OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

The Last Days of the Session—Both Houses Working Day and Night Trying to Complete the Work.

Raleigh, February 27.—This is a busy week with the General Assembly, with the end of the session almost in sight and much of the most important legislation still waiting to be enacted and an almost endless list of newly introduced "little local bills" pending in the House, either in the hands of committees or on the calendar.

The introduction of these little bills at the very tail end of a session of the legislature is the greatest nuisance that the last several General Assemblies have had to contend with.

Sometimes these "little bills" are held back till the eleventh hour purposefully, and when that is the case there is generally a job hidden away in the labyrinth of legal phrases somewhere, or else the authors fear the results of the investigation which the opposition would require if there was ample time allowed to look into their merits.

The most important work to be accomplished this week in the legislature will be the passage of the appropriation bills, and the outlook today is that the pruning knife is going to be industriously and even on the amounts asked by the asylums for the insane and the other charitable and educational institutions.

Imperverished Soil. Imperverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

Was it Murder. John Moore (Rooster John, of the Brushy Mountains, has been put in jail here, charged with causing the death of his little five-year-old daughter. The evidence of the mother of the child is that Moore came home on the 15th fall of liquor. He gave the child some whiskey and afterward beat and slapped her and in other ways treated her roughly. She died next morning. Moore says he does not remember doing a thing to the child and denies hurting her in any way.—Wilkesboro Cor. News and Observer of 26th.
