Best Remedy for Whooping Cough. "Last winter when my little boy had the whooping cough I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. J. B. Roberts, East St. Louis, Ill. "It kept his cough loose and relieved him of those dreadful coughing spells. It is the only cough medicine I keep in the house because I have the most confidence in it." This remedy is also good for colds and croup. Adv.

OWES EYE RELIEF TO DR. J. E. MASROW

Virginia Women Tells of Years of Suffering Before Consulting Noted Eyesight Specialist.

That long-standing, obstinate cases of eye-suffering are speedily relieved through the skill of Dr. Masrow, Norfolk's well known eyesight specialist, is evidenced by many letters the Doctor receives from his grateful patrons. The following unsolicited testimonial tells of the failure of others to bring relief and of the great benefit received by the writer from wearing glasses fitted by Dr. Masrow.

Tabernacle, Matthews Co., Va. March 11, 1918.

Dear Dr. Masrow.

It is with utmost pleasure that I write you of the great good you have done for me. I had been suffering with my eyes for a long time—had glasses from two different oculists, but for all that I realized that my eyes were gradually growing worse. It soon became apparent that I could not do without glasses at all.

You fitted me with glasses (Nov. 5th, 1917), which I wore for ninety days steady, at the end of which period you changed them for another pair. Words can scarcely express the wonderful change that has taken place! I can now do without my glasses for an hour or two at a time, with no bad after-effects whatever, and I seldom have a headache or pain about the eyes. I owe it all to you, and shall ever urge those who suffer as I have suffered to go to you for relief, as I feel sure that you will be able to help them if anybody can.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) Mrs. E. T. Hurst.

Dr. Masrow's Office is in the Dickson-Building, corner Granby and Tazewell streets. His charges for glasses, considering the high class of his work, are very moderate in some cases his total charges for examination and glasses being as low as $5. Sunday office hours, from 11 to 12, week-day hours from 9 to 5. Adv.

ONE HUNDRED MERCIFUL MILLIONS
By HERBERT KAUFMAN

ONE Hundred Millions for the Red Cross and not one penny of it for red tape.

The mightiest charity, the noblest and broadest volunteer movement of history.

The Red Cross shares no enmities, serves no flag but its own. It is God's agent, His healing, merciful will—the answer of twenty ever-gentler centuries to red barbarism.

Twelve million orphan children are wandering about Europe—twelve million frightened little boys and terrorized little girls, sent adrift to sob alone and perish in the wastes—to live like swine and die like curs, unless magnificent America ransoms them from death—and worse.

How many of your pitying dollars will search the desolations and save them for Tomorrow's works?

The Red Cross needs another Hundred Million, to glean the battle areas for this precious seed before it rots in mind and body—before grief and horror and disease and unrestraint irrevocably blight them.

One Hundred Millions to prevent famine and stifle pestilence, to stamp out hideous fevers, to check an earth-wide wave of tuberculosis, to destroy shuddering filths where verminous plagues feed and breed and threaten all the universe.

One Hundred Millions to found hospitals and build rest stations, to send nurses to the Front and refugees back, to forward surgical units and furnish artificial limbs, to buy medicines and operating instruments, to re-educate the mutilated and show the blind where Hope still shines.

One Hundred Millions to maintain communication with detention camps, to provide war prisoners with food and decencies, to take messages out and bring letters in, to negotiate comforts and privileges for the captured, to buy blankets for them and clothes and books and tobacco.

One Hundred Millions for No Man's Land—for stretchers and ambulances, for anesthesia and bandages and anti-septics; to train nurses and orderlies, to outfit and transport skilled specialists, to make sure that a dear one shall have a clean, sweet cot and a sweet, clean girl from home beside it.

One Hundred Millions to keep the world sound and wholesome, while the armies of Justice hold it safe.

I Am the Red Cross
HENRY PAYSON DOWSE
(With acknowledgments to Robert H. Davis, author of "I Am the Printing Press.")

I am the Symbol of the pity of God.
I burgeon upon the flaunting banner of victory and the drooping guidon of defeat.
I am the token of peace in the midst of battle, of gentleness shining through the sombre mists of hate.
I am a chevron on the sleeve of mercy, an honor mark set high upon the brow of compassion.
I am the color of blood spilled for democracy, the form of Christ's tree of agony, and my followers, at need, crucify themselves to make men live.
I carry the hope of life into the red pits of death, and a dying soldier salutes me and smiles as he goes to touch the hand of God Almighty.
I stand for the organized love of mankind, the co-ordinated impulses of young and old to do good, the sacred efficiency of human service.
I mark the flag under which are mobilized the forces of industry and finance, of church and school, of capital, of labor, of genius and of sinew.
I am Civilization's Godspeed to those who defend her; I am the message from home.
I am the Symbol of the pity of God.
I AM THE RED CROSS.

750 Children Herded In Dirty Dilapidated Building Typical Red Cross Case

An official of a French city that was being filled with gas bombs by the Germans found himself confronted with the problem of looking after 750 children. He telegraphed the American Red Cross in Paris for help. Fifteen trained workers were rushed to the relief of these children. Here is what the Red Cross workers found: Twenty-one tiny babies under one year old and 729 children under eight years. They were herded in an old, dirty, unfurnished building, without a suggestion of sanitary convenience. It was the best and the French official could do at that moment, but you would not put it in for a dog. And here is what the Red Cross workers did in two days: They thoroughly cleaned and transferred to new buildings outside the city the entire 750 children. Red Cross doctors attended the sick; nurses were secured for the babies. Suitable food was provided for all, and they were so classified as to provide against the separation of families; also an organization for the permanent care of these children, including their education, was started and has since been put into operation. So much for the 750. But how about the thousands upon thousands of others. Right now the little children of France are at your doors crying for food, shelter, protection against German brutality and dying, as they cry.

UNITED STATES FOOD ADMINISTRATION

Plan Your War Garden Now, Save Time and Money.

HELP INCREASE OUR EXPORT FOOD STOCKS
IN CITY and country more war gardens are needed this year than ever before. Patriotism prompted 2,000,000 Americans to plant gardens last year, according to estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture. Transportation facilities of the nation will be strained this year hauling millions of war and foods for the Allies. The surplus food created by home gardens will help in the railroad problem. And the nation will eat less of the goods we must export—wheat, meat, fats and sugar. Every boy and girl that helps with the garden is helping win the war. Leaflets of instruction in garden making may be secured from the Department of Agriculture at Washington, upon request, without charge.
