

Editor Hertford Herald,
Dear Sir: I noticed in your paper of last week, an editorial concerning the street and road work being done in and around Ahsokie. Relative to the dragging and harrowing of roads with high-powered trucks, I beg to advise that no truck of higher power than a Ford has pulled a harrow on any road in the county. We did harrow a little in Harrellsville township with a Ford truck, but a Ford truck is not made to pull a drag or harrow either. The Mack trucks have been pulling drags when we could get out at all.

I will admit as you say that the trucks cost more than a Fordson tractor. In the first place it is against the State law to run a Fordson or any other tractor with cleats on the wheels on any public road, second, place, they were not made to do road work and if put to the work that the trucks will do, would not last at the very longest over sixty days, without repairs that would amount to the first cost of the tractor. You say the trucks cost around three thousand dollars and the Fordson tractor six to eight hundred dollars, but you are mistaken. The trucks cost about four thousand and the tractor about five hundred; about seven and one half times less.

I have never known a Fordson tractor to do heavy road work for more than two months but I do know a Mack that has been doing road work for more than six years every day that weather was so that they could get out with it and the only repairs have been the drive chains and the cost of operating it is the same as the Fordson. I too believe that every taxpayer in the county should know where every penny of the public money goes and should try to see that they get all that is possible for it; therefore I ask every reader of this paper to ask any reputable road builder who buys his own equipment and pays for it out of his own pocket, if the figures here are not ninety nine per cent. correct. There is one tractor—the Holt Caterpillar, ten tons, that will do real road work, that costs $4,250. but the track they run on will last only from forty to sixty days and a new track costs $980 at the factory. I would thank this paper to write to any of the real road people about this matter and print their replies for the benefit of the people of Hertford county.

Respectfully,
F. G. HINES.

HOW DO YOU LISTEN TO SCANDAL?

When scandalous or unpleasing stories are told to you, do you first consider the source or do you believe them first and investigate after?

Some persons are so gullible that they believe everything anyone says in their hearing.

Others are so glad to get something on one of their friends or neighbors that they do not care to investigate to know whether the tales are true or not.

That seems a rather hard statement, but when so many things are circulated that are false it seems as the truth might have been known had any one inquired.

When anyone come to you with a malicious story about any one you know, if you will reply after this fashion—"Too bad. I certainly must see So and So (mentioning the name of the one slandered,) and give him, (or her) an opportunity to refute such a statement," you may be surprised at how it affects the tale-bearer.

Just try this out your first opportunity, for it has been known to silence the bitterest comment and stop idle words which no other way could do.

The story which comes "just between ourselves" as they like to put it, should come under the same category, when it turns out to be damaging.—J. J. Mundy in Roanoke Times.

To The Alumnae And Former Students Of Chowan College

When we sent out a call to the Alumnae and former students of Chowan, last May, nearly three hundred came to the Commencement. Again, a goodly number met on Home-Coming Day in October. Both occasions were filled with pleasure and enthusiasm.

Now from Alumnae, in the west comes a request for a banquet to be held at the Chamber of Commerce on the evening of March 29th, during the session of the State W. M. U. which convenes in Charlotte.

We are hoping that many will send in their applications for plates accompanied by one dollar, to Miss Carrie McLean, 312 Law Building, Charlotte, N. C.

THERE IS PLACE ON MOST FARMS FOR TURKEYS, DUCKS OR GESE

Hen Will Always Be the Leader Among Farm Poultry.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Farmers give much attention to various combinations and rotations of crops, endeavoring to secure an arrangement that is most profitable for each individual farm. They do the same in selecting the kinds and numbers of live stock. But not so much attention is paid to the selection of poultry to suit the peculiar conditions of farms and neighborhoods. The hen will always be the leader among farm poultry, says the United States Department of Agriculture, but she requires the aid of turkeys, guineas, geese and ducks, just as on a dairy farm the cow often requires the aid of pigs and sheep to make the farm business most profitable.

Ducks Gather Food From Streams.
Where grain fields of neighboring farms are in proximity to the barn and dooryard it would, perhaps, be better not to keep turkeys. The farm through which no streams run, and which has no large pond, would probably be better without ducks. But the circumscribed farm, on which turkeys would be a disadvantage, may be supplied with a small pool so located that ducks would be profitable, and the farm that has no streams and ponds may have large range for turkeys.

Turkeys, ranging further afield, prey upon the insects that escape the hens. From the time the poult is old enough to forage until near frost, they take the bulk of their feed from field insects, devouring millions of grasshoppers and other injurious worms that feed on crops. In regions where wooded areas are still fairly extensive mast is an important item in the diet of the turkey. When the supply of insects begins to fail the mast larder begins filling up. Feeding on acorns, chestnuts, beechnuts and the like, turkeys will go a long way toward fattening themselves for the Thanksgiving or Christmas market, and will not require much feeding of corn or other grain to finish them. Generally speaking, turkeys will require a larger feeding of grain than chickens to finish them for market, but as they utilize forms of waste that hens and their broods would not reach, the keeping of a few turkeys is good economy. The finishing period is short.

INCREASING SALES OF MILK Campaigns Have Been Inaugurated in Various Sections to Boost Dairy Products.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Consumption of milk is on the increase as a result of the milk campaign of the United States Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural colleges and local agencies, inaugurated to extend and increase the use of milk and other dairy products in cities, towns and rural districts.

Cleanliness is Most Essential in Production of Milk.

The increase in sales of milk as a result of these educational campaigns carried on during the past year in 11 states, 15 cities and 4 counties range from 3.5 to 35 per cent, the average increase being 15 per cent. The health of the children has been improved while undernourishment has been reduced.

Nutrition clinics have been held, and underweight, poorly fed children have improved greatly in health as a consequence of the more general and intelligent use of milk as a daily food. In Kansas City a previous survey showed a condition of 80 per cent undernourishment among the children, while after the milk campaign and regular instruction in health habits, a second investigation showed that malnutrition has been reduced to 15 per cent. Of late milk campaigns have been held in Madison, Wis.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Seattle, Wash.; Greenville, S. C.; Akron, O.; Warren, O.; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Springfield, Mass.; Okaloosa, Ia.; Baltimore, Md.; Oakland county, Michigan; Cumberland county, Maryland, and Jacksonville and Duval county, Florida.

Despite disturbed industrial conditions, increases in milk consumption have been effective, and even in places of much unemployment the quantity of milk consumption has been kept up to normal. In nearly all cases the milk consumption subsequent to the milk campaigns has been greater than it ever was before.

SPACE REQUIRED BY CALVES Individual Pens Are Good When Farmer Can Afford Them—Labor is Expensive.
Twenty to twenty-five square feet of floor space exclusive of mangers should be provided for calves under six months old. Individual pens are good when one can afford them, but they are more costly on account of the large amount of material necessary for pen walls, space required, and labor in cleaning them than pens holding four or five calves apiece. The latter are entirely satisfactory provided the calves are stanchioned while being fed.

GIVE PIGS WORM TREATMENT Young Animals Should Be Looked After as Soon as Weaned—Clean Pasture Favored.
Pigs should always be given worm treatment immediately after weaning. If necessary give them a second dose two weeks after the first. If they are then turned on a good alfalfa, clover or rape pasture and are fed grain in addition so that they remain thrifty there is little danger of further trouble from worms. In other words keeping hogs reasonably free from worms is not a difficult thing to do, if they are looked after at the proper time.
