Executive Usurpation Tends In That Direction.

WAKING ROOSEVELT THE ISSUE

Pool Into Which All Issues Have Been Sunk - Independent Voters Should Instruct Their Representa-

The Republican campaign this fall has deteriorated, as far as issues are concerned, into a "blind pool," Secre-tary Bonaparte, fresh from a confere with President Roosevelt, declaring that the only issue is that the vot-ers blindly elect a congress which will be subservient to the president. The will of the voters, through their repreentatives in congress, on pending ises of tariff revision, protection to trusts, extravagant appropriations, the necessary amendments to the railroad rate regulation law and other reforms atte regulation have and other resemble to be only what the president says, and he has declared be favors a stand pat policy. The Republican party has come to a pretty pass when one man power is the issue and the executive ranch of the government is to dom frante the lawmaking branch just fresh from the people. Is the Republican party afraid to appeal to the voters on the issues it has created and must it take shelter behind President Boose reacting the region of the constitution of the constitution makes congress, not the president, the lawmaking power and only gives to the president the right to recommend issues for congress, to determine deat the right to recommend issues for congress to determine. The Republican political machine is so inherently dependent upon patron-age and being built from the head down instead of from the people up-ward it is a bold Republican congress-man that dares to defy the chief dispenser of political favors, so most of them cringe to the despotic dictation of the president. It will be remembered that President Roosevelt threatened to withhold patronage, such as appoint-ments of postmasters, from congress-men if it pleased or advanced his in-terests to do so, and this threat has had the result of making many Repub-lican congressmen vote against their convictions and in some cases against the demands of a majority of their coustituents. It was so in the statebood matter, when many followed the presi-dent to their political undoing.

It is true that some senators and the senate as a body have defied the presisenate as a body have defled the presi-dent, but the senate has coequal power over appointments and treaty making and cannot so easily be domineered over through the power of patronage. Making the president the sole issue of the campaign and throwing all real po-litical issues into a "blind pool" from which they may or may not emerge, as the presidential temper may dictage is which they may or may not emerge, as the presidential temper may dictate, is a dangerous experiment for the Repub-lican party. Many voters feel they have been going it bilind long enough and are unxious to instruct their representatives, as they have the right to, on what course they shall take on cer-tain issues that the voters think of importance. That such Instructions on the tariff and ship subsidy, etc., would run counter to the president does not appeal to voters to leave such issues in the pool to be fished out, if ever, in the far distant future. If this executive usurpation is al-owed to be persisted in and is successfully accomplished by the election of a subservient majority to congress, is nything more certain that it will tend the downfall of representative gov-ment, which is all that Republicanom stands for?

SHIP SUBSIDY.

Make Certain You Do Not Vote to Subsidize a Trust. Before voting for any congressman nak him how he stands on ship sub-sidy. If he is a Lemocratic candidate he is certain to reply he is opposed to subsidies of all kinds and especially a subsidy to a trust, as the Morgan steam-ship combine is. Ask your Republican neighbor how the Republican candidate or congress stands on ship subsidy, all II he does not know urge him to soon the candidate of his party, stell trust charges $50,000 more to ship milders of this country for the steel frames and places to build a ship than it does to shipbuildens of other countries. Congressman Spirkt, who was also a member of the merchant marine commission. In his speech in congress, which will be found in the Congressional Record of June 27, 1993, page 9601, showed by the testimony taken before the commission not only that the trust sold cheaper abroad than here, but that the trust magnates and other stand patters are behind the scheme.

In those states where I nited States enators are to be elected the candidates for the legislature should be pledged to vote for no man for senator

Disgraceful Relations.

There was one improvement in the last administration's gold import offer to the Wall street bankers over that of last April, for the last offer seems to bave omitted the tip to the Standard Oil bank so that they could buy up foreign exchange is advance. The whole business, however, shows that there are infimite relations between the administration and the Wall street frenzied financiers.

How can we expect that a lock type anal will be on the level under Repubon the level under Repub-Hean management?

Cleaning Silk.

In washing silk there are four things to be avoided—rubbing, wringing, heat and soap. Use luke warm water, and if the silk is much solled make a lather with a good white soap, but never rub the soap directly on the cloth. If only slight is solled, bran water is preferable to come. Swish the article round and soup. Swish the article round and round, but do not rub. When clean, time its water to which one table-spoorful of vinegar has been added for each quart of water. Place between dry cleths and squeeze out as tween dry cloths and squeeze out as much moisture as possible, but do not wring. Iron at once, between paper, with a mediumly heated iron. Sponging with coffee will remove the greasy appearance that especially affects cross grain silks. A good renovating fluid for black
