MANY TAKING SEWER

Along every street in the town can be seen effects of the recent town ordinance requiring connection with the municipal sewer lines. Many homes are installing water and connecting with the sewer. Judging from the nearness of the fresh ditches down East Church street, it appears that not fifty per cent of the homes had been connected previously with the sewer lines.

BAZAAR—DON'T FORGET IT

Remember the bazaar, November 16th in the building next to Jim Sessoms' garage. There will be all kinds of good things to eat and lots of fancy work for sale, one piece being made by a lady 80 years old. She lived in this county 82 years ago, when her husband the Rev. W. G. Lumpkin was sent to Murfreesboro charge from the Virginia Conference held at Alexandria. Opening hour: 2:30 p. m. MRS. H. S. BASNIGHT, Chairman.

GASOLINE STATION TO NAME THE TOWN

Bill Brewer who operates a gasoline filling station on the side of the State Highway near the high school building has already grown tired of telling folks who stop at his place of business "this is Ahoskie." The through motorists who pass his way are forever asking what town they are passing, since the State Highway signs along the route fail to mention Ahoskie.

Brewer was growling about being bothered so much when one of the Chamber of Commerce directors overheard him. The matter was reported to the directors of the Chamber at their regular meeting Monday night, and a motion was immediately passed to erect a large sign on top of the filling station, painting on both sides something like this: "This is AHOSKIE". The thing was ordered done and the sign will be in place within a few days.

"But?"
"No."
"Just?"
"No."
"Once?"
"No."
"Please?"
"No."
"XXX."
"Oh, Jack, why didn't you shave?"

LOCAL BANKS DO HEAVY BUSINESS

One of the best barometers of the rise and fall of prosperity is found in the banks of any community; and for that reason folks usually consider the bankers estimate of business conditions as near correct as it can be safely arrived at.

In Ahoskie and vicinity, the bankers say, there is more cash money now than in 1919, when the coin and its substitute paper currency was bulging out of every man's pockets. Last Saturday was the biggest day in the history of one of the local banks in the matter of deposits, the total being not far below a round hundred thousand dollars. There was a waiting line at the bank windows most all day long; and those waiting did not leave all the money in the bank many of them taking the cash off with them, to "salt" it away or to pay off existing debts.

The month of October was likewise the biggest month in deposits at this bank. In fact, so great was the increase that it was actually necessary for the bank officers to install a brand new filing system for deposit slips. The old one would not hold them. Even that never happened in 1919, when we were all young Henry Fords.

STAMP FOR LITERATURE

For weeks he had been ill in the hospital. With the beginning of convalescence he called loudly for food, declaring he was being starved.

"The doctor says you may have something to eat tomorrow," said the nurse soothingly.

"Here's your dinner," and she gave him a spoonful of tapicos, adding, "The doctor says that everything else you do must be in the same proportion."

"Nurse," he gasped, "I want to do some reading now; please bring me a postage stamp."—From Everybody's Magazine for October.

"Why do you suppose chiropractors are so successful?"

"They help a lot of people find their backbones."
