

The Asheboro Courier

PRICE ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

Wm. C. HAMMER, Editor.

THURSDAY, April 5, 1906.

THE COURIER stands for no clique or ring, has no slate and has no favorite for any place or position, bows to no will or boss, but the will of the sovereign people. There is no man or set of men big enough or strong enough in the democratic party in the county, and never has been who can or will be able to control or dictate the plans, policies or name the policies or name the ticket in the approaching, or in any other campaign. THE COURIER does not now desire, nor has it ever attempted or labored in the interest of any one for any position on the county or legislative ticket. This in accordance with ideas long held and advocated by the editor and management of the paper—a policy carried to the extent that never has a line or word or syllable been published in the paper for nearly fifteen years since the present editor shaped and controlled the policy of the paper, in behalf or in advocacy of the political promotion or advancement of any one connected with the paper, either before or after a convention. We have in the past permitted the publication of communications in behalf of nominees before the conventions and in some instances these articles were not signed. We have after careful consideration arrived at the opinion that in the future that all communications advocating any one for nomination must be signed when published in this paper. We must therefore refuse to publish the anonymous correspondence received this week advocating a certain ticket or slate to fill the various county offices this fall. To one and all we say, if you desire your articles recommending any one for the nomination by the convention published, sign your name, before requesting publication.

The populist party is dead and Marion Butler did more to kill it than anybody. Stranded high and dry, ambitious, politically and with no hope of a welcome in the democratic party, this man, despised and hated by the people of his native state, has taken up his abode in Washington and is doing everything possible to keep himself in the lime light. He recently organized and has been elected president of the North Carolina republican party in Washington. He has at last come out in the open where he has belonged for a good while. He, no doubt, dreams of future conquest and expects to become the leader of that party in this state. We do not believe that a man so thoroughly repudiated and abandoned as is Marion Butler by the people of North Carolina will ever again become the leader of any party in this state. The old line republicans have some mighty sorry men as leaders, but it is not believed that they will ever tolerate his leadership and control of patronage.

The people of this county are a plain, conservative folk, who, as a rule, believe in paying as they go or not go, but the time has come when it is necessary for the county to have a new modern court house and an up-to-date, safe jail. The county commissioners, we learn, decided at the January meeting of the board to build a new court house and jail, and pledge the faith and credit of the county in payment therefor, but there is one trouble and that is that three months' notice must be given on the first Monday in December in the year before the erection of a court house is begun, if it is desired to remove it to a new site. In other words the court house cannot be moved from its present site without notice as aforesaid. It matters not whether the new court house is built up or down street, there is one thing all are agreed on—it should not be on the present site. Another important matter is that while the commissioners can pledge the credit of the county and incur the indebtedness for the building of court houses and jails, it is, nevertheless, true, that there must be an act of the legislature at least, authorizing the levying of taxes for the payment of the principal and interest on said bonds. The present board of commissioners have, as we learn, fully decided to build a court house and jail at the earliest possible time that they can under the law, and we hope that their successors in office will carry out the resolution and determination of the present board.

During the last few weeks many visitors have seen our new press and folder at work. Many are astonished at the size of our plant. The steady growth in circulation made a new and fast press and a modern folder with trimmer and paster attachments necessary. These machines are the best of their class made. Other improvements in the form of type and other equipments have been added. Other improvements will be added when it becomes necessary. In the job department there is greater improvement. The mechanical department of the news paper outfit is first class and the job department is still better.

The County Republican Executive committee was called to meet in Asheboro on last Saturday March 31, but there was not a full attendance, alleged to be due in part to the muddy roads. Those present were in session less than an hour. Ex-Sheriff Hendricks it is said intended to resign the chairmanship, but did not do so. His resignation it is expected will be accepted and his successor elected at a meeting to be called at a future date when it is expected that there will be a larger attendance.

The matter of building a new court house was never considered until the democrats came into office, for during republican and fusion rule there was never a day that county orders were worth par in cash. You could get one hundred cents in trade but only ninety cents in cash then. No wonder we could not have a court house.

It is to be hoped that the new school book committee to select books to be used in the public schools, will succeed in getting greatly reduced prices on the books to be used in the public schools for the U.S. which prices now are enormously high.

The election of Gen. Julian S. Carr as president at the conclusion of the recent reunion of the Blue and Gray in Atlanta was a fitting tribute to a princely gentleman, who is devoted to the memory of the Lost cause.

Randolph county, under normal conditions is, we think, democratic, but with strife, dickering, contentions, prejudices and jealousies in the household, the result might be different.

Wm J Bryan in an article in the April Century Magazine discusses socialism and presents the strongest possible arguments against socialism as against individualism.

Guilford county is moving for good roads in the dearest earnest. Forty convicts and three hundred and sixty free laborers are employed in building good roads in three different sections of the county.

The Wilmington Morning Star, the oldest and one of the best papers in the State, has increased its size from a four to an eight page paper.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Ointment. Send for circular free.
