A JUNIOR'S IDEA OF A SENIOR

When first we think of a senior we think of a person who is very dignified, intelligent and having an air of importance. Is this the ideal Senior? No, to be sure these qualities are essential, but an ideal senior must be more than that.

The Seniors are the ones that are always looked to and imitated. It is up to them to set the high standards and to live daily so that if they are modelled after, their followers will not go far wrong. If the Seniors cheat on examination, it is only human nature if the boys and girls in the lower grades say, "the Seniors do it, I can too."

The Seniors are constantly watched because of the fact that they are Seniors and that makes it more necessary that they be on guard. They should hold their standards high for when the standards of the Seniors go down the triumphant banners of the school are lowered and its good name trampled in the dust. We do not want a dignified Senior to model after, nor do we care for their important airs, for these characteristics are above us and would be unbecoming to us. We want to model after Seniors that are good, loyal, frank, sincere and true. This kind we are willing to follow, to admire, to love, and to choose for our personal friends.

These are the characteristics that can be seen outwards, but the ideal Senior has many inner virtues which are always admired. At heart the Senior should be ambitious and always strive for the highest attainments, ambitious to rise in the world, not merely for the sake of gratifying the thirst for applause, but for the sake of serving humanity in the truest and highest way. He should strive for building his character on solid foundations so that it can stand the storms that come in after life. He should try to do the things which command the admiration and respect of his fellow students. He should forget his self-important airs and be considerate of the feelings of others. He should strive for the highest honors possible, and labor for the best interests of his school and class and try to make the glory of his school higher and purer because of his being there. A Senior should inwardly have self-confidence, should feel sure of himself on every occasion and never for one moment harbor the idea of failure but ever push forward to some high goal, ever laboring, hoping, aspiring and in the end attaining it.

Finally the ideal Senior should have a true conception of life and humanity, should understand and sympathize with his co-mates, lending a helping hand when possible to his less fortunate, struggling brother, helping him when on the rocky shores of ill fortune and trouble and letting their hearts throb together in as true and genuine sympathy as ever beat in the heart of man.

COLUMBIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Columbian Literary Society held its farewell meeting Friday afternoon in the auditorium. Every one had endeavored to make this meeting especially successful as it was the last one.

The Society was called to order by the president, and after the roll call by the secretary, the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A short business meeting next took place. Then the following program was rendered:

Devotional exercises Mr. Raynor
Columbian song Society
Debate: Query: "Resolved that women have more influence in the history of the world than men." Affirmative: Mildred King and Mabel Claire Hoggard. Negative: Horace Garrett and Thomas Baker.
Pianologue Sylvia Applebaum
"Appreciation," To the High School Teachers Lois Parker
"Columbians, Sail On", poem Mary Sumner.
"Life of a Rolling Pin" Jack Gatling.
President's farewell address C. C. Sessoms.
Farewell talk Miss Gayle
Before the conclusion of our program, quite a number of the school patrons assembled in the auditorium and witnessed the greater part of the program.

The debate was the most successful one we have had this year, because the points on both sides were better sustained and the rejoinders were better.

The judge's decision was given in favor of the negative.

The critic's report was very efficiently given. The society then adjourned.

We had as visitors the sixth and seventh grades and their teachers.

Columbians Hold Called Meeting
Monday afternoon, immediately after school, an important call meeting was held by the Columbian Literary Society for the purpose of electing commencement marshals. The following members were chosen.

Chief marshal Horace Garrett
Assisting marshals Ada Belle Sessome, Harry Copeland.

HESPERIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Hesperian Literary Society held its regular meeting Friday afternoon at one o'clock.

The meeting was called to order by the president after which a beautiful passage of Scripture was read by the chaplain. The Lord's prayer was then repeated by the Society.

The roll was called and minutes read by the secretary.

The business of the meeting was then brought before the society.

The commencement marshals from our society were elected, the chief marshal being Horace Johnson, and the assistants being Arles Isenhower and Randolph Dilday.

The following program was then rendered:

Current events Kate Brett
Original poem, "Spring" Beatrice Holloman.
"Advertisements and Want Ads..." Cling Odom.

