

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membrane lining the stomach and expose the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juice of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

relieves all inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad breath, sour eructa, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.

IDAHO AND UTAH.

From Oregon to Salt Lake City the Home of the Latter Day Saints—Mormon Tabernacle—A Visit to the Great Salt Lake.

After traveling four hundred miles through the best agricultural portion of Oregon we crossed the Snake river into Idaho. The Oregon short line, the road over which we were traveling runs diagonally through Idaho in a south-westerly direction, the railroad follows the Snake river (which winds in and out and reminds one of a track made and made for about three hundred miles). A part of the land is very productive but the most of it is desert like, in fact if you did not really know, you would say you were in the Great American Desert, in Southern Arizona. For miles and miles nothing was growing but sage brush. The United States Government is now extensively engaged in irrigating projects. The reclamation of the arid lands of the West. Only a few miles from Nampa in the Snake river valley the Government has a million dollar irrigation reservoir nearly completed, sufficient water supply for three hundred thousand acres of land will be available. Land that is now not worth over $20 will bring two hundred dollars per acre. Each person who has land is given 10 years, in which to pay for the actual cost of getting water to his farm, at which time the Government gives the water rights over to the owner of the land. The soil of these valleys is naturally rich and in a few years every thing will be growing as it is in Southern California.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Is not Dr. Edward Everett Hale right when he says the most important thing next to a good constitution is getting enough sleep. Dr. Hale is 83 years old and goes to bed at 9 and gets up at 7.

A writer in a Republican exchange recounting the sins of the Democratic party charges the Democratic legislature with enacting a law making it indictable for one man to step on another's land. In vain have we looked and looked for any statute bearing on the subject at all which the brother writes.

North Carolina has by the act of the last legislature a more effective vagrant act, and if vagrants are permitted to remain on the roads in any community it will be because of indifference or inactivity of the people of the community. Of all things detested and feared by a lazy vagrant is a term on the chain gang. There is no reason why the vagrancy act should be a dead letter in Asheboro or elsewhere.

Did you ever hear one of those old fellows whose life has been wasted say: Oh, well, every young fellow must sow his wild oats. In a recent sermon by Rev. Madison C. Peeters in Baltimore he said:

"One of the most thoroughly abominable and dangerous maxims is the very common one that a young man must sow his wild oats. It is a notion that has ruined thousands. I have somewhere seen a sculptured representation of Bacchus, the god of drink and revelry. He is riding on a panther at a furious bound. How many a man thinks he begins his fast life that he has mounted a well broken steed and that he can stop it when he pleases. But he finds when he approaches the chasm that he is astride a savage beast that no human power can pull up."

"There is an awful mystery in the downward progress of sin, and how often do we see that men who were once the masters of sin become its slaves. They never intended to be bad, but step by step, they lowered themselves, freely indulging their baser passions until a vicious life became dominating, then uncontrollable. If the sun of all the pain that comes from the sowing of wild oats could be harvested it would read the heavens with its outcry. The harvest that comes from sowing wild oats is bitter disappointment, a loveless home, a heart consumed to ashes, the misery of the unsatisfied, and the shame of the unclean."

"Nothing ever comes from the siren's maddening song except misery and disappointment. Edgar Allen Poe, one of the most brilliantly gifted men of letters America ever produced, died friendless and alone in the streets of Baltimore before he was 38. 'The Raven' which he saw on the bust above his chamber door was delirium tremens—"

"Only this and nothing more."

"What a price to pay for a few days of sensual delight! Young men make a sad mistake when they think it necessary to have a personal acquaintance with the waxy side of life. The social vice is astonishingly on the increase and sapping the physical strength and the moral manhood of the nation. Behold the sons of our rich and indulgent fathers galloping through sensuality to a quick decline, enduring the agonies of a shattered life, dying of extreme old age before they are 35."

"I plead with you, young men, with an earnestness which almost takes my breath away, avoid as you would a malignant fiend the mocker of woman's purity and life's holier affections. Not one woman in a hundred passes the portals of shame through deliberate choice. Man's deplorable decadent and base betrayal upon the door. Yet society draws back its skirts lest, perchance, it touches the woman's garments as she passes, but to the man puts forth a willing hand to clasp with his, which led her to destruction an disgrace. Society stonies the woman, but is all smiles on the fallen man. Sex should make no difference in sin. I protest against stoning the woman while the man goes free."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Roosevelt Makes Big Promises he Can't Keep—He Flunks on Extra Session—The Standpatters to Side-track Tariff Legislation.

