

COUNTY MUST FIGHT INFECTIOUS DISEASES

New State Law Requires All Physicians and Householders to Report Cases to W. B. Pollard, M. D.

To reduce the number of infectious diseases in the county and thereby prevent numbers of deaths, and save thousands of dollars in the task that has recently been set before the people of the county. The new State Quarantine law imposes this task, but with it, it does not impose any hardship or impossibility. It requires only that every citizen shall do his duty in reference to any contagious disease in his household or community. It presupposes that every citizen wants to see his coin try rid of disease as far possible and will do all in his power to bring this about.

The State quarantine law, which went into effect August 1, requires that every case of certain infectious diseases in any home shall be reported within twenty-four hours by either the physician in charge or, in case physician is not called in, by the householder, to the County quarantine officer. The diseases to be reported are whooping cough, measles, diphtheria, scarlet fever, smallpox, infantile paralysis, typhoid fever and cerebro-spinal meningitis. Any home having a case of any of these diseases, when it has been reported, will have on it a large yellow placard bearing the name of the disease. If there is no yellow card on the front of the house, and if there is a case of any of the above diseases in the house, either the physician or the householder has violated the law and, consequently, is liable to indictment and to the penalty of the law.

The quarantine officer of this county is Dr. W. B. Pollard at Winton, N. C. Reports giving the name, address and school district of any child or person having a case of any of the above named diseases must be made by him within twenty-four hours after the disease has been recognized. He will once a month, publish all the names that have been reported to him in the county newspaper in order that all public-spirited citizens of the county, and those who have less sickness and death, particularly among babies, children and young adults may report to him any case that has not been reported. They may send him the name of any person who, they know, has had any of the specified diseases and whose name does not appear in the paper. Such a service on the part of any citizen will be held in strict confidence by the quarantine office and will be considered a service done for the good of humanity and for the protection of life in the county.

The names of those reported to the quarantine officer as having a contagious disease last month are: Laura Sharp, Typhoid fever. Mildred Omohundro, Diphtheria

WINTON WAVELETTES

Dr. Alfred H. Hutchins, a representative of the Radcliffe Chautauqua, delivered a most helpful and instructive religious address in the Town Hall Sunday night to a large audience. The Chautauqua starts off well. We are sure that we shall have three days of high class entertainments. It is thought that the Chautauqua will be well attended by the people of neighboring towns.

A most attractive Red Cross window display has been arranged in the Winton Drug Store. There is the little white bed on which lies a patient, with his head bandaged and his arm in a sling. There is the table with the medicine, glass and spoon; nearby is the doctor and best of all, that "angel of mercy," is there, the Red Cross nurse, ready to comfort and relieve. To view this scene has not only touched the hearts but also has touched the pocketbooks, for several dollars have been placed on the bed to aid in the work of the Red Cross.

The Winton Baptist Church observed Go-To-Sunday School Day, Sunday, September 30th. There was a large attendance and a good collection for State Missions. Each class, from the Primary to the Bible class, had a part in the exercises. During one of the exercises, the names of the boys who were once members of this Sunday School but are now wearing the uniform were read by the Secretary, and are: W. S. Britton, Charles N. Watson, Fisher Mitchell, Graves Vann, E. D. Hale, W. L. Copeland, W. W. Taylor, C. A. Pearce, and E. M. Turner.

Miss Virgilia Ward of Wallace has entered the Winton High School as a student, and will board with her sister, Mrs. A. P. Hines.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Blount and little daughter, Fannie, of Plymouth are spending a few days with Mr. C. L. Blount at the Taylor Hotel.

We are glad to report Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Hines' baby, who has been so ill all the summer, is improving. It is hoped that he will soon be well and strong.

RECITAL AT CHOWAN

Chowan College opened its public entertaining Friday evening, September 17th, when Miss Eva Lawrence, mezzo-soprano, and Miss Helen Winborne, pianist, charmed the well filled auditorium with a choice program.

Miss Lawrence was at her best, captivating her audience from the beginning. She sang with unusual ease and artistic conception, reaching the climax of her song interpretation in the rendition of "A Spirit Flower"; but never was nearer the hearts of her hearers than when she sang "His Lullaby."

