A recognition banquet sponsored by the Omega Beta Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc., honored its founder, Soror Beulah Jones, in H.L. Cook Dining Hall on Saturday evening. All day workshops were held and many participated in a reunion. This marked thirty years of business for Zeta Phi Beta Sorority. Guests registered from Jacksonville, Raleigh, Durham and Wilmington. Soror Catherine Thompson introduced the guest speaker, Soror Ellis Jones, director of Eastern Region, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc.

Many enjoyed Sunday on the Square. Numerous artists and craftsmen participated in the events downtown Sunday afternoon. The antique cars, a hot air balloon, food and other attractions enhanced the day of family fun.

A large crowd heard Congressman Walter Fauntroy on Friday in the H.L. Cook Dining Hall on the campus of Fayetteville State University. The program was sponsored by members of OIC.

These days, much money is spent at spas, as well as sports shops for just the right jogging outfit, running shoes or sweat suits. Experts say a balanced diet, of course, goes hand-in-hand with the exercise program.

Friends of Edgemont-Few Gardens Center Ministers Popularity Contest

Four Top Frontrunners In Tight "Race"

So far, the Ministers Popularity Contest sponsored by Friends of Edgemont-Few Gardens Community Center has produced four frontrunners in its first two weeks of balloting.

The winner will be sent on a trip to the Bahamas.

Rev. L.H. Whelchel has received the most ballots in the contest that is being used to raise money for the center that is seriously strapped for funds because of federal program budget cuts. Closely following Rev. Whelchel are: Rev. Earle Thorpe in second place; Rev. Grady Davis in third place and Rev. John Monroe in fourth place.

According to a spokesman for the Edgemont Center, the purpose of the contest, in addition to raising money for the center is to "boost the black church and the black press, locally and nationally."

The Carolina Times is cooperating with the contest by publishing the official ballot each week. To vote for your favorite minister, simply clip the ballot from an issue of The Carolina Times, complete it, and mail it to the Center. A $1 donation must accompany each ballot in order that it be included in the official count.

The center spokesman said the first prize for the contest is a trip to the Bahamas for the winning minister. Other prizes will be announced.

Among the friends of Edgemont sponsoring group are: Drs. Marvin Duncan, Winston Burton, Jr., Caroline Sage, Earle Thorpe, former city councilman James Brown, Jr., Attorneys Frank Bullock, Carroll Willis; Bishop John T. Moore, Few Gardens Resident Council President Lila Richmond, Mr. George White and Mr. George Jones.
