Owing to the shortage in our printing force this week and a desire to get the issue out on time much editorial and political matter has been left over for the next issue.

The Industrial News is of the opinion "that the great cry of corruption in national elections is principally a matter of campaign talk indulged in for the purpose of making political capital." Mark the News says "National elections." Is it not true that your great cry of corruption in state elections is likewise for "campaign talk" and for "making political capital?"

And is it not true, brother, that you believe the great bulk of the North Carolina electorate is also God fearing and law abiding?

The long continued heavy rains have greatly injured the roads everywhere. The public roads and cart-ways are in many places impassable.

We have published the different statutes on the road law within the last year and have often called attention to the importance of properly working the roads.

Medical Society Meeting. There will be a meeting of the Randolph Co. Medical Society in the Court House at Asheboro, Tuesday Sept. 25th at 10:30 A. M.

Mr. J. A. Furr came to Asheboro from his home at Bridgeport in Stanley county on Thursday of last week. While on his way Mr. Furr lost a plain tan leather pocket book folding with a strap to stick in. It contained two five dollar bills, one Confederate five dollar bill, some receipts, also, one certificate of registration signed by E. A. Crowell, Clerk of the Superior Court of Stanley County. A liberal reward will be given the finder.

THE FALL CAMPAIGN.

Reader Discusses the Conduct of Political Campaign.

As the time will soon arrive when the campaign will open in Randolph, I wish to say to candidates on both sides in discussing the different issues before the people, do it coolly and fairly, by reason and fair argument.

When the negroes were freed that was all they expected until a set of cut throats came down here from the North and with our renegade white men joined together and commenced to trample against our best people of the white race by calling the negroes and such of the white race as were ready to join with them in this tirade.

This thing continued until the best people of all parties saw the trouble and its cause and came together and put a stop to the robbery and to-day the Treasury of the most of our counties are out of debt and money in the treasury sufficient to run our county governments successfully and with honor to our commissioners.

Why then should any one wish to change the officers of Randolph? We have and have had for several years a set of county officers of whom any county can and ought to be proud.

Why make a change then? It certainly cannot be for the purpose of disgracing our county again with a big debt and no money to pay it with.

The thing we all ought to desire and vote for is good, faithful and honest men. We have got them, therefore let us keep them. The history of the past proves this.

Our candidates are all Simon pure Democrats and have been ever since the war. Before the war we had the two grand old parties, the Whig and the Democratic parties, who knew no North nor South but worked for the good of all, but when the old Whig party was done away with the best men of the two old parties united and formulated a platform broad and sound enough for all good men to stand upon and called it the Democratic platform.

Our men have not been found jumping from one thing to another but have stood firmly to their principles. Such men we ought to vote for.

T. H. FULLER DEAD.

Prominent Citizen Succumbs to Lingering Illness of Several Months.

Mr. Thos. H. Fuller, one of the most prosperous farmers and reliable citizens of the county, who lives at Farmer, died Tuesday morning about 7 o'clock. He had been in ill health for several months, resulting from an attack of pneumonia which developed into consumption from which he died.

He is survived by a widow and one son, Robert Fuller, who live at Farmer also. The Courier joins the host of friends in the county in extending deepest sympathy to the bereaved family and relatives.

Mrs. Fuller is a sister of Mrs. Fannie Porter, of Asheboro.

Lost Pocket Book.

Mr. J. A. Furr came to Asheboro from his home at Bridgeport in Stanley county on Thursday of last week. While on his way Mr. Furr lost a plain tan leather pocket book folding with a strap to stick in. It contained two five dollar bills, one Confederate five dollar bill, some receipts, also, one certificate of registration signed by E. A. Crowell, Clerk of the Superior Court of Stanley County. A liberal reward will be given the finder.

CONDENSED FOR RUSY READERS.

The Siler City Grit says the Goldston High School began Monday. The dormitory is full and many are boarding in private families. Prof. Tyler is delighted with the prospect.

Uncle Joe Cannon, in a speech at Rockland, Me., last week said he believed Roosevelt would be the Republican nominee for president in 1908.

The back water from the new dam of the Cape Fear Power Company, in Cape Fear Township Chatham County, has recently overflowed many thousand acres along the river causing an epidemic of chills and fever. Citizens are trying to sell their farms to leave the section.

Ernest Chisholm has accepted a position with the Sanford Cotton Mill Co. as shipping clerk. He formerly held a position with the A. C. L. Railway. The Moore County News says G. H. Makepeace says he will not accept the Republican nomination for the house which was given him at their recent convention.

