You cannot reason with a man who is possessed with an idea; you must wait until the idea has spent itself.

Many people claim they have been healed by the laying on of hands; It often works that way with children.

Our homes would be brighter if there was more singing, and less complaining, more sunshine and sympathy and less selfishness and criticism.

Some folks would rather go two miles out of their way to find some difficulty or some unpleasantness than find something pleasant and helpful right at hand.

Other countries will be sending millions of dollars to America for foodstuffs during the next year or two. Are we preparing to reap our full share of this harvest? Plant—grow—harvest—sell!

Any man who seeks to embroil our nation with any of the nations now engaged in war, or who seeks to stir up strife among the nations of the world is a traitor to his country and an enemy to mankind.

In these days of strenuous business rivalry, the man who thinks he can win success in his business without advertising, is doomed to disappointment and failure. He can no more make a fortune that way than he can fly to the moon.

The distraction of the European war and the disturbed state of Mexico interferes to some extent with an adequate celebration of the hundred years of peace between this country and Great Britain. All the same the fact remains that for a full century the United States and Canada have lived side by side in concord and friendship. Not a gun has been fired in anger, no large garrisons have confronted each other, and no guns have been pointed menacingly at one another. It has been a real peace and not an armed truce. The world has never presented another spectacle quite the same, and it is all the more remarkable as the boundary dividing the two countries is really artificial, as lakes and rivers are not considered natural boundaries in any military sense.

During the century many grave and intricate questions affecting both countries have sprung up and called for thorough consideration and tactful statesmanship, but they have always been settled without the drawing of a sword or the shedding of a drop of blood. It is safe to say that such a happy result would not have been reached if the border had been fortified and patrolled by armed forces. The truth is both nations have acted on the principle, when at peace prepare for more peace. What a pity the nations of Europe have not acted towards each other in the same spirit. If they had the world would have been spared the dreadful horror of the present conflict.

Hertford County Infected With Southern Cattle Tick.

under quarantine. The Bureau of Animal Industry is offering to help eradicate the cattle ticks in these counties so they may be put above the quarantine line. The proposition is soon to be put up to Hertford county. In order to eradicate the cattle tick it is necessary for all cattle on tick-infested premises to be disinfected, by spraying or dipping, once every two weeks, therefore, it is impossible to free a county from ticks and quarantine until after the stock law is adopted.

The Federal government spent $400,000 and the state of North Carolina $15,000 last year in tick eradication. Of course the tax payers of Hertford county contributed their share of it; but what did they benefit from it? Quarantined cattle, such as the Hertford county cattle, bring from two and a half cents a pound less than non-quarantined cattle.
