

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. In the child urinates too often, if the urine smells the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the testimonials of testimonial letters received from sufferers.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

Our Raleigh Correspondent Thinks Roosevelt Will Want the Presidency Again. Changes in Federal Offices. Dangerous Fires in Raleigh.

Haleigh, N. C., Oct. 30.—And what does Judge Alton B. Parker think about it all?

And how many of us in the South who went into restaurants last week over the visit of the President, and insisted that the man Roosevelt, incidentally is just the greatest ever, who couldn't slip over often enough in laudation of this really great man—how many of us, I wonder, will vote for him three years hence for president? If we are consistent a great many of us will, be it duty bound to do so, and we might as well give the matter a moment's thought for in my opinion we are pretty apt to have the opportunity to vote for Mr. Roosevelt in 1908, as the candidate who will largely lose his candidacy on the desires and opportunity to permanently disrupt the solid political South and obliterate sectional lines in the selection of the Chief Magistrate of the Nation.

I do not see how he can fail to appreciate the necessity of distributing the votes of other sections than the South, in order to accomplish consistently the great main object of his candidacy—unless, indeed, he means that the sectional lines must be obliterated by having every State, North, South, East and West, vote unanimously for one man and then demand the whole thing over to Mr. Roosevelt, pliant and all.

Well, the President is back in Washington now, after having done the more Southern States the past week, without an unpleasant incident having occurred, if we may except his rejoinder to Governor Jeff Davis at Little Rock in reference to bachelors and the extra of them in the South. That the President's visit to the South was a decided success, actually that his reception by all classes of the people of this section fully proved their intense patriotism and loyalty is beyond question, and that the visit will be productive of a better understanding of our people by the President and others of the North, and therefore, prospective of much good, cannot be doubted.

What political significance it may work in the future can not be forecast with any degree of accuracy at this time.

The half-dozen most important federal offices in this State will have new incumbents, with one exception, within the next sixty days. If the information now current here proves to be correct.

State Chairman Rollins is to succeed Holton as district attorney for the western district. Harry Skank's term as district attorney for the eastern district will not expire for some time yet, but he will probably succeed himself, as he is not being seriously opposed.

Both of the present U. S. Marshals, Dockery of the eastern and Millikan of the western district, will retire for the "machine place." It is understood that Claude Dockery of Haleigh will succeed his uncle Henry in the office here and that Clint Wagener of Stateville is to get Millikan's job. This latter change is made, it is understood, because it was agreed some time ago that Congressman Spencer Blackburn should have the naming of the man for this place, and he has selected Wagener.

Duncan is slated for a third term as revenue collector at Haleigh, his recent election as national customs-reeve giving him additional "pull," if he secured it. But besides that he has had Jeter C. Pritchard behind him for a number of years and probably has yet, so far as a judge may figure in appointments of this character.

But it is stated that Harkins, the collector of the western district, will be laid aside, and that Postmaster Charles Reynolds of Winston is slated to become his successor.

Raleigh had two dangerous and possibly fatal fires yesterday (Sunday) in which over $50,000 worth of property was destroyed and four children were so badly hurt that they were taken to the hospital for treatment. Two of them are so badly injured that it is not unlikely that they may die.

The fire in which the children were injured was at the Catholic Orphanage, near Haleigh, outside the city limits and beyond the reach of the city water system, so that the firemen could do but little towards extinguishing the flames. The four little boys were hurt by jumping from the third story of one of the principal buildings, the building being completely destroyed, all except the brick walls. The loss is $25,000. This is a most deplorable loss, for the orphanage has been established only after hard work and many struggles over a period of a number of years and was just getting in good working shape, and was doing much good in the caring for homeless orphans.

THE SPLIT-LOG DRAG AS A ROAD MAKER.

One road-maker is all ways of the campaign which we conducted last for the purpose of bringing our farmers into the different states to better roads. We have said little about it lately, because farmers have something else to do, and the split-log drag is of no use on any road unless the road is wet. It is time, however, to again take up this campaign for better roads, and we now repeat some suggestions that we have made several times during last winter and early spring.

First, stick to the split-log drag as described fully in previous articles and illustrated. Ninety-nine farmers out of a hundred think it is no simple a tool and that they can improve upon it. In every case that has come under my observation, they have made a more costly tool and one less valuable. If you don't have a log, take a large cedar post or the small end of a telephone pole, and saw it to halves. Don't have it over seven feet long. Tie the halves together as described, and show three-fifths of the front one with iron or steel, not allowing the metal to come more than a quarter of an inch below the edge.

The split-log drag, simple as it is, is constructed on scientific principles. It has the cutting edge where it ought to be, the thickness where it ought to be, and if the two halves are tied together with stout timbers and well pinned, three and a half feet apart, it has the width that it ought to have.

Ordinarily it should be dragged upon wheel track and down the other, always with the roads wet, or, drying out, never when dry or dusty, at an angle of forty-five degrees, so as to drag a little dirt to the center of the road. Experience will show how to change this angle. Experience will also show the time of dragging, so far as moisture is concerned that will give the best results. This can not be told in books or newspapers because it differs with different soils.

Every farmer who intends to use it will get a good example. Wallace's Farmer.
