BERTIE CELEBRATION BRINGS LARGE CROWD

Pageant and Speech Making Featured 200th Birthday of County At Windsor

Bertie County's triple celebration on Tuesday brought forth some 5,000 folks who gathered in Windsor early that morning to witness the great pageant, and later to hear Governor Morrison and Dr. Hubert Poteat make two of the feature addresses of the day. The Governor made a talk on the live-at-home program which he has been vigorously pushing for several months, while the Wake Forest professor spoke to Charity Lodge of Masons on the occasion of its 150th birthday.

Hon. J. Hilary Matthews of Windsor started the speech-making program off at eleven o'clock, and yielded to Governor Morrison who came into town about two hours late, bringing with him the "Mistress of the Governor's Mansion," little Angelica, Judge Frances D. Winston and Mrs. Winston were official entertainers to the visiting speakers, newspapermen, and other notables who came from all sections of the State.

Windsor was highly decorated with flags and bunting, notwithstanding the dryness, a liberal supply of water had been sprinkled on the streets of the town, and the usual fogs of dust and dirt were prevented from annoying the overflow crowd.
