Those who attended the services in the Baptist Church on Friday evening were fully repaid for the effort they made in going. Mr. Daily's address was full of information on the prohibition question. Several signed the pledge cards to help support the Anti-Saloon League. Mr. and Mrs. Cotton delighted the audience by singing a duet: "Gently Lead Us." Mrs. Cotton also sang a solo, "Have I done my best?" This was the first time that Mrs. Cotton had sung in public in Winton; and everyone was charmed with her voice which is a clear sweet soprano.

No Relief for Carolina Farmers

Norfolk, Feb. 15—Farmers and truckers of the Tidewater sections of Virginia and North Carolina at a mass meeting this afternoon were frankly advised by officials of the government departments that there was little hope of any improvement in the farm labor situation and that while the government would do all in its power to ameliorate conditions, that it was up to the tillers of the soil to put forth every effort to meet the extraordinary condition and to maintain the productivity of the farms at the highest possible standard. It was declared their patriotic duty to stick to the land and do their bit by seeing that it is cultivated.

The meeting was called to advise with the Federal expert Government representatives attending and delivering addresses were Assistant Secretary Ousley, Department of Agriculture; Assistant Director Clayton of the Employment Bureau and Dr. H. L. Russell of the Food Administration.

The chief suggestion of the day, made by Assistant Secretary Ousley, was that the farmers as far as possible make the deficiency in farm labor the employment of patriotic women and children. The experts visited nearby farms to obtain first-hand information as to present conditions.

MILL NECK PERSONALS

Seeing in your paper, asking letters from different sections, for the "Boys." Several from this community are in the various camps. A few weeks ago indications were that we would soon hear of the boys coming home, but our boys all seem loyal to the Flag and will fight for a world's victory, and wear a hero's honor.

Mrs. J. S. Winborne is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Fred White of Harrellsville this week.

Farmers are busy preparing tobacco beds, since we have had a week of sunshine.

Mr. William Lassiter, of South Norfolk, was brought out last Thursday, and buried in the family plot of Mr. Thomas Taylor.

Mr. Lassiter was reared in this section, married Miss Nannie Taylor. For five or six years he has made South Norfolk his home. Most of his life was spent in this community, and he was a good and useful citizen and a Christian.

We will ever remember his heartfelt talks. He would so often say "I can only express my feelings in an humble way." We extend our sympathy to his loved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Rae visited relatives in Aulander Sunday.

Several from this section attended the oyster supper at Harrellsville for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Master Luther Winborne is sick at this writing. We hope his stay in bed will not be for long.

We regret to report the death of another Confederate Veteran—Mr. William Blount Norvell, in his 82nd year, and oldest citizen in this community. It was his pleasure to attend the Reunion of the Confederate Soldier comrades. The unveiling of the Confederate monument in Winton was the last time he was able to meet with them.

Mr. Norvell was a useful citizen. For a number of years he was the only blacksmith in this section. His health has been declining for several years but his last sickness was brief, being only a few days. Burial services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Lineberry of Colerain Baptist Church of which he had been a member for many years, and he was a regular attendant as long as his health permitted.

A large concourse of friends attended his burial. We extend our sympathy to his three sons, who are left to mourn his loss.

Women Will Aid War Saving Campaign

Over 22000 Women Pledged to Work on War Savings Campaign—Women Will Make W. S. S. "Go Over the Top" Says Governor Bickett

Over 22,000 organized women in North Carolina pledged to make the War Savings Campaign of this State "go over the top" before the end of this year was the feature of the last meeting of the War Savings Institute held in Raleigh on Wednesday of last week. Fourteen thousand of these women are engaged or organized farm women who are pledged by Mrs. Jane S. McKinnon, State home demonstration agent. The remaining 8,000 were the club women of the State whose pledge was given by Mrs. Clarence A. Johnson, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Speaking for the women of the country Mrs. McKinnon said that the country women are patriotic, and that many of them were learning to save but what they needed most is to know how to invest safely their savings. Therefore Mrs. McKinnon said, the War Savings plan of saving and investing was a most welcome opportunity and a work the country people would enter heartily into. She believed that the 250,000 or more country women affiliated with the caning and other club work in the country could be counted on to take the lesson of Thrift in every home and practically every person in the country.

Mrs. Johnson said she considered this call of the Government to the club women of the State at this time a test of their efficiency. For eight years they have been organized for civic consciousness and that their experience in organizing and working together would particularly qualify them for this work. That the club women of the State will not fail at this supreme hour was Mrs. Johnson's message.

The work of organizing War Savings Societies particularly the plan of converting existing organizations into War Savings Societies was endorsed by both groups of women and this will be the first work that the organized women in the State will take up. The next sixty days will be a campaign to get every citizen of this State into a War Savings Society. This plan of saving, investing and getting others to save has already been adopted by State and National authorities as the foundation and purpose of the War Savings Campaign.

AND NOW THEY ARE COOKING TOBACCO TO MAKE IT BETTER

For a good many years The American Tobacco Company have been conducting a series of experiments having as their object the improvement of smoking tobacco.

And it is interesting to know that one of the greatest of their discoveries was one of the simplest, and that was, that cooking or toasting tobacco improved it in every way, just as cooking most foods improves them.

They took a real Burley tobacco, grown in this country; toasted it as you would toast bread; moistened it to replace the natural moisture driven off by toasting; made it into cigarettes, called them "LUCKY STRIKE," the toasted cigarette, and offered them to the public.

The result has been the greatest demand ever created for any tobacco product in a similar length of time.
