NOT RILED BUT GENEROUS

Editor Matthews, of the . Windsor Ledger, is surprised at | * the criticism of its neighbor, the " HERALD, in recent editorial squibs. The lawyer-editor accuses us of being "riled," and * only to that statement do we take exception. A little sarcasm is mixed with his admission that his paper has been commended. by reproductions of its editorials, from all parts of the * State. We share with the brother his elation and evident pleasure at being 'copied'. Frankly, the HERALD feels kindly towards its neighbor, the Ledger, and the management of this paper has something akin to a personal interest in Bertie's only newspaper, remembering that upon several occasions have we been approached by citizens of Bertie, including the present editor of the Ledger, asking that we conduct a weekly newspaper for Mr. Matthews * people.

No, we are not 'riled;' we offered the neighbor brother a little bit of advice, born of experience (six years of it). Our criticism was of the constructive sort-the kind which offers something to replace that | * which is criticised. Were we inclined to offer the destructive kind, Mr. Matthews's paper also might offer a good target; but not so, for our neighbor is new in the newspaper field. Incidentally, we commend to him a freer use of the constructive kind of criticism in dealing with men and principles. Even tho sarcastically admitting that "it Finsh the Kidneys at once when Back-is the last word on the subject ... achy or Bladder bothers—Meat how to run and especially edit a country newspaper," our Windsor contemporary refuses to heed such good advice, as the HERALD has been disposed to give him.

As a matter of information, as well as to satisfy Mr. Matthews why we wrote "at this particular time" the HERALD would offer a sustaining alibi, since it was only recently placed on the Ledger's exchange de partment, through the kindness of a brother of the editor of the HERALD, who laboured in the Windsor office during his recent vacation.

Our advice already given in the previous issues was absolutely free; and, like the old adage, Mr. Matthews thinks it is worth about half what it cost. However, Mr. Matthews is a novice in newspapering; and will probably never reach the heights he could, except by a whole-time devotion to his newspaper.

* A Country Editor's Creed *

I BELIEVE IN MY JOB. I believe that running a good country newspaper which serves and represent its community is a bigger job than runing the bigest metropolitan daily. Bemetropolitan daily. cause of my belief:

I shall respect and hon-or my profession, believing that it is a high calling.

I shall at all times be fair to everyone in my com munity, expecting frequently to be charged with being unfair.

I shall not discriminate against the person who is not an advertiser in my paper or who does not buy printing of me.

I shall not be afraid to champion the poor man's cause for fear of the wrath of the rich man.

Nor shall I be afraid to stand by the rich man at the time he is right, for the fear of being charged with having sold out to him.

I shall temper justice with mercy. My columns shall not shout aloud to my community the shame of an individual or of a family when that shouting can render my community no

On the other hand I shal not condone evil doing in high places, lest publishing the news or evil deed to my community my pocetbook suffer.

I shall scan what goes on into my advertising col- * umns as closely as that which goes into my news columns, realizing that every column of my paper speaks of me.

I shall always rememgame but a responsibility and when I write I shall make sure what motive is behind my utterances.

I shall not hate my competitor, but remember he s human and likely to err the same as I.

I shall always pay my dues to, attend regularly my local, state and nationeditorials associations.

I shall charge what my work is worth, realizing by so doing I can · serve my community best.

In brief I shall conduct my newspaper like a gen- * tleman and a Christian, realizing that no ministry is more sacred than that to which I have been called. *

forms uric scid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by finshing the kidney: occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, aleepleasness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a senestion of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable phermacy and take a tablespoonful is a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer osuses irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can-not injure; makes a delightful effer-vescent lithia-water drink which all reg-ular meat esters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kid-

CROP REPORT FOR WEEK ENDING OCTOBER 10

Light Frost Reported and Good Weather for Harvesting The Fall Hay, According to Reporters

Raleigh, Oct. 17,-A light frost in the piedmont and coastal sections of North Carolina are reported and a killing frost in the mountain areas are reported by the county agents to the Crop Reporting Service for the week ending October 10. The weather bureau reports fa-vorable weather for cutting hay and late forage crops wheat are going forward and fall plowing is making satisfac-tory progress. The harvesting of corn is well under way, the crop being entirely harvested in many areas. Most of the cotton crop of the state is open at this time and is moving to the markets in large volumes. The unusually warm weather in Sep tember and the crop is being gathered rapidly. The market ing of tobacco, which is practically all harvested, is in full swing, sales are reported as very moderate. Late gardens are being planted in some of the southern piedmont counties and the truck is reported to have im proved in Forsyth, but the crop is generally poor. A great deal of hay has been harvested, the crop being below normal in its yield and ranging in quality from fair to poor. Pastures are improving some what but in the most localities the fields were permanently ruined by the recent drought and the rains lately have not benefitted them.

Cattle are reported to be in need of pastures and in some piedmont areas tobacco scarce and thin, but they average fair to medium over the state. Hogs are normal in supply and in the condition.

Farm work generally is up-to-date and harvesting of all peanuts, cotton picking are also in progress in the eastern sec-tion of the state. Cover crops are being planted.

Took Clothes; Punched Nose; Are Wife's Woes

Seattle, Wash.—Married 80 days—and then divorce! Asserting that her husband secured all of hen clothes, locked her in an isolated room and then left their home, taking the clothing with him, Mrs. Willens White recently filed suit for di-vorce against Roy White.

The couple was married only little more than two months ago, on May 31, 1921, says the ago, on may 31, 1921, says the complaint and have quarreled continually since that time. It is charged that the husband struck his wife and choked her; that he called her vile names that he threatened to shoot both her and her mother and that he has frequently insulted her before her friends.

Mrs. White asks the return of her maiden name, Willena Roberts.

ANT BEARS PROVE VALUABLE

Frült and Vegetable Grewers of State of Washington Experimenting With Thom.

Yakima, Wash.—Experiments are seing made here by fruit and vagetable growers with the ant bear, who natural home is in the central portion of South America, as a means of destroying grasshoppers, melon bugs and aphis, which are a pest in Northwest states.

Edward J. Hiner procures three of the animals, two females and one male, from the government experi-mental station in the City of Maxico. and they are rapidly becoming acclimated and fattening on the insect

The ant bear destroys potato bugs, locusts and other injurious insects with great avidity, seemingly eating all the while. Unlike its northern cousin, the ant bear does not hibernate in the winter and as there are fewer insects during the cold season, Hiner has taught the bears to sleep in his greenhouses. and while in that semi-tropical temperature they can keep down the insects that endanger the winter culture of tender plants.

. Ant bears of this species are about Ant hears of this species are about the size of a spaniel dog and possess long stiff hairy coats of fur. The pe-culiar shaped head comes to a sharp point, from which a long red tongue issues, the insects sticking to the se-cretion covering it. By wrapping the slender tongue about the stem of an infested tree the aphis are secoped off by hundreds.
