LIBRARY TO BE ENLARGED

Library to Be Enlarged

Our school is covering a wide range of fiction, library masterpieces, and reference books, is to be enlarged in a few weeks, according to the statement made by Professor Wright, Monday in the Chapel. His intention, he says, is to enlist the help of all students and patrons, as well, who feel inclined to help this cause by contributing a few cents every week until the books are paid for. In this way, no one will miss the small amount contributed, and all will be benefited. The great value of a library in a school; especially a High School, cannot be overruled, and every student owes it to himself and to the school to help the good cause, even tho it be only a few cents. The name of the grade making the largest donation to this cause will be published next week.

University Representative Visits School

Mr. Daniel L. Grant, of the University of North Carolina, was with the Senior Class for a short while Friday, for the purpose of collecting data, etc. The University is attempting to remedy the situation caused by the lack of intercourse between the High schools and colleges of the state, and bring about a closer relationship between the two. It is in the interest of this work that Mr. Grant is visiting the high schools of North Carolina.

Uninvited Criticism Places Staff in Perplexing Situation

The Staff has recently been disturbed by many disparaging remarks and some rather caustic criticism, made by persons from whom we would least expect such an attitude to be displayed. This places us in doubt as to whether to continue this department or cut it out. Our endeavor has been to present school news and other miscellany pertaining to our School activities, in an impartial, concise manner, and it is indeed a regrettable fact that our efforts meet with such ill favor, on the part of many. We are willing and anxious to be perfectly frank on any question, and it will be considered a favor if those who are continually finding fault with the articles offered herein to either desist, or to point out to us where in our error lies, that we may correct them.

—CHAFF—

Kenneth: "Kate, what modifies a man?"
Kate (promptly): "An adverb."
Klass: "Katie, yon win."

"C. C." wants to see his name in print. Here it is: See See Sessoms, c. c. Sessoms. C. C. Sessoms, Etc.

Earle (on Chemistry class): "Mr. Wright, they say if you eat a yeast cake, and then drink a Coca-Cola, it's a real substitute; makes you drunk."
Class: "What effect would such a mixture have?"
Mr. Wright: "I would say, it would mean Forever Blowing Bubbles."
