New Generation Singers Observe 13th Anniversary With Week of Activities

The New Generation Singers of Durham, founded, organized and directed by Oren Marsh, Jr., will kick off their 13th Anniversary with a week of activities beginning Sunday, November, 21.

The festivities will open with a Pre-Anniversary Revival starting Sunday at Cox Memorial Free Will Baptist Church, Riddle Road, where Rev. Marshall K. Barnes is the pastor. The music for this service will be rendered by the Cox Memorial Young Adult Choir, the Emmanuel Celestial Herald Choir and the Zion Wall Young People's Mixed Choir. This segment is sponsored by the Young People's Christian League of Cox Memorial F.W.B. Church.

The speaker for the week will be Minister Albert Morgan of Bridgeton, New Jersey. Services will be held at a different church each evening beginning at 7:30.

On Monday, Nov. 22, service will be held at the Union Baptist Church, 904 Roxboro Street, where Dr. Grady D. Davis is pastor. Music will be rendered by the Union Baptist Young Adult Choir, The Ebenezer Choral Ensemble and the True Way Holy Church Young Adult Choir.

Tuesday, Nov. 23, Oak Grove Free Will Baptist Church, corner of Colfax and Simmons Street, will host the revival. Rev. Z.D. Harris is pastor. Music will be rendered by the Oak Grove Hallelujah Choir, the First Calvary Young Adult Gospel Chorus and the Community Baptist Young Adult Choir.

Wednesday, Nov. 24, service will be held at the Mount Calvary Christian Church on Athens Street. Rev. J.C. Cheek is the pastor. Music will be presented by the Orange Grove Pilgrim Wanderers, the Mount Calvary Echoes and the Mount Olive Echoes.

On Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 25, the New Generation Singers and guest, Minister Morgan, will fellowship (dinner included) with Chaplain Cynthia Hale and the Butner Federal Prison inmates, and service in the main auditorium.

Friday, Nov. 26, at 1 p.m., the Coleman Memorial Singers, special guests of the New Generation Singers, and company of Wilmington, Delaware will arrive in two buses at the Downtowner Motor Inn. There will be a banquet at 4 p.m. At 7 p.m., the Coleman Singers will appear in the Cafeteria of Duke Hospital, North Division.

At 8 p.m., the New Generation Singers will entertain the Coleman Singers at the Fayetteville Street School by presenting a musical satire, entitled "The Country Church" which is open to the public for a donation of $1.

Saturday evening, Nov. 27, the New Generation Singers will present the first half of their Anniversary at the Mount Zion Baptist Church on Fayetteville Street, at 6 p.m. Rev. Donald Q. Fozard is the pastor. Appearing on the program will be the Voices of Peace of Durham, the Community Gospel Chorus of Selma, the United Voices Inspirational Mass Choir of Laurinburg, the Gospel Heralds of Durham and the Coleman Memorial Gospel Singers of Wilmington, Delaware. After the Coleman Singers have performed, they will go the Bell-Yeager Free Will Baptist Church on Cornwallis Road and give a concert at 7:30 p.m., to be later joined by the New Generation Singers and other groups as they leave Mount Zion.

On Sunday afternoon, Nov. 28, the New Generation Singers will return to Mount Zion to climax their Anniversary at 4 p.m. Appearing on the program will be the Bethel Male Chorus of Reidsville, the Peace Ensemble of Laurinburg, the Mount Zion Gospel Chorus, The Herndon Singers and the Coleman Memorial Gospel Singers.

Concluding the week of activities at 7:30 p.m., the New Generation Singers, along with the Coleman Memorial Gospel Singers, will be in concert at the Ebenezer Baptist Church on South Alston Avenue. Rev. Broadie Johnson is the pastor.

Everyone is invited and encouraged to take part in the anniversary celebration of this ministry through song. New Generation members are: Annette Love, Jackie Mason, Inez Williams, Brenda Burney, Beverly Goss, of an ad hoc committee established during the convention to pursue the lobbying office idea, seven organizations have pledged $3,000 each, or a total of $21,000 to launch the lobbying office.

"I think it's a quantum leap on the part of black professionals to be more effective in influencing public policy," said Charles Daye, dean of NCCU's law school and a member of the ad hoc committee. "This is a start. Obviously you have to crawl before you walk. Its potential is unlimited."

Daye who named the seven organizations making pledges, also mentioned the $21,000, but this figure could not be confirmed because the committee's chairman — Dr. Butterfield — could not be reached for comment.

According to Daye, the groups pledging support are: N.C. Association of Black Lawyers, Old North State Medical Society, Old North State Dental Society, The General Baptist Convention, N.C. Black Leadership Caucus and two fraternal organizations — the Prince Hall Masons and the Elks.

Mrs. Eva Clayton of Raleigh, who has also been involved in the process, said the committee will ask more groups to provide financial support for the office.

It is too early to determine just what specific the lobbyist will push, and how that agenda will be developed.

But as Mrs. Clayton noted: "It means an ever-present vigilance for blacks. It doesn't mean of getting good legislation we'll get everything we want, but the likelihood will certainly be increased."

Morrisville Notes

By Mrs. Margaret Green

The Senior Mission Circle of Hatch Grove Baptist Church will observe its third anniversary Sunday, Nov. 21, at 3 p.m. Dr. Priscilla Brodie will be the speaker.

Sympathy is extended to the Grimsley family in the death of their uncle and brother who was funeralized in Baltimore, Md., on Nov. 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Collins observed their wedding anniversary on Wednesday, Nov. 17.

Protecting Little Ones

Around 4,000 Cleveland, Ohio welfare recipients, seeking emergency aid for the winter, lined up at the Engineers Building last week. To avoid the crush, little ones were passed overhead to the entrance and wait for their parents inside the building. County commissioners have allocated an extra $1 million to help the recipients in the wake of federal cutbacks. The money will be used to pay utility bills, buy clothing and bedding.
