WINS FREE TRIP

Thomas W. Baker, of Ahoskie, was again among the winners in the News & Observer's Free Vacation Contest which has recently closed. He was also included in the winning list last year. Twenty-five free trips were given by this newspaper for those securing largest number of subscribers and renewals.

MRS. BRIDGER NEEDS MORE MARKER MONEY

In one last effort to secure funds to pay for the stone marker to be dedicated to the World War dead of Hertford County, Mrs. R. C. Bridger of Winton has requested that the HERALD in big, bold type call on the people of the county for funds sufficient to meet the entire cost which is $500.

Only $375 has been raised to date, and unless the remainder of $125 comes up within the next few days, the marker cannot be delivered. Small donations from enough persons in the county will do it. Send yours to Mrs. Bridger without delay and help preserve the honor of the Hertford County boys who died while in the service.

MR. SMITH DISLIKES WRITE-UP IN PAPER

The HERALD went too far last week when it claimed that Harrelsville had in Mr. J. L. Smith, esteemed citizen of that town, the champion office holder, and busiest man, Mr. Smith thinks. He has personally informed the editor of this paper that he feels that the article did him an injustice and was calculated to be construed as a ridicule of him. He frankly states that he has been offended by the article.

Conforming to our statement made to Mr. Smith, the HERALD gladly makes this statement; that the article was in no wise intended as ridicule nor was it meant to offend; that it was written in the friendliest of spirit, and that, although we feel an apology to be entirely out of place, yet the HERALD gladly offers it.

MR. VANN MISTAKEN IN MITCHELL HOME

In our last week's issue, an article appeared stating that the home of C. H. Mitchell was being moved from its present location, to make room for a handsome new residence. Mr. T. E. Wann, of Como, in his article to the HERALD this week laments the moving of the old home, which he has mistaken for the old Doctor J. H. Mitchell home, across the street.

For the information of Mr. Wann, we take this opportunity to correct the impression he has gained. It is not the J. H. Mitchell home that is being moved; it is his son's residence. The HERALD also thanks Mr. Wann for his words of appreciation, and assures him that those in charge expect to continually strive to make it a real county newspaper.

FEATURES NEXT WEEK

In our Special Tobacco Edition of next week there will be several feature articles of especial interest to farmers and business men alike. Those desiring special copies should send in reservations or mail us names of those to whom they would like to have copies mailed. Advertisers should also get their copy to us just as early as possible.

REVERED AHOSKIE MAN PASSES AWAY

In the death of Mr. John J. Hayes, 79 years old, Ahoskie lost one of its most valuable citizens, the Methodist church and denomination a faithful and consistent worker, and the home in which he lived has given up a father and husband of a rich and lovable character. He died at his home here last Friday afternoon, and was buried in the family plot near Ahoskie Saturday afternoon, following the funeral services which were conducted by his pastor, Rev. S. T. Barber, at the M. E. Church.

Mr. Hayes had been in feeble health for the last two or three years, and during his last illness his life was despaired of on more than one occasion. He was given the most faithful attention by his physician, his wife and other members of the family and neighbors.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mollie Hayes, who before her marriage was Miss Mollie Jenkins. Only one child was born of the union, Mr. Louis R. Hayes, who is now living at the old home place between Ahoskie and St. Johns.

The following served as acting pall bearers at the funeral and burial: Drs. A. W. Greene and L. K. Walker, S. E. Vaughn, E. J. Gerock, and B. G. Williams of Cofield. Others assisting at the burial were Messrs. H. S. Basnight and R. L. Phelps.

For many years Mr. Hayes had been an outstanding leader in the Methodist denomination, being lay leader of this circuit until his health declined. He was also a steward and trustee of the Methodist church here. Never was a more faithful worker and attendant than he, and he never missed an opportunity to attend services at his church, and often led services there, in the absence of the pastor.

His death has removed from the community a member of the oldest surviving generation who was universally loved by his neighbors and friends.

ENTERTAINS IN HONOR VISITOR'S BIRTHDAY

On last Saturday from 4 to 6 o'clock, Mrs. J. Roy Parker was hostess at a birthday party in honor of her little cousin, Miss Louise Lassiter, of Savannah, Ga. Little Miss Frances Boyette and Nancy Jernigan met the guests and escorted them to the living room where they were introduced to the guest of honor. Progressive Rook was played, after pink and white tally cards were distributed. Miss Mary Odom was high scorer and won the prize, a box of pink correspondence cards.

A "Birthday" contest was also carried out, and Miss Nellie Winborne, of Whaleyville, Va., having written the greatest amount of words in the given time was winner of the prize, a lovely maderia handkerchief. Cards were then passed out for a guessing contest on the age of the honor guest, it being thirteen.

The tables which were arranged in the large hall of the home were decorated in pink and white crepe paper, potted flowers, pink and white favors, filled with pink and white mints.

After the guest prize had been presented, it being a beautiful hand painted apron, little Misses Boyette and Jernigan served a salad course consisting of pineapple delight salad, pickles and saltines. Following this course, the many beautiful presents were opened by Miss Lassiter and displayed.

Those present were: Misses Emily Sumner, Louise Mitchell, Thelma and Estelle Newsome, Tucie Phelps, Jessie Mitchell, Nedra Mitchell, Cornibeth Isenhower, Mary Odom, Nellie Winborne, Annie Mary Vann, Iris Bellamy, Louise Lassiter, and Mrs. James S. Vinson, the latter assisting the hostess in entertaining the young guests.

BOLL WEEVIL HARD TO EXTERMINATE

While the HERALD is not handing this information down as being authoritative and final, "they do say" down in Georgia that you can't kill the boll weevil by any other method than the tongs and hammer. Farmers in Georgia say you can place the weevil between two cakes of ice and freeze him stiff as the ice itself; but, if lain out in the sun for a few minutes he emerges from the frozen state in full and healthy life again. Cold weather and ice will not do it, they say. Opinion prevails in some sections of that State that the only way to rid the fields of the pest is to starve him out. All other methods are only partially effective and cannot be counted upon to destroy the weevil once he has gotten a firm hold upon the cotton.
