GUILFORD COUNTY NEWS.

From the Patriot.

Mr. John Brooks, formerly from Randolph, who has been clerking here for Peter Womble the past year, left last week for Texas, where he will locate.

Mrs. Thos. A. Galloway is quite sick with typhoid fever at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McNally on Arlington street.

Mrs. Paul Coble died at her home near Tabernacle last Tuesday aged 85 years. 4 months and 12 days.

Mr. Wm. E. Snow has been appointed postmaster at High Point. Mr. W. P. Hagan had the enforcement of the State Chairman Rollins for the place, but local influences landed the plum for Mr. Snow.

Mrs. Jane Fentress, widow of the late Henry Fentress, died at her home in Greensboro last Friday and was buried at Pleasant Garden the following Sunday.

Mrs. S. B. Rockett and daughter, Miss Octavia, who were on their way to Greensboro last Saturday, met with a serious accident by their horse getting frightened at a bicycle.

The horse ran across a field, threw Mrs. and Miss Rockett from the buggy, tore the buggy to pieces, jumped a barbed wire fence, and was found standing in Mr. Sam. Coe's pasture without even the harness.

Last Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Nannie E. Jordan on Price street, Rev. W. M. Curtis officiating, Mr. Carl Owen, of Yadkin College, and Miss Pearl Phillips, daughter of the clerk of court of Davidson county, were happily united in marriage.

The couple left that afternoon for their home in Yadkin College. Miss Phillips is a niece of Mrs. C. F. Tilden, of this city, and has spent a good part of her time here, gaining many friends by her sweet and winning traits of character.

Mr. Owen is a successful young lumber dealer of Yadkin College. Dr. M. F. Fox, of Guilford College, has sold a nice large building lot just west of his residence to Mrs. Nannie B. Doughton, of Wilkes county.

Ex-Sheriff J. H. Gilmer has leased his farm east of the city to Mr. Filmore Gamble, of Tabernacle, and his mill, pulp and handle factory to Mr. O. A. Anderson. With Mrs. Gilmer he will migrate to Florida for the winter.

Mr. Luther W. Jackson, of Friendship, who has had charge of the Jordan & Kiser kennels at Tabernacle for several months, and Miss Ada Coble, a sixteen-year-old daughter of Mr. Julius S. Coble, of Clay township, shipped off to South Carolina last week and were married.

Dr. W. A. Coble, of Brick Church, has leased his farm to Mr. Sidney Jarvis, who has been living in Alamance county the past nine years, and will probably move to Greensboro in the near future. Dr. Coble has practiced medicine successfully there for over 35 years.

Mrs. Olivia M. Coble, an aged and highly respected woman living near Tabernacle church, died Thursday and was buried Friday at Alamance church. She leaves three sons and four daughters, as follows: J. R. Coble, D. H. Coble, D. I. Coble, Mrs. C. B. Fields, Mrs. H. H. Hardin, Mrs. C. A. Kime, Miss Eleanor Coble, and Miss Annie Coble. Her husband, the late Paul Coble, died 25 years ago.

October in the Garden

There is not much in the way of planting to be done at this time of the year. Asparagus, rhubarb and onion may be set this fall. If the ground is ready it may as well be done now as to wait till spring.

Give the asparagus room enough. It is a common practice to set the roots close together, sometimes no more than a foot apart. Better results are obtained by setting it two feet apart in the row, with the rows at least four feet apart. It can thus form large productive hills and is easily cultivated. Select a warm soil for it.

If the asparagus bed has become crowded some of the roots may be dug up and used for forcing. This should be done late in the fall, just before winter sets in. Freezing does not hurt the roots, but they should be covered with straw to keep them from drying out.

If rhubarb is to be set this fall the ground should first be made very rich with fine manure. Hills that have stood for a long time should be taken up, the roots divided and set again. Dig up a hill and set in a barrel or box in a warm cellar if fresh rhubarb is wanted for winter. It does not need light.

Sets of hardy onions are planted in the fall. They will winter well if given a little protection and will produce an early crop of bunch onions.

Lay aside the over-ripe cabbage for immediate use, saving the heads just matured for winter storage, as they keep much better. The light, loose heads are good to feed animals.

Cabbage plants that were started last month are now set in cold frames. The sashes should be left up till freezing weather sets in.

A sowing of spinach may be made this month in the open ground. It should be protected with litter through the winter.

Lettuce and radish may both be sown in cold frames and treated like cabbages. If they do well they should be ready for use in mid-winter, when they will be appreciated.

This is a good time to haul and spread the manure on the garden. The fall and winter rains will do their part and the garden will receive the benefit.

A little corner of the garden should be sowed up for early spring sowing. If the ground is thrown into ridges they will be ready for planting in the spring before the garden can be plowed.

If the rubbish is cleaned up and burned the garden will be in a good condition for winter.

The National Fruit Grower.
