GOOD CITIZEN PAYS FINE CHEERFULLY

(U. S. Department of Agriculture)
This is a story of a progressive cattle owner and good citizen of Oklahoma, as reported to the United States Department of Agriculture, through its inspector in charge of tick-eradication work in that State.
J. W. Lawson of LeFlore County, Oklahoma, had failed to dip his cattle in accordance with regulations. So the sheriff dipped them for him at his expense, which was $2. Mr. Lawson did not recall the name and address of the sheriff, but he remembered his obligation and forwarded the sum stated to a Federal tick inspector for transmittal to the sheriff. Besides paying the fine, Mr. Lawson stated, "I thank you gentlemen for your good work as it will be of great help to the community here."

AHOSKIE TAX LISTER FINDS UNLISTED LAND

More than $40,000 worth of real estate has been found unlisted for taxation in 1922, in Ahoskie township. W. T. Forbes, 1923 tax lister, is responsible for the revaluation, and he is sure there is still other property which has not been listed for 1922 taxes.

Some of this property has changed ownership within the twelve months, and when 1923 listing time came the new owners went to Mr. Forbes' office to give in their list. A search of the records revealed the absence of the property from the 1922 tax lists. Among the unlisted tracts were one or two that had not been on the list books for more than one year.

Last Monday when Mr. Forbes turned his tax list books over to the county clerk, he called attention to the unlisted property. The commissioners ordered the land valued for 1922 taxes, and that it be advertised for sale on account of non-payment of taxes. In some instances it is hard to track the former owner, but the commissioners are expecting no trouble in locating claimants when the property is placed on sale.

TO PROVIDE BETTER HOTEL FACILITIES

With agitation and efforts for a new hotel at Ahoskie having waned and little chance of erection of a new structure, J. R. Garrett, owner of the Colonial Hotel, is having his property overhauled, and repaired in order to provide better accommodations here.

Half of the first floor of the hotel building has been used as store for several years, and it is this portion which is being overhauled. All stock formerly owned by I. Titleman, assignee, has been removed from the store, and it will be made over in a lobby and dining hall for the hotel guests. A partition is being built, windows put in the side, and other necessary changes to make it suitable for hotel purposes.

Messrs. Perry and Greene have recently become proprietors of the Hotel, and it will be conducted under their management.

ABATING NUISANCE

After consultation with Dr. L. K. Walker, health officer, proprietors of the Ahoskie Ice Cream Company, located in Mrs. Willie Newsome's building on Main street, having taken precautionary steps against the pollution of water in the street gutter, on account of the syrups, and sweet refuse coming from its establishment. Laborers are busy today connecting the Ice Cream Company and the Pepsi-Cola Company with the municipal sewer line.

LITTLE DOING IN AHOSKIE THE 4th

Except for a few transient visitors, majority of whom were enroute to Aulander for the Fourth of July celebration, Ahoskie was without any semblance of a holiday on Wednesday. Some of the stores were closed in the afternoon, and the banks took a whole day. Postoffice hours were restricted, and all rural letter carriers took a day off.

Many Ahoskie people went over to Aulander to see the two baseball games, get some barbecue, and listen to the speech of Judge Jno. H. Kerr. Others went fishing and motoring. The negroes staged a big baseball game at the fair grounds of the Atlantic District Fair Association.

MOTOR MOUNTED ON POWER STAND

New Electric Equipment Has Proved Useful to Farmers During the Busy Season.

CAN BE EASILY MOVED ABOUT

Called the "Extra Hand" on the Farm, Because It Can Do So Many Small Duties—Motor is 1/4 H. P.

In an endeavor to solve, to some extent, the labor problem on American farms, the General Electric Company has brought out a unique, yet simple, apparatus known as a power stand. It enables a small, powerful motor to be transported from place to place about the farm, mounted on a tripod. The tripod is provided with a combination pulley, which allows either a round or a flat belt to be used. The motor can also be connected directly to the farm machine which it is to drive. No new parts need be secured, but the handle of the farm machine need simply be replaced by a pulley, to enable the power stand motor to be connected up.

To steady the tripod against the vibrations of the motor there is a telescoping rod which allows it to be braced against the farm device which it is operating and a strap, which is snapped into a screw-eye in the floor. Included with the equipment is a standard plug and twenty feet of cord. The motor is of the fractional horsepower type, not above one-fourth horsepower in rating. It will operate at 110 or 220 volts, 60, 50, 40, 30 or 25 cycles, alternating current, and at 110, 220 or 32 volts, direct current.

What the power stand, with its motor, practically amounts to is an extra hand on the farm. It can work away at one farm operation watched by a young boy, or even a woman, thus requiring only the attendance of someone who would not be able to participate in the heavy duties of the farm. Meanwhile the able-bodied working force can carry on the pressing occupations of the moment without being retarded by the necessity of doing the lighter work that the power stand handles.

This lighter work includes such duties as operating a grindstone, a feed grinder, a corn sheller, fanning mills, cider presses, horse clippers or watering pumps. The power stand as an "extra hand" or a farm helper whom somebody has described as "never quitting," can also run a churn, a cream ripener, a cream separator, an emery wheel or such devices as fruit graders, ice breakers, ironing machines, small lathes, milk mixers, sheep shearers, sausage stuffer, washing machines or pea and bean hullers.

A lift in the Rush Season
During the perennial rush season on the farm, when duties come pressing from morn to night, the power stand answers two momentous questions: "Which job shall be done first?" and "Which man can be spared to do it?" Actual experience on farms where the power stand has so far been put into use proves the usefulness of the power stand and the timeliness of its appearance. It allows more time for other things; it releases more manpower for the fields; it eliminates the vexatious interruptions which always occur when human hands undertake a task, for the tireless motor works right ahead until the work is done. The fact that it is portable and can be carried to the work, on any part of the farm, has appealed to many users. The power stand works as well if the electricity comes from an individual farm lighting outfit as it does when the energy is purchased from a power company's line.
