

Chowan College's Columns, Symbol of Murfreesboro's Heritage

Lafayette Slept Here . . .

Even in 1825, when he visited, Murfreesboro was the center of cultural life in Eastern North Carolina. Today our town retains the same charm, the same cultural interests plus a generous helping of progressive spirit.

A Message From The Town Board

We enthusiastically join our neighbors in our own Hertford County in celebrating a Milestone in our history . . . Hertford County's 200th Anniversary. We are proud of the part our town has played in the development of our county and we are equally proud of the progressive spirit of all the citizens.