Life of a poet Arles Isenhower
Prose reading Ruby Lane Soliquoy Bessie Cowan
Humorous speech Spurgeon Isenhower.

Questions and Answers Bessie Newsome and Henry Holloman.

"The good that I have derived from the Hesperian Literary Society" Lowell Powell.

The critic's report was then given by Mr. Bain. He gave many constructive criticisms, which we will remember.

Miss Gaddy then gave a talk expressing how she had enjoyed meeting with us.

Mrs. Hayes stated that we had improved very much since we organized into societies.

Miss Jewell, our sponsor, gave a splendid talk which was enjoyed by each member of the society which loves her dearly.

A vote of thanks was given to Miss Jewell for her loving devotion and untiring help since she was elected sponsor for our society. We owe much of our success to her, and will always remember her as a great worker and leader in our behalf.

Visitors present were Mrs. Hayes, Misses Jewell and Gaddy, and Mr. Bain.

This was the last meeting we will have this school term, but we hope to renew our work the opening of next session.

We wish to thank each teacher who helped us in our work. We feel that without them our work would have been in vain.

There being no further business the society adjourned.

RECEPTION IN HONOR OF SENIOR CLASS

On Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ernest Hayes, guests were delightfully entertained by Alton Hayes at a reception given by him to his class mates, the Seniors of Ahoskie High School.

The guests assembled at eight o'clock and were ushered into the presence of Mrs. Hayes by the host. After all had gathered, tally cards were distributed and each guest found his partner, then each one became interested in determining which could be the most successful S-E-N-I-O-R of the evening. Arthur Greene, Jr., was the fortunate member at this time, and was awarded a very attractive senior hat in the class colors of lavender and white, by the class mascot, Miss Frances Boyette.

The host then led the guests to the dining room, where a very delicious course of cream and cake was served. The room was most tastefully decorated with the class colors and flowers, tall white candles around the room, and four stately lavender candles on the table, furnished the only light, which cast a softening glow over all.

Each place was indicated by a dainty card, upon which was a tiny sweetpea, and two sweet peas were lying at each plate. Tiny purple baskets filled with mints in the class colors completed this, while the centerpiece, a beautiful arranged bouquet of sweetpeas, the Senior Class flower, shown in all their glory.

The invited guests were as follows: Misses Elizabeth Dilday, Carrie Newsome, Kate Brett, Sybil Myers, Viola Odom, Ina Mae Odom, Emma Wooten, Mary Sumner, Bessie Gaddy, Emily Gayle, Mina Holloman, sponsor; Messrs. Thomas Baker, Arthur Greene, Jr., Cedric Leary, C. C. Sessoms, Greyson Mitchell, Spurgeon Isenhower, Lowell Powell, K. T. Raynor, T. R. Bain.

SENIOR SPONSOR ENTERTAINS

Last Friday evening at her home on Church street, Miss Mina Holloman, senior sponsor, was hostess at a beautiful reception in honor of the members of the Senior class, and high school faculty. The home had been elaborately decorated in lavender and white crepe paper, lavender and white cathedral candles held in silver candleabra, and baskets of violets. The lights were all shaded, and the glow of the candles shed a mellow radiance over the entire scene.

Upon arrival each guest was met at the door by Mr. Horace Garrett, dressed in academic cap and gown, who gracefully represented the traditional senior. The sponsor received in the parlor, and soon all were asked to draw partners and assemble at the tables for "Progressive Senior." Mr. K. T. Raynor won first prize, a box of lavender stationery; Thomas Baker won the booby, a miniature clown.

Next each guest was invited to a wheel of fortune where fortunes were drawn. These were read aloud, causing much laughter and merriment.

An appetizing course of fruit salad was then served, each plate being garnished with violets, and containing a raisin sandwich tied with lavender ribbon, and a lavender basket filled with white mints. When each guest had been served, Miss Holloman gave a beautiful toast to the Seniors, which was warmly appreciated.

Following this course came a delicious course of cream and cake served with lavender napkins and decorated with violets. When each guest had been served, Thomas Baker president of the Senior Class, arose and in a lovely poem toasted the sponsor, who is so dear to the class.

