Sigma Theta since 1921, is designed to recognize achievement, particularly in education. The public is invited to both events.

Zafa Temple Owns This Building

Zafa Temple 176 now owns this building which is surrounded by ten acres of valuable land. The temple moved into the building in 1974 under the leadership of J.A. Carter who was, at that time, illustrious Potentate of Zafa Temple. Through many money raising efforts and work by Zafa Temple and Zafa Court members, the mortgage on the building was recently burned.