Washington, D. C., August 28.—Of all the juggling with the interest of the people that ever has occurred in the ranks of the Republican party leaders who all control the things that are to be done by the next Congress. The Republican President promises much to the people, while the men who will do the performing have their fingers to their noses and are winking both eyes at once.

They know he takes no chances in promising them the great round earth for a plaything. So, when he says that he will do for the people what he would have called any extra session last spring or at the farthest in September, but we have seen him flunk every time the party leaders went after him, until finally he had made up his mind to call it on the 11th of November, they went after him again like a chicken after a June bug, and he has, as Laed he would, flunked again, and there will be no extra session at all. The trouble with Roosevelt is that he has more side tracks on his line than any politician in the country and has no terminal facilities. When he starts out he means well and to do the very things he says he is going to do, for he thinks straight; but when he gets so far, some political mount-bank mixes up with him and throws the switch and he is afraid to protest a foundation where he is. In this he shows the spirit of the political coward and the opportunistic. He fears to make mad the leaders of the party and at the same time he is loath to stand with the people's devotion. He is making another one at the present time by hitting in on the peace business, between Russia and Japan. All of it is done in the hope that some of his plays may land, and make him the center of attraction in the great round world. He wants to head off the German Kaiser as the leader of political pyrotechnics on earth and then he will be satisfied, whether the people are or not. He cares nothing for the people or their interest. He is working for his own glorification. He is standing in the way of his party's making, and whether he is playing for a renomination or attempting to work the party so that he may dictate his successor, it is yet too early to predict and will be until we read his message next December.

THE GRAND ORGAN.

In the west end of the Tabernacle is situated the great organ, which is in all probability the widest and most favorably known pipe organ in the world. It is said to be the finest in the world. It is 30x33 feet and the front towers are 58 feet high. It has 110 stops and accessories and contains 5000 pipes ranging in length from one fourth inch to 34 feet. It has four key boards and the organist is seated twenty feet from the instrument. The different varieties of tone embodied in this wonderful organ, represent the instruments of an orchestra, military band and choir. Some of our editors declared they had never heard any thing like the "hushed voices" in the choir, and were told by one of the guides that no one was singing it that the organ. There are 600 singers in the (unpaid) choir, who sit near the organ, and the choir with the organ accompaniment is beyond description. It is said that the organ owes much to the marvelous acoustics of the Tabernacle but it is certainly a wonderful instrument.

TROUBLE HIDE OVER THE CITY.

The Mormons had made every plan for our Editorial party and we were prepared for them as some of the members of our party had bought copies of the Salt Lake Tribune, an Anti-Mormon paper, and the editor had a notice to the National Editorial Association saying that the Mormons would "take us in tow" and monopolize all the time, so the Gentiles would have no opportunity to show us any courtesies. After the organ recital in the Tabernacle we were shown the city in trolley cars. The streets of Salt Lake City are 132 feet wide (including side walks, each 20 feet wide) and most of them are paved with asphalt. Along each side of most of the streets are the small irrigation canals. It is a remarkable arrangement, the attention attracted by the streets are of a very high order. Temple Block—this is the center of everything. The monument to Brigham Young is located at the intersection of the streets at one corner of Temple Block. A great many of the enterprises founded by Brigham Young were pointed out besides the homes of his different wives. The Bee Hive one of the homes with a tower on top in the shape of a bee hive. The Amelia Palace, the home of Brigham Young's favorite wife, the home in which he died; and homes of several other wives. Eagle Gate is the entrance to his estate. Finally we were shown the last resting place of Brigham Young, the founder of Salt Lake City. Around his grave were several graves of his wives. Some are still living. In next weeks issue of the Courier I will tell you more about Salt Lake City and something of the Mormons, their beliefs and customs.

THE GREAT SALT LAKE.

We arrived at Salt Lake City at 2 p. m. and hurried to get on the cars which go out to Salt Air Beach on the Great Salt Lake, which is thirteen miles from the city. At least half of the way we rode through a country white with salt. The waters of the lake are rapidly receding. This is due to evaporation, the fact that much of the water is being consumed in the manufacture of salt, but because the mountain streams which are its source are being used for irrigation.

The residents say that if present conditions continue, in 35 years the lake will be extinct and there will be only a bed of salt to show where the lake once was.

Water from the lake is run out through canals into pools. After it stands there two or three days, part of the water will have evaporated and the other is drained off—in two weeks the salt is dry and can be raked in mounds. It is then taken to the refinery and prepared for market.

