MENOLA LOCALS

Miss Virginia Lee, of Portsmouth, Va., and Miss Emma Gay Stephenson, of Pendleton, are visiting their cousin Mrs. W. Harvey Vinson.

Mrs. Spencer Boyette and children, Pauline and James, of Warsaw, N. C., are the guests of their mother and grandmother, Mrs. J. M. Eley.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vinson, and Mr. Clevis Vinson, and Miss Mae Snipes spent a few days of last week visiting relatives and friends in Norfolk and Portsmouth.

Don't forget the opening of Menola School which will be on Friday, September 1st. The community is invited to attend the opening.

DEATH OF MRS. GRIFFITH

After an illness of one week from appendicitis, Mrs. J. E. Griffith died Sunday morning, August 11, 1922, at about six o'clock, in the Sarah Leigh hospital, Norfolk, Va., in the 48th year of her age.

When the message came over the wires Sunday morning that Mrs. Griffith was gone we were inexpressably shocked. From the very first of our knowing Mrs. Griffith we felt the influence of an exceptionally strong and beautiful character. She was unselfish, kind, gentle and of a cheerful disposition. Whenever her bright face was seen, sunshine entered. She had a pleasant word and a cheerful smile for everyone. As a member of the Menola Baptist church, she lived a consistent christian. Her greatest desire being to become a noble and useful woman, to be good and to do good, to make others happy, and to help others to do better.

Faithfulness was one of her beautiful characteristics. It was a rare thing for her to be absent from any church service and then when only Providence hindered. The church she loved so well will seem lonely without her. She was a woman of strong convictions, sound judgment and high ideals. She was never known to criticize or speak ill of anyone and was always willing to encourage and help.

To mourn her loss, Mrs. Griffith leaves a devoted christian husband, five brothers who are Attorney Edgar Snipes, of Philadelphia, Penna., Dr. W. E. Snipes, of Franklin, Va., Messrs. I. F. H. G., and O. F. Snipes of Menola, one sister, Mrs. John White of Andrews, S. C., one uncle Mr. Grant Snipes, of Menola, and a host of relatives and friends.

The funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. F. Cale, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Menola Baptist church. Interment was made in the cemetery near her home. Many beautiful floral designs were sent by loving hands.

We bow in submission to the will of God and pray His blessings to rest upon the bereaved ones to say to them that—

One by one the bands are severed,
Binding hearts together here,
One by one new ties are added
To the land that knows no tear.
And just beyond the trial of foes
Her spirit rests in sweet repose.

Three negroes were killed and four others injured at a grade crossing near Apex, Wake county, on the Seaboard railway, early Sunday morning. The seven negroes, four men, three women, were returning from a Sun-

GRACEFUL NEGLIGEEES FOR FALL ARRIVE IN DISTINCT GROUPS

"NEGLIGEE" should be given a broad construction because it includes several distinct types of dresses for wear at home and each type is intended for a special kind of service. These types must be reported separately since they have so little in common that what applies to one is not true of another. For instance, the kimono and the tea frock are so different that they cannot be considered together, yet they are both negligees. Negligees are conveniently classed, first as kimono or as belonging to the kimono group, which includes all those intimate garments intended for wear in the bedroom. Then come breakfast coats, or lounging robes in which one is presentable in the house, and finally, more formal negligees that are described as tea frocks, or hostess gowns. They are the lovely and picturesque affairs in which women spend their leisure with friends who drop in and drink a cup of tea.

All these different types are shown in new developments. The kimono appears in the regulation kimono cut and in the coat style and wrap model, all opening down the front. There are some slip-overs shown among them and some of them have a girdle or sash about the waist. Designers have seized upon the new "blistered" cottons and cotton matelasse, for making them. Old-time albatross and French flannel are also used in addition to the regulation silk and cotton-crepe weaves.

In breakfast coats, corduroy and quilted silks divide interest with blistered silk and matelasse. The corduroy has made departure in style and appears in Persian and checked printed patterns. These coats open at the front, are bloused at the back, or all around, and have long girdles of the material, often ending in tassels, that tie at the front. Their sleeves are capacious, usually of the square type, and many of the coats are provided with pockets.

The tea frock takes its cue from dresses and indulges in graceful drapery, handsome ornaments, for holding the drapery, in long, flowing, transparent sleeves and, sometimes, fur trimmings. Such supple and rich materials as crepe back satin, crepe de chine and novelty pile fabrics are used to make it and designers indulge themselves in many pretty vagaries in details of trimming and finishing. The lovely tea frock pictured is made of a pile fabric and has transparent sleeves bordered with fur.

EUROPE SENDS OVER SOME NOVELTIES IN BLOUSES

TWO novel blouses for present wear are among the new arrivals from Europe that have found a warm welcome here. They have not been changed or "adapted," but are presented as examples of art characteristic of the countries from which they come. Each of them is well suited for wear now and all during the fall season. "Czechoslovakia" is brilliantly written on the graceful blouse of white voile, gaily embroidered in colored floss, shown at the right of the illustration. These blouses are presumably embroidered by peasants and made in styles typical of their country. Many of them display the use of one color with white, while many more employ three or more colors in their embroidery. There are several slightly varied styles, but the blouse pictured is typically Czechoslovakian and handsome. It is very full at the neck, and this fullness is disposed of by fine smocking with colored floss which forms a narrow round yoke. A standing collar is attached to the yoke with needlework and is ornamented with embroidery. The full sleeves are gathered in at the wrist, forming a band like the yoke and are finished with a narrow ruffle edged with but tonholing.

The blouse at the left is made of crepe de chine with a lattlework or narrow ribbon covering it, except where needlework motifs are set in. Where the ribbons intersect a cross stitch of silk floss holds them together and the blouse can be imagined in many beautiful color combinations. It is a very simple design, but the pains taking handwork lavished on it gives it a strong French accent. In the long sash of crepe de chine the designer has varied the decoration by placing the narrow ribbon in parallel lines and an important feature appears in the split over the hips.
