That President Wilson did well in making the principal message in his Thanksgiving proclamation expressive of the sincere gratitude of the nation in being permitted to enjoy the blessings of peace, while the rest of the world is at war, will be universally admitted. "Our people," he says, "have looked upon their own life as a nation with deeper comprehension, a fuller realization of their responsibilities as well well as of their blessings, and a deeper sense of the moral and practical signthe nations of the world may come to be." We have felt in our business life the depressing infludeeper sympathy for those in distress. Our nation has been remoral stimulation, While there occasion. are many other causes for thankfulness, these he wisely recognizes as the foremost.

But we owe to God more than a mere formal official acknowledgment of our gratude, which is liabi to be forgotton almost as soon plunged in war, Christian nation fighting Christian nation, brother against brother, would it not be well for us to examine our own hearts and to confess before God our national and individual shortcomings? Are his statutes written on our hearts? Do we reverence his Sabbaths? With all the abundant blessings we receive from his hand, have we been ever mindful to magnify and exalt the generous Giver? Do we acknowledge him in all ways? . Have we labored as earnestly for the exas we ought to labor?

in a spirit of recrimination. We is at this moment in every Ameriand the blessings we now emoy. But at this special time we need, a still deeper spiritual quickening. We need to consecrate ourselves divine favor. If we have set up Mammon as our idol; if we have been unduly devoted to the pursuits of power, profit and pleasure; if we have in any way strayed from the "old path," we need a reconsecration, in order that we may stand before the whole world firm and secure, as a people whose God is the Lord, to whom we have the right to look for guidance in all our affairs.

It may be, as many believe, that the gratest hour for this nation is at hand-the most momentous opportunity for exalted service it has ever - known. The democracy which the old world despised may become the chief cornerstone of a new civilization. Let us prepare for this opportunity by humbling ourse.ves before God, who loves to exalt those who do him honor. Let us plead for an increase of faith and a broader vision of world-service. With his all-wise leading we can rise equal to the Sunday and Monday. greatest of task and succeed.

Never can human nature be transformed except by divine power. The whole course of the present war has proven this. We see nations flinging away the civilization of many centuries' growth. Though we cannot now foresee the outcome, yet we have unshakable faith that the Supreme Ruler, in his own time and way, will command order to rise from the choos of empires. And when that mes, we must be ready, in obedience to his call, to render loyal and acceptable service in the great work of rehabilitating the world to his glory and for the benefit of our fellow men.-Christian Herald.