Miss Winborne was a brilliant success as she interpreted Beethoven, Grieg and Chopin, with such sympathetic understanding that the delighted audience followed her with genuine appreciation. The perfection of her technique was displayed in the chosen selections from Grieg.

Both these young ladies possess marked talent and are pursuing their musical training at Peabody. Miss Ferrell of the Music Faculty of Chowan proved a sympathetic accompanist.—Reported.

Agricultural Fairs Meeting Needs of People.

The old saying that "Fairs are timepieces that mark the progress of nations" was never more true than at the present time. It is with gratitude that those interested in the agricultural progress of the State note this substantial and rapid progress. There are approximately more nearly each year what an ideal agricultural fair should be.

The careful and intelligent selection and exhibition of agricultural products of different kinds will have great educational value not only for the growers of the crops exhibited, but also for all those who may see and study the displays.

Under the splendid system of judging that has been established at most of the fairs, the following are some of the features, which will be taught and impressed:

- 1 The value of good seed of different crops selected by proper methods of seed selection.
2 The importance and value of growing the best suited varieties of different crops.
3 The importance and value of proper classification and grading of farm products.
4 The value of leguminous crops in crop rotation for use in building up economically the fertility of our North Carolina soils.
5 The necessity on the part of the farmer for providing growing crops with the right kind of cultivation and fertilization.
6 The importance of selecting crops best suited to the conditions and needs of different farmers in different localities engaged in varying lines of agriculture in order that he may get the most out of his farming operations.

In other words, the fair is an institution whose function is chiefly educational in its nature and is one of the most effective agencies for taking direct to the people in concrete form the latest and most important information pertaining to agriculture, horticulture, domestic science, and household economics, stock raising, manufacturing, mining, and road construction.—C. B. Williams, Chief, Division of Agronomy.

RESULT OF EYESTRAIN

Eyestrain, being the most common cause of nervous derangement, may disturb any function of the body. It produces more pain than any other ailment. Yet, as far as the eyes themselves are concerned, the average sufferer from eyestrain experiences no loss of power of vision or pain. If therefore, you are subject to headaches, the "blues," nervousness, listlessness, drowsiness, sleeplessness, or the like, it is more than likely that you have eyestrain.

Consult Dr. Masrow, Norfolk's eyesight specialist, and he will examine your eyes and advise you if glasses will relieve any of the above troubles or not. His office is located at 405, in the Dickson Building. Adv.

SECOND LIBERTY LOAN CAMPAIGN HAS BEGUN

Secretary W. G. McAdoo Announces Second Issue of Liberty Loan Bonds Which Went on Sale October 1st.

(By W. S. McAdoo, Secretary of Treasury.)

For the purpose of equipping with arms, clothing and food our gallant soldiers who have been called to the field; maintaining our Navy and our valiant tars upon high seas; providing the necessary means to pay the wages of our soldiers and sailors and, if the bill now pending in the Congress passes, the monthly allowances for the support of their dependent families and to supply them with life insurance;

constructing a great fleet of merchant vessels to maintain the line of communication with our brave troops in France, and to keep our commerce afloat upon the high seas in defiance of the German Kaiser and his submarines;

creating a great fleet of aeroplanes, which will give complete supremacy in the air to the United States; and the brave nations fighting with us against the German military menace, and for other necessary war purposes,

The Congress of the United States has authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to sell to the American people bonds of the United States bearing four per cent interest, with valuable tax exemptions, and convertible under conditions into other issues of United States bonds that may be authorized by the Congress. The official circular of the Treasury Department gives full particulars.

There is now offered to the American people a new issue of $3,000,000,000 of bonds to be known as the Second Liberty Loan. They will be issued in such denominations and upon such terms that every patriotic citizen will have an opportunity to assist the government by lending his money upon the security of a United States bond.

It is essential to the success of the war and to the support of our gallant troops that these loans shall not only be subscribed, but over-subscribed. No one is asked to donate or give his money to the Government; but everyone is asked to lend his money to the Government. The loans will be repaid in full with interest at the rate of four per cent per annum. A Government bond is the safest investment in the world; it is good as currency and yet better, because the Government bond bears interest and currency does not. No other investment compares with it for safety, ready convertibility into cash, and unquestioned availability as collateral security for loans in any bank in the United States.
