WASHINGTON LETTER.

Corruption in Big Life Insurance Companies to be Used to Boom Republicanism. Our Washington Correspondent condemns the inwardness of the investigations and undertakes in a way to defend McCall and others whom we think are stealing our money.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2nd 1905. The investigation of the big life insurance companies just now seems to have backed everything else off the boards, as an interest maker into public events.

They say that Chairman Ingham of the New York legislative investigating committee is making a grand stand play to the gallery and that he is doing it for his own behoof and in the endeavor to make political capital out of it for himself and for the Republican party.

Mr. J. C. Newson who is operating a saw and shingle mill in the Little River section, expects to put up a telephone line from his store to the mills and extend it to Pinehurst—Carthage Road.

Ex-Governor Aycock has been retained as counsel for the defendant Revenue officers recently indicted in the Federal Court at Greensboro. Other counsel are Judge Byrum and Judge Adams.

Rev. J. B. Craven, of Salisbury, preached an able sermon in Central church Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Craven, who have been visiting the latter mother, Mrs. D. A. Covington, returned home yesterday.—Source Journal.

The burning of the store house of Mrs. R. C. Pepper at Trinity last week was caused by a lighted lamp falling into a keg of powder.

DAVIDSON COUNTY NEWS.

The News of Our Neighboring County.

Last Tuesday night some one attempted to enter a window in the room at the residence of Mr. J. V. Wrenn. Two young ladies occupied the room and one of the ladies was awakened by the noise and saw a man's head pushing over the window. The man, looking like a burglar, was in the act of climbing in. Thinking the window of the room had broken, she called out and the man fled. Two minutes later were arrested here by the police last Thursday and placed in jail in accordance with instructions contained in a telegram from Mr. T. J. Conroy, of Greensboro, father of the boys. Mr. Conroy came to Lexington Friday and carried the children aged 9 and Monday of last week returned to Greensboro. The boys were taken to the Belmont Training Club at Baltimore. Mr. Lepp has moved from the club saying the place was 9 hours and 4 minutes, making an average of 1,000 yards a minute.

While engaged in building a log pen at his home near the graded school Friday afternoon, Mr. J. W. Lanting, an employee of the Dixie furniture factory, had the misfortune to lose an eye. He was driving a nail when the hammer glanced and the nail flew in his face hitting him in the eye, completely destroying his sight.

Postmaster Wallace has been notified that the postoffice department has received a former order that mail matter addressed to a box by number alone would be delivered. The department now says that all mail matter must contain the name of the party for which mail is intended, together with the number of rural route on which said party may reside.

The Finch boys are crossing a telephone line from their home two miles out of town to Lexington. They will probably build other lines in the county and will form a company, known as the Piedmont Telephone Company, which was incorporated by the secretary of State last week. The authorized capital is $200,000 and Messrs. J. Q. Finch, Walter G. Finch and P. D. Finch are the incorporators.

The town commissioners last week placed an order with a New York house for 100,000 feet of heavy two inch reels, four ply paper and two one building machines. The house cost $20,000, the reels $10,000, the paper $10,000 and the machines $20,000—a total of $70,000. This equipment is absolutely necessary for the production of property in case of fire and the commissioners are to be commended for purchasing the same.

Gov. Vandeman has written a letter to the Memphis office of the Equitable Life Assurance Society refusing to pay a premium due on a policy. In his letter the governor says:

I shall not pay this premium, but rather think I shall permit the policy to forfeit and become void. I do not care to contribute any more to the estate of that cruel who came to infest the Equitable in New York. The policy is only a year old, and I have lost $10,000 by surrendering that policy.

A thinker says Southern men ought to cease quarreling about monetary matters that are fattening every day on the millions drained out of the South. They are using the very money we contribute to strengthening the slutches which they hold on the Republican party and in maintaining their commercial supremacy of the East, which is perpetuating the labor classes of the country.

Mr. Wood went to Raleigh to succeed Mr. Irwin T. Jones, who resigned his position with the Officers National Bank to accept the position which Mr. Wood will occupy in the future. Mr. Jones and Mr. Wood were most intimate friends and have been locked upon in Raleigh as two of the most promising young men in the city's business and social life. In many respects they were greatly alike and their names have nearly always been associated together in Raleigh.

Mr. Jones had an acute attack of appendicitis several weeks ago and complications which set in baffled all medical and surgical skill. His death was deplored by thousands in the State capital, but by none more than Mr. Wood, who now succeeded his friend in the management of a most important branch of the business of T. T. Hay & Bros.—High Point Enterprise.
