

Kiddie Fashion Show Raises Money For Russell Memorial Child Development Center

Strutting through "April Showers", togged down in cute playsuits, dressy outfits and sportswear, many of the youngsters who attend Russell Memorial's Child Development Center wowed their parents, friends and supporters during a fashion show last Saturday.

The show, a fund raising event for the development center, climaxed a drive that featured center students soliciting sponsors and donations.

The youngsters who raised the most money for the center were Rodney Hunter, who raised $91 and was crowned "King" for his efforts, and Andren Scott, who raised $193 and was crowned "Queen". The two were crowned Mr. and Miss Russell Memorial.

The fashion show, entitled "April Showers", featured casual wear, such as playwear, sleepwear, and "streetwear". It also featured dresswear such as Sunday and formal clothes. Other outfits shown in the show were mother-daughter, father-son matches, and swimwear.

Several development center teachers also modeled outfits.

Ms. Vanessa V. Hunter is PTA president and Mrs. Larma Wheelchel is director of the Center.
