

SPLENDID EXHIBIT.

South Carolina Has Assembled a Fine Exhibit For Jamestown Exposition.

The display and exhibit of South Carolina, "the land where everything grows," at the Jamestown Exposition of 1907, will show the resources of the State and will open the eyes even of those who possess deep knowledge regarding the fruits of the soil, especially the southern soil.

The exhibit which will be on view at Hampton Roads is the permanent State Exhibit of South Carolina, which is maintained under the auspices of the State Department of Agriculture, Commerce and Immigration.

The exhibit will represent the agricultural, commercial, manufacturing and industrial resources of the state. The articles in the exhibit are carefully tabulated and illustrated catalogues will be printed for the use of visitors to the Jamestown Exposition.

The piece de resistance of the exhibit will be a beautiful pagoda with thatched octagonal canopy supported by glass columns filled with all kinds of seeds. Over which will hang a sign "South Carolina State Exhibit," bearing crossed United States flags over a silken banner with the coat of arms of the state—are to be displayed over 200 glass cases of the fruit and truck products of the State put up in preserving fluid. On the pagoda, also, will be shown the walnut, the hickory nut, the peanut and all other native nuts. Here will be beautiful specimens of kid glove oranges, grape fruit and lemon as well as many varieties of pecan nuts, Spanish peanuts and Spanish walnuts. The base panels will be all of seeds behind glass.

Five aisles will pass through the display. Along each main aisle will run cases filled with specimens of gold ores, iron ores, copper ores nickel ores, mica, corundum, amethysts, garnets, monazites, clay of various types, asbestos and other minerals. On the lower tier of mineral stands will be splendid polished blocks of granite from all the quarries of the State.

Above the mineral cases is to be an arch of the best grains of the state constructed of sheaves from the State farm at Sumter.

In the center section will be a large glass case in which will be displayed the game birds common to the state, the various wild ducks, partridges, the crane, robin, etc.

It would be impossible to describe this interesting exhibit in detail and keep within the scope of this article. In the ensemble there will be photographs of agricultural scenes in South Carolina, illustrating general farming, dairying, stock, tobacco and sheep raising. A large variety of fertilizers will be shown especially those fitted for tobacco truck, etc.

Another section will afford a new study to the South Carolinian. It will be devoted to the manufacture of glass in all of its phases. Another exhibit will be that of paint manufacturing.

The cotton exhibit will be most valuable. The manufacture of cotton duck will be shown in a comprehensive manner. No art that is established in South Carolina, from the manufacture of pickles to the representation of all that is new and valuable in the printer's and bookbinder's art will be absent from her instructive and beautiful exhibit that will be seen in the Jamestown Exposition next year on the shore of Hampton Roads.

MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARED.

Lexington, April 27.—The mysterious disappearance of Royal Woosley, a farmer living in the Enterprise community, this county, has caused considerable excitement in that neighborhood and as yet nothing definite has been heard from him. He left his house last Tuesday to "work in the bottom," as he told his wife, whom he bade good-by in his usual manner. That was the last seen of him. A searching party tracked him to a pond, which was dredged without result. He was complaining of a severe headache when he left home. Woosley evidently intended to leave home, as he took with him $250 in cash; also on Monday last he tried to sell his horse. His brothers think that he deliberately left home. He was married to a daughter of Mr. D. C. Mock, of the Enterprise neighborhood, and their relations have always been amiable.

AN OLD-TIME MELODY.

Old Black Joe.

Gone are the days when my heart was young and gay,
Gone are my friends from the cotton fields away,
Gone from the earth to a better land I know,
I hear their gentle voices calling, "Old Black Joe."

Chorus.

I'm coming, I'm coming, for my head is bending low;
I hear those gentle voices calling, "Old Black Joe."

Why do I weep when my heart should feel no pain?
Why do I sigh that my friends come not again?
Grieving for forms now departed long ago,
I hear their gentle voices calling, "Old Black Joe."

Where are the hearts once so happy and so free?
The children so dear, that I held upon my knee?
Gone to the shore where my soul has longed to go,
I hear their gentle voices calling, "Old Black Joe."

—Stephen Collins Foster.

A Little Boy's Speech.

I want to be a great big man—
I'm tired of being little—
And have a great big jack knife
Sharp enough to whittle.

Suppose I did my finger cut,
I'd tie a cloth around it;
I wouldn't cry a single bit,
I'd only say "confound it."

I want to have a watch 'at ticks,
An old white mule 'at hollers,
A house 'at cost an awful lot—
'Bout a hundred dollars.

I've been a boy long enough,
It isn't any fun,
A feller can't do any thing,
Not even shoot a gun.

I'm just disgusted with myself,
I think I better go
And eat a piece of ginger cake
And hurry up and grow.

The Editor's Song.

How dear to my heart is the steady subscriber,
Who pays in advance, without skipping a year,
Who lays down his dollar, and offers it gladly,
And casts 'round the office a halo of cheer.

Who never says, "Stop it, I cannot afford it!"
Or, "Getting more papers each day than I read!"
But always says, "Send it, the whole outfit
Likes it—
In fact, we regard it a business need."

How welcome is he when he steps in the sanctum,
How he makes "our heart" throbb, how he makes "our eye" dance!
We outwardly thank him—we inwardly bless him—
The steady subscriber who pays in advance!

All the News.

A country exchange has this to say about printing all the news: "A man stopped us on the other day and said we should not publish all the news. We should say not. In the first place, there's somebody else depending on us for a living. If we published all that happened we would be with the angels. In order to please the people we must print only the nice things said of them and leave the rest to gossip. Yes, it's a fact, we don't print all the news. If we did, wouldn't it be spiky reading? But it it would be for one week only. The next week you would read our obituary, and there would be a new face in heaven. All the news is alright when it's about the other fellow."

Spring Planted Trees.

Just before the spring growth starts is one of the best seasons to plant fresh-dug Fruit, Shade and Ornamental trees. They start to grow at once, and do not lose vitality as they do when dug in the fall and kept over five or six months before growth can start. This is common sense. We have a large stock that can be dug and shipped on short notice.

Warm Air and Chin Music Costly.

When a man is induced to buy from an agent a $26 stove for $65 or a $17 sewing machine for $60 he buys more "wind" than personal property sale he will find that he cannot turn the "warm air" into cash, but the machine or stove has to go to something like its cash value. The difference between $17 and $60 is $43. This $43 is what the agent charges you for his "talk"—and for a trip or two to see you, and as it doesn't add one cent to the value of your estate, it is bound to be put down on the loss side of the balance sheet. Warm air and chin music cannot be turned into cash by the man who buys it. It's an invisible commodity that turns cash only into the pockets of the folks who sell it—and it leaves the purchaser nothing to show for it, except the dry grins.—Our Home.

An Ideal Heroine
Barbara Winslow, Rebel.
By ELIZABETH ELLIS

"There is something exceedingly winsome about Barbara; she is such a merry misadventure of a girl, and yet as feminine as one could wish or imagine."
—Brooklyn Standard-Union
"Barbara, coquettish and fickle, light-headed and gay, but daring in the face of danger and true as steel."
—N. Y. Mail
"Barbara is an alluring creature—a girl of brave heart, sweet spirit, high courage, and fascinating moods and qualities."
—Chicago Record-Herald
"Barbara is one of the most winsome of the seventeenth century heroines we have encountered in fiction."
—Detroit Free Press.
A girl who masquerades in man's attire, fights a duel with a King's officer, disarming him, and then falls desperately in love with him, is the heroine of this charming tale. Barbara is an entrancing creature, whether in petticoats or doublet and hose. Her acquaintance is well worth making.
