SHOT DOWN BY ENRAGED FATHER.

ALLEGED RUINER OF YOUNG WOMAN FATALLY WOUNDED.

John C. Dockery fired on twice by policeman Isaac W. Rogers. C. M. Bernard, U. S. District Attorney, is in the affair.

Raleigh, N. C., June 26, 1905.—Another horrible tragedy has been enacted in Raleigh and as one of the results young John Dockery, the 25-year-old son of U. S. Marshal Henry C. Dockery, a deputy in his father's office, lies at the point of death in a hospital here.

This day of the month former, the fellow who is trying hard to get rich by work at a high tension, by wasting nervous energy and by vesting fervent and every thing is done in what might be called a slapdash sort of way.

Relaxation after work hours at home would help many men who work day and night. Rest after sundown would renew and revitalize the nerve strings and make life longer and happier and add to human happiness of others as well.

One of the great reasons for development of youth in the country is that there is fresh air and plenty of water. There the bath tubs are miles in length, instead of four and one half feet in the crowded and cramped city.

Dr. Hughes, of Toronto, Canada, in an address before the State Teachers' Assembly at Greensboro, said of his experience in teaching dull boys.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Roosevelt Brings the Russ and Japs Together—Goes Slow On Norway—A Peach Grower Evidence—The High Tariff Crowd Work a Scheme On the Railroad.

Washington, D. C., June 26 1905.—Teddy the first and Kaiser Bill the second, are about the only two peas in the pod at the present writing from the Nation's Capital.

With properly directed efforts we ought to be able to secure, after awhile, desirable white immigrants, for our farmers. Until that time comes our people had best let the "yellow peril" alone.

W. P. Moore, Greensboro manager of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, was arrested last week on a warrant sworn out by John H. Yow, a dairyman and farmer living near Greensboro, charging him with seduction under promise of marriage of Miss Lena Yow, a daughter of complainant.

The proposition to import Chinamen into the South as a solution of the farm-labor question, which is being agitated just now in several Southern states, does not meet with much favor here—and very properly so; for it is said by those who are familiar with the habits (industrial and otherwise) of these peculiar creatures that as a "farm hand" the "so-called negro on earth" is to be preferred. The North Carolina department of agriculture is rightly and wisely discouraging the idea of promoting the immigration of that race into this State.

A gentleman here who has personally known of the "yellow peril" of which the Pacific coast states and the city of San Francisco especially complain, tells me that if our people knew what he knows and could see what he has seen they would, on no account, give their consent that they would from "the wrath to come!" "And then, too," he adds, "the blamed race are all heathen and you can't convert or civilize them to save your life."

Californians who have been written to on the subject declare that the class of Japanese that is now coming to this country (the very lowest class and who are encouraged by their own government to leave their native country) are no better than the Chinese, and that we had "better see clear of them also."

North Carolina farmers are now sending letters to the agricultural department here calling for this very class of labor, Chinese and Japanese.

With properly directed efforts we ought to be able to secure, after awhile, desirable white immigrants, for our farmers. Until that time comes our people had best let the "yellow peril" alone.
