dinner, and enough for one more. Turn it over to the dinner committee, on courthouse square—all on one long table, and let's eat together."

Each of these appeals and invitations is signed by Mrs. Bridger. In another communication, she gives a tentative program for the day's exercises, and issues notices to the different organizations that are expected to make it a big day. The order of exercises are contained in the following paragraphs.

"The Big Day will be September 27. Ask all schools to give holidays. Speaking at the courthouse, all Confederate Veterans being asked to attend. All World War Veterans are asked to attend—and all march in the parade. Schools will meet at the high school in Winton for the parade, to start at 11:45 a. m., sharp. "The full program will be published later. All persons are asked to decorate stores and automobiles. Head marshals are wanted from each of the six townships in the county. A good rider and a pretty horse is the only requirement. I want every family to come and bring a good dinner, and feed the crowd. It will be served in picnic style, on one long table erected on the courthouse lawn."

How To Work Roads

that he, too, was willing to postpone them.

It was three o'clock in the afternoon before the board met, all of the members, and several other attendants driving out to the Parker's ferry road to see a demonstration of the new Bear tractor, and road equipment delivered last week. With an expert factory man at the wheel, and another demonstrator working the grader and maintainer, the new equipment was about a 20 to 1 improvement over the mule force.

The committee was appointed at the meeting later to secure competent operators for the machinery, and keep it at work until the tabled motion is resurrected next meeting.

Committee to have bridges constructed by K. H. Barrow inspected before determining payment to be made on them was continued. J. N. Vann, who sold the cement over which a controversy as to its strength has started, presented his bill for the cement used in the bridges constructed.

Approval of bills wound up the day's work, which was finished shortly after five o'clock.

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR

McLean, McLean, McLean! You hear his name on land and main.

A man well fitted for State affairs, Who knows the wheat from the tares.

This grand old State of ours to be, Needs just such a man at its head you see.

A christian gentlemen, strong and true, A politician through and through. His name carries weight of the heaviest kind, Might take for a pattern without regret, Knowing full well his friends are not pets.

Our Governor's chair will be ready and neat When Morrison says—"Come, take your seat."

He'll hand to him the keys of State, And a blessing on each he will relate.

Old Robeson I know is justly proud; While Lumberton whistles and says aloud;

"McLean for us, our County and State Needs just such a pilot for her as mate.

So we join here in the far off East Will join our hands with the West at least

And for our next Governor ever proclaim The honored name of Angus W. McLean.

—Mrs. R. C. Bridger, Winton, N. C.

GOOD RECORD IS MADE IN NUMBER AT COLLEGE

Thirteen Out Of Class Of Sixteen High School Graduates Pursue Studies

Eighty-two per cent of last year's graduating class of the Ahoskie High School have either already entered college or will leave soon for the college of their choice. It is the best record ever made locally, and, coming the year in which the school graduated its largest class, it is a fine showing for the school, and for the town.

Sixteen boys and girls, divided evenly between the sexes, graduated here last spring. Seven girls have already for college, and six young men will be packing their handbags in a few days. Of the three who have not entered college this year, at least one has the determination to finish the pursuit for education at a higher educational institution, one year hence. The two may enter a business career, going direct to a business college some time this year.

Those who have left include: Misses Mary Sumner, Elizabeth Dilday, and Carrie Newsome, who left Monday to enter North Carolina College for Women at Greensboro; Miss Emma Wooten, and Ina Mae Odum who have entered Peace Institute at Raleigh; Miss Viola Odum, at Guilford College; and Miss Sybil Myers, at Meredith College, Raleigh.

None of the boys has left yet, since neither the State University nor Wake Forest College has opened for the fall term. Cedric Leary will enter the University; Spurgeon Isenhower, Baylor University in Texas; Arthur Greene, Thomas Baker, Lowell, and Alton Hayes, to Wake Forest College.

After all had assembled on the porches, Mrs. Hugh Harrell gave a few introductory words after which the guests were invited into the living room. The library table was filled with gifts for the bride. The packages were opened and displayed in orderly fashion. There were quite a number of beautiful and useful gifts.