The injunction proceedings by the Southern Railway, to prohibit the town of High Point from interfering with certain property, claimed by the company as a part of their right of way but which has been used for years as a street by the city, was disposed of last week by U. S. Circuit Judge, J. C. Pritchard, who holds that the Southern is entitled to possession and permanent injunction against the city restraining them from interfering with it in any way.

N. H. Slaughter, of Lexington, was robbed of a pocketbook on the main line of the Southern last week while returning to his home from Thomasville. He was sitting on the seat with the wallet sticking out of his pocket. A woman walked down the aisle pretending to want water. When opposite Mr. Slaughter the woman stumbled and fell against him, and like magic lifted the wallet. It was not missed until he had left the train. There was nothing of value in the pocketbook, however.

John Kenerly and W. G. Horne, both white, became involved in a dispute at Spencer Saturday over a barn which the former had erected for Horne, during which Kenerly was shot in the arm. Horne was placed under arrest.

C. A. Clinkscales, a young engineer on the Southern, was pushed from the train between Salisbury and Spencer Friday night by an unknown party and killed. He fell under the train and his body was badly mangled. His home was at Blythewood, S. C.

Two negroes, employed on the Southern double tracking force near Lexington, were run over and killed Saturday and Sunday. They failed to hear the approaching trains and were ground to death under the wheels.

While returning to her home at High Point from Asheville, in company with her husband and son, Mrs. Joe F. Hoffman died suddenly of heart disease on the train near Marion Saturday. The remains were taken to Salisbury and prepared for burial. The funeral was held at High Point.

The Independent Democratic League, of New York, led by W. R. Hearst, has decided to name a full State ticket.

T. A. Sharp, of Mecklenburg county, died at the hospital at Greensboro Tuesday. He was one of the State's brightest and most promising business men. He was a valued employe of the Cone Export & Commission Co.

Sol. Urbach, diamond merchant of New York, was robbed of $40,000 worth of diamonds between that city and Baltimore Tuesday. They were taken from under his pillow while he slept in his berth on the cars.

Dr. W. H. Lilly, died at Concord after a long illness on Thursday of this week. Dr. Lilly was 70 years old and a partner of Dr. J. O. Walker, formerly of Asheboro. He was a brother-in-law of Judge Montgomery and Mr. H. P. Montgomery.

Early reports from the second primary vote in South Carolina, held Thursday, shows a growing antagonism toward the dispensary.

R. N. Hackett, Democratic nominee for Congress in the eighth district, is in fine spirits and is confident of a big victory over E. Spencer Blackburn, Republican nominee.

LIBERTY NOTES.

Telephone Project to Connect Liberty and Greensboro—The Normal Flour-thing.

The city fathers might mend matters by having the sidewalks mowed off. Now that the rains are over we think this would be an advantage to the town. Agate, in the north end of town on the street to the east of the railroad there is almost constantly a pond of water that is a menace to the health of the town.

Messrs. L. H. Smith and G. R. Ellis have exchanged houses here in Liberty. The exchange was made last week.

Rev. P. J. Caraway held his meeting at the M. E. Church last week. The meeting was well attended and we believe good was done.

The Baraca Class of the M. P. Sunday School gave a nice entertainment at the M. P. Church on last Sunday night. The boys are to be commended for their success.

The M. P. Sunday School have just added 50 song books to their equipment.

The first month's work of the Liberty Normal College for the 21st semi-annual session has exceeded the expectations of faculty and friends of the school.

Prof. Foust's class in vocal music is growing from day to day. This is a new feature of the school, and many of our students are taking the work.

The work being done is of a high grade, and parents having children to send to school can not do better than communicate with the faculty of the college.

Prof. Hornady is working up a telephone company to put up a line from Liberty to Greensboro. Most of the stock has been subscribed and it is thought work on the line will commence soon.

A Last Tribute.

Died at the home of her husband in Providence township September 2d, 1906, Mrs. J. M. Hinshaw, aged 71 years. She is survived by four daughters and two sons: Mesdames Alice Curtis, Greensboro; Ella Fields, Randolman; Della Pugh, Millboro; Ada Frazier, Randolman; Messrs. J. V. and Jesse Hinshaw of Randolman.

Mrs. Hinshaw was a noble woman, a true Christian, a loving wife and affectionate mother. She was devoted to the cause of her Master and by her exemplary Christian life was an inspiration to all with whom she came in contact.

May He who alone can comfort and bless, comfort the sad hearts of the bereaved husband and children, and may this dispensation of Providence be blessed of God in the protection of her loved ones who are left behind.