At 11 o'clock the guests arose reluctantly and bade their hostess good bye, after voicing their sincere thanks for the splendid occasion.

Those attending were: class members; Ina Mae Odom, Mary Sumner, Emma Wooten, Sybil Myers, Elizabeth Dilday, Kate Brett, Carrie Newsome and Viola Odom; Thomas Baker, Lowell Powell, Arthur Greene, Spurgeon Isenhower, Cedric Leary, C. C. Sessoms, Jr., Alton Hayes, and Greyson Mitchell. Faculty members; Misses Bessie Gaddy, and Emily Gayle, Messrs. K. T. Raynor and T. R. Bain.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION HOLDS LAST MEETING

The Athletic Association of Ahoskie High School held its last meeting for this school year Tuesday of this week. Finances were discussed, bills that were due were ordered paid, and a short review of the successes of the year was taken. This is the first year we have had an athletic association and we congratulate ourselves that it has made good. We broke even, but just have. We wish to thank the patrons of this school and others who patronized our games, and gave donations to our athletic fund. Athletics have taken a decided boom in our school now, since the organization of the athletic association. Hence we are proud of its success, and look forward to its organization again, when school re-opens in September.

AULANDER DEFEATS AHOSKIE

In a game of baseball at Aulander Tuesday, April 17, Aulander defeated Ahoskie 2 to 1. The game was hard fought. Ahoskie drew first blood—1 run in the sixth, on a hit by Greene, a walk presented to Burton, a stolen base by Greene, and scratch hit by Holloman, scoring Greene. Aulander evened things up in the seventh when White was safe on a fumble, and a moment later he stole second. He scored when Howard dropped a high fly. Aulander tallied the winning run in the eighth, when Herring lifted one over Leary's head, scoring White.

Errors won the game for Aulander, two by Isenhower, one by Leary, and one by Howard. Aulander only made one.

The pitching of Holloman was very creditable. Ordinary fielding by his team mates would have given him a 1-0 shutout.

Isenhower for Ahoskie got a double and a single out of four trips to the plate.

Catcher Sessoms, of Ahoskie, was struck on the head two successive times by Dunning's bat. He was forced to leave the game, medical attention being necessary. Ray Burton, Aulander local player, replaced him.

This was Ahoskie's first game, and was creditable, considering they had practiced only twice.

AHOSKIE: 000 001 000 — 1 5 4
AULANDER: 000 000 11* — 2 5 1
Batteries: Ahoskie; Holloman and Sessoms, Burton.

Aulander: White and Dunning.
Umpires: Burton and Johnson.

Old Salt (narrating tale) "And then our ship with a cargo of soap went down."

Sweet Young Thing—"Well, how were you saved?"

Old Salt—"I got me a cake of soap and was washed ashore."

NOT INTOXICATED

"Your Honor, I was not intoxicated."

"But this officer says you were trying to climb a lamp post."

"I was, your Honor. A couple of pink crockdiles had been following me around, and I don't mind telling you that they were getting on my nerves."

NOT WELL ACQUAINTED

"Mama," asked the little boy who was puzzled about evolution, "Am I descended from monkeys?"

"I don't know, dear," replied his mother, "I never knew any of your father's people."

SAMBO HAD UNDERSTANDING SOUL

"Sambo, I don't understand how you can do all work so quickly and so well."

"I'll tell yuh how 'tis, boss, I sticks de match of enthusiasm to de fuse ob yenergy, and natchurally explodes, I does."

CHEMISTRY EXAMINATION

Professor—"What is As2O3-?"
Student—"I-I. It's right on my tongue."

Professor (alarmed) Spit it out, spit it out; it's arsenic."

BRUTE

An old farmer and his wife were standing before their pigsty looking their only pig, when the old lady said:

"Say, John, it will be our silver wedding tomorrow, let's kill the pig." John replied with disgust: "What is the use of murdering the pig for what happened twenty-five years ago?"

For, Lo! the winter is past, the rain is over and gone, the flower appear on the earth; the time, of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land.—The Song of Solomon.

Three men were killed at a talc mine near Carthage last Saturday when the cave fell in.