The Pavilion, at Saltair is owned by the Mormon church; it was built twelve years ago at a cost of $350,000. The second floor is a dancing hall 140x230 feet without a column or obstruction of any kind—one thousand couples have danced in this hall at the same time. The lower floor is used for restaurant, entertainments and other things. When first built this pavilion extended out in the lake half a mile. More than half of our party "donned" bathing suits and took "a dip" in the Great Salt Lake.

FORSYTH & WATKINS 113 Lewis St. Greensboro, N. C.

Montgomery News.

The News of Our Neighboring County.

License was issued Tuesday for the marriage of Mr. Cicero C. Kline and Miss Stella Moore both of near Mt. Gilead.

On the 16th inst the marriage of Mr. Oscar R. Scarborough and Miss Binna Ballard was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents near Mt. Gilead. Rev. W. M. Bostick officiated.

Montgomery is proud to be the first county to offer resolutions recognizing Capt. C. F. Siler's brilliant war record. It is strange but true that this brave Confederate veteran has never been honored for the gallant service he did for the lost cause, yet his record is almost without a parallel.

Mr. W. H. Watkins Jr. returned Friday to Greensboro after spending several days looking after his father's property in this county.

Mr. Arthur Leach, who holds a railroad position at Alabama City, Ala., visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Neil Leach, at Candler last week. Miss Ina Parsons, of Covington, has been visiting Mrs. J. G. Tomlinson and family who are occupying a cottage at Jackson Springs.

Mr. N. S. Cochran left yesterday for Raeford where he will make his home for some time.

Mrs. C. A. Armstrong and Masters Wallace, Frank and Charlie are spending a while at Jackson Springs.

Misses Jane Coggins, Alice and Leta Smithman, and Mr. W. L. Trotter paid a two days trip to the Falls of the Yadkin and to the Whitney Co. plant, last week.

Miss Winnie Bruton and little sister returned from an extended visit to relatives at Cameron yesterday. Misses Jewell Munn and Katie Arnold returned with them to be the guests of the Misses Bruton for a few days.

The many friends of Mr. John H. Allen of Martin's Mill will be sorry to learn of his severe illness. He had a paralytic stroke some time ago and does not seem to be recovering. It is probable that the Lexington Grocery Company will open a wholesale business in Troy in the near future. This will doubtless do a paying business, and we will welcome them in our midst.

Mr. W. B. Lucas, of Little River township was tried Tuesday before Commissioner G. D. B. Reynolds for retailing. The defendant gave bond for his appearance at the next term of Federal court.

Mr. A. J. Biles, of Rocky Mount, friends in Randolph and this county for the past seven days. Mr. Biles was formerly engaged in the lumber business in this county but is now doing a successful naval store business at St. Catharines.

Mr. Eugene Harris, of Mt. Gilead, and Miss Lura Gibson, of Gibson Station, were married on the 20th inst. The marriage party passed through town Monday en route to Mt. Gilead where they will make their future home. Mr. Harris is principal of the Mt. Gilead High School and a very successful teacher.

A recent meeting of the Trustees of Troy Graded Schools Miss Alice Smithman was elected teacher in place of Miss Stringfield, who refused to accept the position. Mr. Covington, principal, is sick at his home at McCol S. C., but is improving and will be here as soon as able, in order to prepare for opening the school.

License was issued Saturday by the Register of Deeds for the marriage of Luther Saunders and Miss Mollie Mitchell of S. R. N. C.

Rev. Mr. Troy's Will.

The will of the late Rev. Thaddeus S. Troy, for a number of years city missionary for Durham, N. C. has been probated before Clerk of Durham County. In the will he gives all his property, real and personal, to his wife for life, then to his son, Thaddeus S. Troy, and to be inherited by his children. The deceased owned personal property worth some fifteen hundred or two thousand dollars and three hundred acres of land in Randolph County near Liberty.

In the will the deceased provided that if, at the time of the death of his wife his son, Thaddeus S. Troy, was a dissipated man that then he should not inherit one cent, but his property must go direct to his children, if he had any. In the event that he should so conduct himself as to forfeit all children then the property is to be divided as follows: $100 each for two nieces, Miss Marjorie Long and Miss Nannie Lee Troy; $500 to Bethany Methodist church, in Liberty Township, Randolph county, to be invested and the interest applied to taking care of cemetery, and the remainder to go to the Methodist Orphanage at Raleigh.

Dangerous and Uncertain.

For umbra, tetter and all skin and scalp diseases, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has no equal. It is a certain cure for blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles. It will draw the fire out of a burn and heal without leaving a scar. Boils, old sores, ear-aches, etc. are quickly cured by the use of the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve.
