THE BANK OF WINTON, HERTFORD CO'S TREAS.

The bank which gives modern progressive banking service is bound to attract not only attention but patrons, and when the management of a bank recognizes that it owes to the community it serves that cannot be given by any other institution, its success is assured.

The Bank of Winton, ever since its organization in 1913, it having begun business in July of that year, has been an institution which put service to the community and county above all else.

For years it has been the treasurer of Hertford County, and it serves officially have been highly commended by the board of commissioners and other officials as well as those with whom it has dealt in that capacity.

The bank is conducted along the most liberal lines commensurate with the principles of safe and sane banking, and it has always stood ready and willing to give of its services and resources in supporting the great agricultural section of this territory. It has been the means of tiding over many farmers as well as aiding other interests during financial depressions as well as it has been a bulwark of strength in bolstering up the financial equilibrium of the county.

The bank's building is a cement structure with burglar and fireproof vault, mahogany fixtures and every modern convenience.

On a paid-in capital of $9,6000, the bank now has undivided profits of $6,749.51 and resources of $156,000.

Its officers and directors are among the most prominent citizens of Hertford County, and are deeply interested in the welfare and development of this section of the State.

COFIELD MFG. CO. COFIELD, N. C.

One of Hertford County's most successful enterprises, which annually brings thousands and thousands of dollars into the community of Cofield and other sections of the county, is the Cofield Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of a high grade of pine staves for slack coepage.

This company, which has been in business since 1908, employs not less than twenty-five men at all times in its operations at cutting much of its own timber and in operating a modern stave mill at Cofield.

The average output of the concern is 15,000 staves daily, and it utilizes two trucks in getting logs to the mill.

In the near future it expects to install a sawmill of its own in order to further enlarge its operations.

This will enable it to give employment to more men, and will add to the value of the company to the prosperity and substantiability of Cofield.

Its products are in great demand and it is kept busy filling orders from the Eastern part of North Carolina and Virginia.

Mr. H. B. Cross, a prominent merchant of Suffolk, is president of the company. Mr. B. G. Williams, of Cofield, is secretary and treasurer, and Mr. H. L. Williams, of Cofield, is general manager.

The Messrs. Williams are among the best known and most prominent business men of Hertford County, and are natives of Gates county.

Mr. B. G. Williams is a member of the Methodist Church and of the County School Board, and takes an active interest in educational as well as other public affairs.

Mr. H. L. Williams is also a member of the Methodist Church. He is a Mason and a splendid executive.

HERRING & BEALE, MER'CTS., WINTON, N. C.

Modern mercantile methods mean more business. No matter how large or how small the town, it is the methods used which make the store, and that is the reason the firm of Herring & Beale at Winton has built up such an extensive trade—one that extends for miles and miles around Winton into both Hertford and Gates Counties.

The firm which is composed of Messrs. M. R. Herring and J. D. Beale has been in business a number of years. It carries an extensive stock of dry goods, notions, men's and boy's clothing, shoes for every member of the family, ladies' ready-to-wear garments, novelties, toilet articles and preparations, and everything found in a modern department store.

The stock is exceedingly well selected and attractively arranged. A force of kind accommodating clerks is at the service of customers, and the motto of the store is honest merchandise at honest prices.

Never in its career has the firm of Herring & Beale been accused of profiteering, and it has established a reputation for square dealing of which its members are justly proud.

MERCHANTS & FARMERS BANK, WINTON, N. C.

A bank is judged by its policies in the public mind, and the public is quick to learn what those policies are.

Throughout its career of 19 years the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Winton has constantly striven to be a factor in the growth, prosperity and development of Hertford and also Gates Counties, and how well it has succeeded may best be judged by its strength today and the hold it has on the heart of the people of this entire section.

Not only the oldest bank in Hertford County but its strongest and the most progressive financial institution the Merchants and Farmers Bank has been a potent factor in maintaining the financial equilibrium of the entire section in good times and in depression and it has always stood ready with its resources to back the great agricultural interests which is the backbone of the community.

The bank is located in its own handsome home in a beautiful brick building with tiled floors and oak furniture. A burglar and fireproof vault affords ample protection for the funds and papers of the bank and its customers, and it is equipped with triple time extension locks.

The bank handles the accounts of firms, individuals and corporations, and spares no pains to give the highest grade of service to its clients and the public generally. No deserving person or enterprise has ever been refused the support of the Merchants & Farmers Bank in so far as it could consistently give aid, and it has been of material assistance in tiding farmers over times of depression.

On a capital stock of $25,000, the bank has a surplus of $25,000 and resources of $300,000. Its deposits are approximately a quarter of a million dollars.

Four percent is paid on time and saving deposits and it is a factor in encouraging thrift in the community.

Mr. W. P. Shaw, Jr., prominent merchant of Winton, is president of the bank; Mr. W. L. Daniel is vice-president; Mr. J. P. Mitchell, cashier; Mr. P. S. Jordan, assistant cashier; and Miss Mary Brady, assistant cashier.

W. J. PERRY, MERCHANT COFIELD, N. C.

One of the best known young men in Hertford County is Mr. W. J. Perry, postmaster at Cofield for the last four years, and a wide-awake, progressive merchant who has a wide acquaintance and is recognized as a distinct asset to this entire section.

Mr. Perry has been engaged in the mercantile business for the last nine years, and has built up an extensive trade throughout this entire section.

He carries a great variety of stock, including dry goods, notions, hardware, cutlery, shoes for the entire family, furniture, queensware, patent medicines, drugs, candies, confectioneries, etc.

Mr. Perry also buys country produce on a large scale, paying the highest market price. He has an extensive trade among the farmers, and has the reputation of selling honest merchandise at honest prices—a reputation which is surely worth having.

As postmaster at Cofield, Mr. Perry has given excellent service, and he seeks at all times to give his patrons every accommodation. Postoffice inspectors have praised the conduct of the office and he spares no pains to give every satisfaction.

E. L. JENKINS & SONS WINTON, N. C.

People must eat, but first they must be able to secure their groceries from a store in which they have confidence. Quality, service and reliability breed confidence, and that is what is largely responsible for the success of the grocery store of E. L. Jenkins and Sons at Winton, which has built up a large trade not only in the town but among the farmers of this section.

The store which is managed by Mr. F. M. Jenkins is manager, carries a large and well selected stock of staple and fancy groceries, flour, feed stuffs, meals, canned goods, fresh, cured and salt meats, and many other articles for the table and household supplies.

The firm buys and sells country produce, handling a large volume of poultry, eggs, butter and garden truck raised in this section. It pays the highest cash price for produce as well as in trade, and makes large shipments.

The members of the firm are Mr. E. L. Jenkins, the senior member of the firm and also founder of the business, one of the best known citizens of this section. The other man is Mr. T. V. Jenkins, who is manager of the uptown general merchandise store.
