Scored Big Hit

The Dramatic Club of Chowan College scored a decided hit here on last Wednesday when they presented "The Merchant of Venice" in a highly successful manner. The true Shakespearian costumes lent much color and effectiveness to the clever production. It would probably be an injustice to single out any particular star of the cast since they all performed their parts so well but Shylock played by Miss Knott drew much favorable comment from all sides.

At six o'clock the Ladies of the club with some gentlemen attendants, marched to the Court house where they were served a buffet luncheon in the reception room of Miss Swindell's. Miss Swindell was assisted by the young ladies of the town. The play was staged here under the auspices of the Capitol Club, and to the members of the social committee of this club we are grateful for such a classical entertainment.

COUNTY BAR MEEETS IN WINTON TO SET CASES

Heavy Dockets Of Both Criminal And Civil Actions For April Session

Twenty-five criminal actions, and more than 200 civil cases are awaiting trial before Hertford County superior court.

Members of the bar in this county met in Winton Monday morning to arrange the calendar for the two weeks' term of court which begins April 16th, and found plenty of business awaiting the court. Several criminal cases were carried over from the February term, and these together with new infractions of the laws has piled up for the next session a large number of criminal cases. No attempt will be made to get to the civil docket until Wednesday of the first week.

Among the major criminal cases will be a charge of murder against Carey Vaughan, colored, of Murfreesboro. He was bound over from justice's court for the alleged killing of his son, whose body was covered with bruises, lacerations, and wounds. Other criminal actions of minor importance, unless the grand jury can unearth something of graver import.

Acting upon the suggestion of Attorney W. W. Rogers of Ahooskie, the county lawyers last Monday each selected five cases they wished to be tried at this term of court, and made up the set calendar. If, after these cases are disposed of, there is still time left, the attorneys will seek priority for actions in which they are counsel.

J. H. Mitchell vs. Town of Ahooskie, in which the plaintiff is demanding $2,500 damages alleged to have resulted from the dumping of the town sewer into his pasture will not come up for trial at the April term of court. The appeal of the R. J. Baker estate in the matter of settlement for property condemned for street purposes in Ahooskie is included on the calendar, and will be heard. It is thought the heirs are now willing to accept the findings of the board of arbiters appointed to appraise the land in question. The amount awarded was $1,200.

Judge Frank A. Daniels will preside over the April session.

High Analysis Product Furnished More Plant Food, It Is Claimed

Norfolk fertilizer manufacturers and distributors whose name is legion are interested in results of tests made at Cornell University, and the subsequent appeal of that institution to farmers to use high-analysis fertilizers in preference to any others. This announcement reads as follows:

"The fertilizer that is cheap per ton is not necessarily the most profitable one to use. In case of factory-mixed fertilizers, the reverse is generally true. Invariably high analysis mixed fertilizers furnish plant food at a lower price per unit than do those of low analysis, and will generally be found to return greater profit on the investment.

The soils specialists at the Geneva, N. Y. Experiment Station, in this connection, recently made a series of important tests, the outcome of which is set forth in the following announcement:

Tests conducted on nine soils in various parts of the State with barley as the test crop, resulted in much larger yields in each case from commercial fertilizer than from stable manure containing the same quantity of plant food. Fertilizers applied to poor soils gave a larger yield of barley than the same treatment to fertile soil.

Commenting on the test work, the station states, "Results are thought to indicate that plants accumulate a large amount of the nitrogen and mineral ingredients required by them during the early stages of growth; and that in greenhouse culture and vegetable gardening, and for the production of such crops as cabbages, potatoes and wheat, an adequate supply of immediately available plant would seem to be essential to successful crop production."

Licious refreshments were served and various games played. The guests present included Nell Nelson Powell, Louise Lowe, Madie Newsome, Helen Roughton, Louise Ward, Lillie May Castello, Nancy Scull Taylor, Jannie Walton Taylor, Hazel Gilliam, Evelyn Gilliam, Jessie Powell, Jr., Stanley Harrell, Labon Roughton, L. D. Lowe, Ralph Cullens Mason, Thomas Powell, Lee Sumner Newsome, Claxton Castello.

SOMEBODY'S GOING TO GET THE TRADE

A nice sum of cash will be spent in Ahooskie and other Hertford County towns within the next few weeks. The women folks are looking over the spring stocks; and they are beginning to buy all kinds of spring and summer wearing apparel.

Easter time is almost here—every man wants a new suit, a new hat, haberdashery, and articles of wardrobe. Every member of each family is a sure buyer right now.

The wide-awake merchant has anticipated the trade; and his stock is replete with just the kind of goods people want. But, every person cannot spend a half day looking over stocks; he wants to know where he can get exactly what he wants.

An advertisement, costing but little and going to more than a thousand homes in Hertford County, will guide the purchasers to the goods they most desire.

Get busy, Mr. Merchant, and place your copy with the HERALD. We will help you prepare copy, if you will call on us.
